LONDON: RESILIENT TO EXTREMISM

A COMPREHENSIVE OUTLINE WITH ACTIONS FOR COMMUNITY MEMBERS, ORGANIZATIONS, AND POLICY MAKERS

Kevin Kells, PhD

Preface

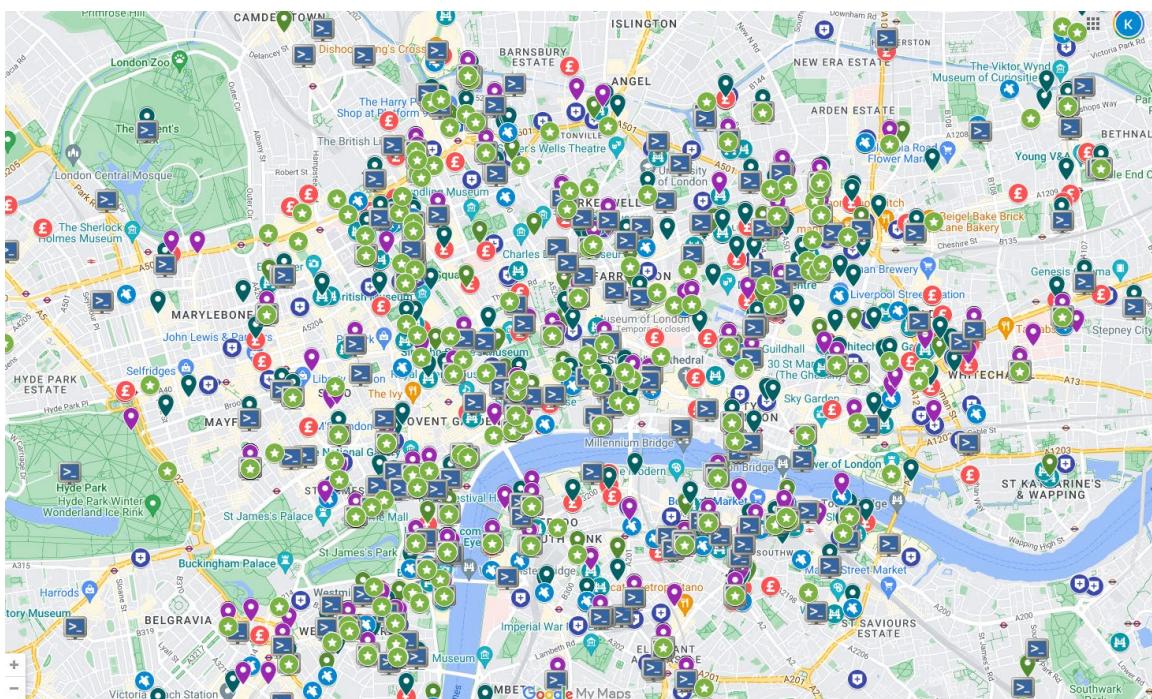

This outline attempts to provide a comprehensive analysis of what makes a community vulnerable to the prey of extremist group recruiting. This includes their tactics to prey on vulnerable people in the community, to divide the community, and to work systematically while the community's defenses are uncoordinated. This book breaks down the problem into smaller facets with proposed solutions to each subdivided component. Community members — individuals and organizations — can engage with any of these solutions.

This outline helps identify and recognize solution efforts already underway by community members, non-profits, and government entities. For each proposed solution, we include a list of resources currently implementing programs or efforts to implement that solution. These are listed as bullet points which hyperlink to a full description and contact information in the Resources appendix.

Apart from contributing to any given solution, bringing visibility to existing efforts can help attract volunteers, financial support, and allies; multiply problem-solving leverage by aligning efforts with each other; and prevent duplication of efforts and competition for volunteers and donations. Raising awareness among the existing solution implementers that they are working towards a common goal can improve morale and give a feeling of solidarity in the effort.

The resources listed in the appendix are geospatially mapped at this web page:

How to Use this Book

This book uses an outline format to present more than a thousand solutions to improve community resilience to extremism, and nearly five times that number of existing resources implementing programs and efforts to implement those solutions currently. The geophysical focus of this book is London, England.

The solutions are categorized under major themes, then by subtheme. Thus, it is not just a randomly organized list of ideas, but a methodically categorized problem structure, where solutions have been suggested to individual pieces of the problem puzzle, and each puzzle piece is logically related to an overall problem theme.

The purpose of this book is to help individuals, organizations, and public service to identify existing efforts that are underway, which are already contributing to the resilience to extremism, so that these existing efforts can be recognized and supported, and so that they can better align with each other.

Bringing to the entire community opportunities to contribute their time and support to the solutions being implemented by the resources mentioned in this book is a challenge to be met in a coordinated fashion with a role to be played by problem-solvers, resources, community organizers, and government. This book can also provide ideas for new efforts needing implementation and for policy makers aiming to fill gaps where solutions are currently lacking implementation or needing support.

The nine main themes identified as obstacles to the resilience of a community to extremism are:

1. Lack of awareness
2. Limited resources
3. Polarization and social divisions
4. Lack of collaboration and coordination
5. Vulnerability and susceptibility
6. Rapidly evolving media landscape
7. Counterproductive measures or policies
8. Overcoming skepticism and misinformation
9. Long-term commitment and sustainability

These nine main themes headline the datasets depicted at the geospatial mapping, each on a separate map layer. In this book, they are numbered 1., 2., 3., etc. Subthemes or facets of these themes are marked 1.1., 1.2., 1.3., etc. Further subdivisions are numbered 1.1.1., 1.1.2., 1.1.3, etc. Solutions are the last subdivision within each. There, if available, a bulleted list is provided of existing programs or efforts already implementing each given solution. These bulleted resources hyperlink to their entry in the Resources appendix, where a description and contact information are given.

A table of contents is provided for easier reference.

The Process Behind This Book

The process behind this book is described in the publication:

A Proposed Practical Problem-Solving Framework for Multi-Stakeholder Initiatives in Socio-Ecological Systems Based on a Model of the Human Cognitive Problem-Solving Process

This process begins with the definition of a superordinate goal or future picture with buy-in from the community. This is a short, written statement that the community agrees is a good, general description of the future, desired state of affairs with respect to a given problem. For the problem of resilience to extremism, we have chosen, “We want to make our local community resilient to the tactics of extremist groups that use powerful media strategies to divide communities and prey on the vulnerable in our community.”

Then with facilitated community participation, the major theme obstacles are identified that are keeping us as a community from currently enjoying the future picture we as a community desire. Then these major themes, through a more extended process involving community members and subject matter experts, is broken down into facets that constitute parts of the obstacle, and then further subdivided into different components that more easily lend themselves to solution.

Solutions are then identified for these components and listed. Resources are also hyperlinked whose programs and efforts implement the solutions.

When reading the more than a thousand solutions offered in this book, the recommended approach is a whole-system approach. Any existing effort in the community that implements one of the suggested solutions – individual, organizational, or governmental – deserves to be recognized and integrated into an index collaborators or map of efforts. They should be informed that their efforts are implementing a solution leading to better resilience to extremism. Given access to the map, they can see where their efforts fit into the overall solution, so that they can see, contact, and align themselves with the other efforts on that map.

As an initial implementation of this process, the full-fledged community involvement was not fully undertaken. Rather, AI-based guidance was utilized to obtain a first draft of the major themes, to perform the problem structuring into facets of these themes and then components of the facets, and to generate a list of potential solutions to each of the components as well as the list of existing efforts and resources.

Rather than ask ourselves, “Of all these solutions, which ones should we try to implement?” this book is aimed at the inverse approach. “Of all these solutions, how many existing efforts – individual, organizational, or governmental – already implement a solution we identify and map?” The map of existing solutions, which can be a living document, a web-based mind map, or even digital art displayed in City Hall (or all the above), can be shared with each contributor for their benefit. And it can be shared with donors and volunteers and the community in general, and its current progress updated on a continual basis.

Categorized Solutions

1 Lack of awareness

One major obstacle to achieving the goal of community resilience is the lack of awareness among community members about the tactics used by extremist groups and the impact they can have on individuals and the community as a whole. Many people may not fully understand the power of media strategies employed by these groups and the divisive nature of their messages.

1.1 INEFFECTIVE EDUCATION AND AWARENESS PROGRAMS

1.1.1 Lack of comprehensive education programs that specifically address extremist tactics and their impact on communities.

1.1.1.1 Developing comprehensive educational curricula

Community members can lobby for the inclusion of comprehensive education programs that address extremist tactics and their impact on communities in schools and universities. This can involve working with educational boards and local politicians to advocate for curriculum reforms and the development of age-appropriate material.

1.1.1.2 Organizing community workshops

Community members can volunteer to organize workshops and seminars to raise awareness about extremist tactics and their impact. These workshops can be designed for various age groups and can cover topics such as recognizing signs of radicalization, understanding the psychology behind extremism, and promoting tolerance and inclusivity.

1.1.1.3 Encouraging community discussions

Creating safe spaces for community members to engage in open and honest discussions about extremism can be effective. Organizing panel discussions, town hall meetings, or community forums can provide an opportunity for people to learn from experts, share personal experiences, and collectively brainstorm solutions.

- Neighborhood Forums on Extremism (London United)
- Youth Against Extremism Workshops (YouthLead)
- Community Resilience Roundtables (Resilient London)
- Expert Panels on Radicalization (CounterExtremism Project London)

1.1.1.4 Collaboration with local law enforcement agencies

Community members can collaborate with local law enforcement agencies to design education programs that address extremist tactics. This can involve partnering with the police department to organize community meetings, training sessions, and informative materials to empower residents to recognize and report suspicious activities.

- Project Griffin (City of London Police)
- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- SAFE (Safeguarding Against Extremism and Fear) (The SAFE Initiative)

1.1.1.5 Engaging religious and community leaders

Religious and community leaders can play a crucial role in addressing extremism by delivering sermons, giving speeches, or organizing events that focus on promoting peace, religious tolerance, and understanding. By leveraging their influence, they can help counter extremist narratives and foster a sense of unity among community members.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)
- The Active Change Foundation (29-30 Lea Bridge Road, London E10 7LD)
- Strengthening Faith Institutions (8-10 Greatorex Street, London E1 5NF)
- The London Faith & Belief Community Awards (Faith & Belief Forum)

1.1.1.6 Supporting grassroots initiatives

Community members can support and participate in grassroots initiatives that aim to counter extremism. This can include volunteering at local NGOs, community centers, or organizations working towards preventing radicalization and providing support to individuals at risk.

- PREVENT: Community Engagement Program (London Borough Councils)
- St Giles Trust SOS Project (St Giles Trust)
- The Active Change Foundation (29-30 Lea Bridge Road, London E10 7LD)
- Faith Matters (PO Box 283, London, W1A 6XX)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)

1.1.1.7 Collaboration with social media platforms

Community members can advocate for increased collaboration between social media platforms and educational institutions. This can involve encouraging platforms to develop educational resources, improve reporting mechanisms for extremist content, and enhance digital literacy programs to enable individuals to critically assess online information.

- Digital Citizenship Programme (Department for Education)
- Online Civil Courage Initiative (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- CrossCheck (First Draft)
- Be Internet Citizens (Youth Resilience Program, ISD)
- Be Internet Legends (Parent Zone)

1.1.1.8 Encouraging family involvement

Educating parents and caregivers about the signs of radicalization and engaging them in dialogue about extremism can greatly contribute to prevention efforts. Community members can organize parenting workshops, support groups, or awareness campaigns that aim to empower families to address and counter radicalization within their homes.

- SAFE (Support, Advice, Families, Education) Programme (Families Against Stress and Trauma (FAST))
- Building Resilience through Integration & Trust (BRIT) (The St Giles Trust)
- PREVENT workshops (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Family Support Programme (Resolve to Stop the Violence Project (RSVP))

1.1.1.9 Establishing community mentorship programs

Creating mentorship programs where community members, particularly youth, can connect with positive role models and mentors can help steer them away from extremist ideologies. Such programs can provide guidance, support, and opportunities for skill-building, fostering resilience against extremist messaging.

- The Mentoring Project (The London Community Foundation)
- Future Leaders Programme (Leaders in Community)
- Youth Mentoring Scheme (London Youth Support Trust)
- Aspire Higher (St Giles Trust)

1.1.1.10 Advocacy for government funding

Community members can advocate for increased government funding towards education programs that specifically address extremist tactics. This can involve writing letters, organizing petitions, or participating in local awareness campaigns to raise public awareness about the importance of allocating resources towards prevention and rehabilitation efforts.

- Education Programme Advocacy (London United Against Extremism)
- Youth Engagement Campaign (Youth Voices Network)
- Community Awareness Project (Safe Communities Initiative)

1.1.2 Insufficient communication channels and resources to effectively reach community members with relevant information.

1.1.2.1 Develop a centralized communication hub

The community can come together to create an online platform or a community website that serves as a centralized hub for sharing important information. This can include news, events, updates, and announcements relevant to the community.

- London.gov.uk - The London Assembly (The London Assembly)
- MyCommunity (Locality)
- Nextdoor UK (Nextdoor UK Limited)
- Londonist (LDN Creative)
- Our Hithergreen (Our Hithergreen Community Association)

1.1.2.2 Collaborative newsletter or bulletin

Members of the community can contribute to creating a regularly updated newsletter or bulletin that highlights important information and events. This can be circulated through email or physical copies distributed within the community.

- Community Matters Newsletter (Islington Community Association)
- The Village Voice (Village Community Trust)
- Southwark Newsletter (Southwark Council)
- Hackney Hive (Hackney Community Group)
- Ealing Today (Ealing Neighbourhood Forum)

1.1.2.3 Social media groups or pages

Community members can create and manage social media groups or pages where they can share important information with one another. This can be an effective way to reach a larger audience and engage community members in discussions.

- London Neighbours Community Group (Local Volunteers)
- Nextdoor London (Nextdoor)
- Just Eat It - London Food Sharing (Community Initiative)

1.1.2.4 Volunteer-run phone tree

A group of volunteers from the community can organize a phone tree system where they call and inform other community members about relevant information. This ensures that everyone receives the necessary updates, especially those who may not have access to online resources.

1.1.2.5 Community notice boards

Establish physical notice boards in key locations within the community where important announcements and information can be regularly posted. Members can take turns in maintaining and updating the notice boards.

- Community Noticeboard Initiative (London Community Foundation)
- Neighborhood Forum Boards (London Neighbourhood Watch Association)

- Local Community Boards Project (The Local Community Development Foundation)
- Public Information Notice Boards (Various London Borough Councils)
- Community Center Announcement Boards (Multiple Independent Community Centers)

1.1.2.6 Collaboration with local organizations

The community can reach out to local organizations, schools, libraries, or community centers to request space for posting flyers or information boards. This way, the community has more avenues to disseminate relevant information.

1.1.2.7 Neighborhood ambassadors

Designate a group of community members as "neighborhood ambassadors" who can take responsibility for sharing information directly with their neighbors. This can involve going door-to-door, organizing meet-ups, or hosting community information sessions.

- Community Connectors Program (Peabody)
- Neighborhood Watch Ambassadors (Neighbourhood Watch Network)
- Local Area Coordinators (Various Borough Councils)
- Street Champions (Local Authorities and Community Groups)

1.1.2.8 Online forums or discussion boards

Create online forums or discussion boards where community members can ask questions and share information related to the community. This facilitates discussion and ensures that information reaches a wider audience.

- London SE1 Community Website Forum (London SE1)
- East Dulwich Forum (Not Provided)
- Cycling UK Forum (Cycling UK)
- Urban75 Forums (Urban75)
- SkyScraperCity London (SkyScraperCity)
- London Forum on City-Data (City-Data)

1.1.2.9 Regular town hall or community meetings

Organize regular town hall meetings, community forums, or gatherings where community members can come together and receive important updates directly from local leaders or governing bodies.

- London Assembly Meetings (Greater London Authority (GLA))
- Community Engagement Events (Local Councils) (Various Local Councils)
- Met Police Public Access Meetings (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Ward Forums and Community Meetings (Various Borough Councils)
- Mayor of London's People's Question Time (Greater London Authority (GLA))

1.1.2.10 Communication training workshops

Arrange workshops or sessions focused on improving communication skills within the community. This can help individuals learn effective communication techniques and facilitate the dissemination of information among community members.

- Effective Communication Skills Workshop (London Training Centre)
- Community Communication Training (Community Communication Institute)
- Interpersonal Communication Skills for Youth (Youth Communicate)
- Multicultural Communication Workshops (Cultural Bridges)
- Public Speaking and Leadership Workshops (London Leaders Academy)

1.1.3 Inadequate training for educators and community leaders to identify and address extremist ideologies.

1.1.3.1 Develop and implement comprehensive training programs

Community members can contribute by advocating for the establishment of comprehensive training programs for educators and community leaders. These programs should include information on identifying extremist ideologies, understanding the factors that contribute to radicalization, and providing appropriate interventions.

- Prevent Training Workshops (Mayor of London Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- ACT Awareness eLearning (National Counter Terrorism Security Office)
- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)

1.1.3.2 Enhance collaboration and partnerships

Communities can contribute by fostering partnerships between educational institutions, community organizations, and law enforcement agencies. Collaborative efforts can help create a support network for educators and community leaders, sharing resources, expertise, and best practices to effectively address extremist ideologies.

- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Counter-Extremism Programme (Greater London Authority)
- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)

1.1.3.3 Promote awareness and education campaigns

Community members can contribute by organizing awareness campaigns and educational sessions to raise awareness about the signs and dangers of extremist ideologies. These initiatives can empower educators and community leaders with knowledge and tools to identify and address radicalization.

- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- Since 9/11 Education Programme (SINCE 9/11)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- FAST (Families Against Stress and Trauma) (FAST)
- Act Early (National Police Chiefs Council)

1.1.3.4 Encourage reporting mechanisms

Communities can contribute by establishing anonymous reporting mechanisms that allow individuals to report concerning behaviors or signs of radicalization without fear of reprisals. This can aid educators and community leaders in promptly addressing and intervening in potential extremist activities.

1.1.3.5 Foster a culture of inclusion and tolerance

Community members can contribute to tackling extremist ideologies by promoting a culture of inclusion, empathy, and tolerance. This can be achieved through community dialogues, interfaith initiatives, and outreach programs that encourage dialogue, understanding, and acceptance of diverse perspectives.

- The Near Neighbours Programme (The Church Urban Fund)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)
- Three Faiths Forum (3FF) (Three Faiths Forum)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- The London Interfaith Centre (125 Salusbury Road, London, NW6 6RG)

1.1.3.6 Support professional development opportunities

Communities can contribute by advocating for professional development opportunities for educators and community leaders. This can include funding for specialized training, conferences, and workshops that enhance their knowledge and skills in identifying and addressing extremist ideologies.

- Prevent Training Workshops (Mayor of London Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Radicalisation Awareness Network (Radicalisation Awareness Network (RAN))
- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)
- CONNECTFutures Training (CONNECTFutures)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

1.1.3.7 Establish mentoring programs

Community members can contribute by initiating mentoring programs that pair experienced educators and community leaders with newcomers or those who require additional support. Mentoring relationships can provide guidance, knowledge transfer, and emotional support, ensuring that individuals are better prepared to identify and address extremist ideologies.

- The Mentoring Programme (St Giles Trust)
- Prevent Mentoring and Support (The London Borough Prevent Network)
- Young Leaders Programme (The Challenge)
- SAFE (Supporting Against Extremist Families) (SAFE)

1.1.3.8 Create resource centers

Communities can contribute by supporting the establishment of resource centers that provide educators and community leaders with access to relevant materials, research, and tools for combating extremist ideologies. These resource centers can act as a central hub for information, training, and support.

- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- HOPE not hate Charitable Trust (PO Box 67476, London N16 1ER, United Kingdom)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)

1.1.3.9 Engage families and parents

Community members can contribute by involving families and parents in the efforts to address extremist ideologies. This can be achieved through workshops, seminars, and parenting programs that provide information on recognizing warning signs and effective communication strategies.

- Family and Parent Engagement Workshops (ParentZone)
- Community Outreach Programs (London United)
- Families Matter Program (The Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Foundation for Peace)

1.1.3.10 Encourage ongoing evaluation and feedback

Communities can contribute by promoting a culture of continuous improvement through ongoing evaluation and feedback. This can include soliciting feedback from educators, community leaders, and community members to identify areas of improvement and refine training programs.

- Teach First Participant Survey (Teach First)
- Community Education Evaluation Project (CEEP) (Institute of Education, University College London)
- London Youth Quality Mark (London Youth)
- Schools and Colleges Forum (King's College London)
- Citizens' Panel for the NHS in North West London (NHS North West London Clinical Commissioning Groups)

1.2 LIMITED ACCESS TO RELIABLE INFORMATION SOURCES

1.2.1 Lack of easily accessible and trustworthy resources that provide information about extremist tactics and their consequences.

1.2.1.1 Create an online platform or database dedicated to providing accurate information about extremist tactics and their consequences. This platform could be regularly updated and curated by experts in the field, ensuring the information remains trustworthy.

1.2.1.2 Establish partnerships with academic institutions, research centers, and governmental agencies to develop comprehensive and easy-to-understand resources on extremist tactics. This collaboration would help bridge the gap between research findings and accessible information.

- Counter Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter Extremism Project)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Violence and Extremism Programme (London School of Economics)
- The International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation (ICSR) (King's College London)

1.2.1.3 Encourage community members to share personal experiences or testimonies about extremist tactics they have encountered. This could be done through a secure and anonymous reporting mechanism, which would help create a repository of real-life examples and raise awareness about the issue.

- Countering Violent Extremism Program (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- SAFE (Safeguarding Against Extremism) Program (SAFE Communities)
- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)

1.2.1.4 Support grassroots organizations and initiatives working towards countering extremism by providing funding and resources. These organizations can focus on creating awareness campaigns, organizing workshops, and producing educational materials to inform the community about the tactics and consequences of extremism.

- Building Bridges (London United)
- Youth Empowerment Program (Youth Lead) (Youth Lead)
- Community Awareness Series (Counter Extremism Project London)
- Digital Literacy Campaign (NetSafe London)
- Interfaith Dialogue Forums (Interfaith London)

1.2.1.5 Collaborate with social media platforms and technology companies to develop algorithms or tools that identify and flag extremist content. This could help users to avoid or report such content, thereby reducing its reach and impact.

1.2.1.6 Engage with community leaders, educators, and religious institutions to develop targeted educational programs or workshops on extremism and its consequences. By integrating this into school curricula or community outreach initiatives, more people can access and benefit from the information.

- PREVENT: Safeguarding in Schools (London City Hall Education and Youth Team)
- Community Resilience Programme (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)

- Faith Associates' Mosque and Madrassah Consultancy (Faith Associates)
- The Schools Programme (The Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Peace Foundation)

1.2.1.7 Encourage open and honest discussions within the community about extremism, its root causes, and potential solutions. This can be done through town hall meetings, panel discussions, or online forums that provide a safe space for individuals to share their perspectives.

- London United: Stronger Together (City Hall, London)
- Counter Conversations (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- PREVENT Panels (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Against Hate (Tell MAMA) (Tell MAMA (Measuring Anti-Muslim Attacks))
- Communities Overcoming Extremism: The After Conversation (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

1.2.1.8 Establish a network of trained volunteers who can provide support and guidance to individuals who are vulnerable to or affected by extremism. These volunteers could be equipped with accurate information and resources to provide assistance to those in need.

- St Giles Trust (64-68 Camberwell Church Street, London, SE5 8JB)

1.2.1.9 Foster partnerships with media organizations to promote responsible reporting on extremist incidents, focusing on accurately explaining the tactics involved and the potential consequences. This would help prevent the dissemination of misinformation or glorification of extremist acts.

- Countering Extremism Together Initiative (London Counter Extremism Network)
- Media Awareness Campaign (Responsible Reporting UK)
- Extremism Reporting Watchdog (Fair Reporting Bureau)
- Youth Media Engagement Program (Future Journalists of London)

1.2.1.10 Advocate for governments to allocate resources towards research, education, and awareness programs targeting extremism. By raising awareness of the issue and its consequences at the policy level, more impactful solutions can be implemented on a broader scale.

- Counter-Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter-Extremism Project)
- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)
- RAN (Radicalisation Awareness Network) (Radicalisation Awareness Network)

1.2.2 Limited availability of reliable platforms or websites that counteract extremist narratives with accurate and balanced information.

1.2.2.1 Develop and support independent fact-checking organizations

Encourage the creation of dedicated fact-checking organizations that can counter extremist propaganda through reliable and accurate information sharing. Such initiatives can help build trust among users and provide a balanced perspective on issues.

- Full Fact (2 Carlton Gardens, London, SW1Y 5AA, United Kingdom)
- FactCheck (Channel 4 News)
- The Conversation FactCheck (The Conversation UK)
- BBC Reality Check (BBC)

1.2.2.2 Promote media literacy programs

Educate individuals, starting from a young age, about the importance of critical thinking and media literacy. Teaching people how to identify misinformation, propaganda techniques, and biases will empower them to make informed decisions and seek accurate information.

- Digital Resilience Program (Childnet International)
- Media Literacy Project (LSE) (London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE))
- Critical Literacies: Think, Create, Participate (British Film Institute)
- Get Smart About News (News Literacy Network)

1.2.2.3 Establish partnerships with tech companies

Collaborate with technology companies to design algorithms that prioritize trustworthy and reliable sources. This can help prevent extremist narratives from acquiring significant online visibility and reduce the spread of misinformation.

1.2.2.4 Support community-run initiatives

Encourage the formation of grassroots organizations, community centers, or online platforms that provide accurate and balanced information counteracting extremist narratives. Encouraging local solutions enables communities to address their unique challenges effectively.

- Building Bridges (London United)
- STREET UK (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))
- Exit UK (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))
- Media Cultured (Media Cultured CIC)
- Faith Matters (PO Box 283, London, W1A 6XX)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))

1.2.2.5 Foster interfaith and intercultural dialogues

Promote respectful conversations and understanding between different religious and cultural groups. Building bridges and fostering empathy can help reduce the appeal of extremist narratives and promote peaceful coexistence.

1.3.1.10 Engage with local law enforcement and organizations

Collaborate with local law enforcement agencies, NGOs, and community organizations to develop strategies to counter the spread of extremist propaganda and false information. By working together, communities can build stronger networks and resources to address this issue effectively.

- Counter-Extremism Project (N/A - operates internationally, including in London)
- Project OVERCOME (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Hope not Hate (Hope not Hate Charitable Trust)

1.3.2 Manipulation of social media platforms by extremists to amplify their messages and gain followers.

1.3.2.1 Network monitoring

Community members can actively report extremist content or suspicious accounts to the social media platforms. Reporting systems should be improved and made easily accessible to all users.

- Online Hate Speech Reporting (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Counter Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Stop Hate UK Reporting App (Stop Hate UK)
- Report-it.org.uk (True Vision)

1.3.2.2 Education and awareness

Community members can educate themselves and others about the tactics used by extremists on social media platforms. This can include workshops, webinars, or online resources to raise awareness and understanding of the issue.

1.3.2.3 Reporting guidelines and accountability

Social media platforms should establish clear and comprehensive reporting guidelines for extremist content. Additionally, platforms should improve transparency by publicly sharing their efforts to combat extremism and the actions taken against reported accounts.

1.3.2.4 Collaborative efforts

Community members, organizations, and social media platforms should work together to form partnerships and share information. This collaboration can help identify and address new tactics employed by extremists.

- London Against Hate (London Unity Partnership) (London Unity Partnership)
- United Communities of London (United London Foundation)
- Tech Together Coalition (Tech London Advocates)
- Be Safe London (London Safety Council)

1.3.2.5 User authentication

Social media platforms can implement stricter user authentication processes to verify the identity of users, reducing the likelihood of extremists creating multiple fake accounts.

1.3.2.6 Algorithmic improvements

Social media platforms should prioritize the development of algorithms that can detect and flag extremist or manipulative content. Additionally, platforms can prioritize showing content from reliable sources and trusted community members.

1.3.2.7 Fact-checking and flagging

Community members can engage in fact-checking and flagging misinformation or extremist content. Social media platforms should also invest in technology that can detect false or manipulative narratives and label them accordingly.

- Full Fact (2 Carlton Gardens, London, SW1Y 5AA, United Kingdom)
- FactCheck.org by Channel 4 (Channel 4)
- BBC Reality Check (BBC)

1.3.2.8 Strong community moderation

Social media platforms should encourage and reward positive community moderation efforts. Users who actively engage in reporting or moderating extremist content can be acknowledged and given more authority to address these issues.

1.3.2.9 Active counter-narratives

Community members should be encouraged to actively engage and counter-extremist messages with balanced and factual information. This can be done through comments, posts, or direct messages to prevent extremist narratives from spreading unchecked.

- Strong Cities Network London (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- London United Campaign (Mayor of London)
- Prevent Programme (Home Office)

1.3.2.10 Continuous evaluation

Social media platforms should constantly evaluate and improve their policies, guidelines, and strategies to effectively counter extremist manipulation. Regular audits and assessments can help identify and address any existing gaps or vulnerabilities.

1.4 LANGUAGE AND CULTURAL BARRIERS

1.4.1 Communication challenges for non-native speakers or individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds, hindering their understanding of extremist messages.

1.4.1.1 Language support programs

Develop language support programs that offer translation services, language classes, and resources to help non-native speakers understand extremist messages and facilitate effective communication.

1.4.1.2 Cultural sensitivity training

Provide cultural sensitivity and awareness training to both non-native speakers and individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds, as well as to the wider community. This will foster understanding and empathy towards different cultures, reducing misunderstandings and misinterpretations of extremist messages.

- Cultural Competency Training (Diversity Trust)
- Intercultural Awareness Training (Farnham Castle Intercultural Training)
- Diversity and Inclusion Workshops (Challenge Consultancy)
- Multicultural Britain (British Red Cross)
- Cultural Awareness Training for Police (Metropolitan Police Service)

1.4.1.3 Community dialogue events

Organize community dialogue events that bring together individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds. This will create a space for open discussions, shared experiences, and increased understanding, helping to tackle communication challenges.

1.4.1.4 Volunteer language mentors

Encourage community members who are native speakers or fluent in the local language to volunteer as language mentors. They can offer one-on-one or group language assistance to non-native speakers, enabling better comprehension of extremist content and messages.

- Language Support Program (London Integration Network)
- Community Language Exchange (Exchange & Engage London)
- Mentor Match Language Learning (Culture Connects)
- SpeakEasy Mentor Program (SpeakEasy London)

1.4.1.5 Translation resources

Develop easily accessible online platforms, mobile apps, or community resources that provide translations of extremist messages into different languages. These resources can help non-native speakers understand and contextualize these messages.

1.4.1.6 Collaborative education programs

Collaborate with educational institutions, community organizations, and social service providers to develop joint programs that focus on effective communication for non-native speakers and individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds. These programs can include language classes, cultural integration workshops, and support for media literacy.

1.4.1.7 Peer support networks

Establish peer support networks where non-native speakers and individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds can connect with each other and share experiences. This can provide a safe and supportive environment for addressing communication challenges and exchanging strategies for understanding extremist messages.

- ESOL Nexus Peer Support Project (British Council)
- Communities Against Hate Crime (Stop Hate UK)
- TimeBank's Talking Together (TimeBank)
- Refugee Council's Connecting Communities (Refugee Council)
- Migrant Help's Community Cohesion Project (Migrant Help)

1.4.1.8 Enhanced digital literacy

Promote digital literacy programs that teach non-native speakers and individuals from diverse cultural backgrounds essential digital skills. This will help them navigate and understand online platforms, including extremist content, in a safer and more informed manner.

- Digital Literacy for All (London Digital Inclusion Initiative)
- Safe Surf Online (Net Safety Partners)
- DigiSkills Empowerment (The e-Society Institute)
- Connected Communities Program (Connected London Foundation)

1.4.1.9 Empower community leaders

Identify and empower community leaders from diverse backgrounds who can act as bridges between non-native speakers and the wider community. These leaders can assist in facilitating communication, clarifying misunderstandings, and promoting cultural understanding.

- Community Leadership Programme (Citizens UK)
- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- BME Leadership Network (NHS Confederation)
- Faith & Belief Forum (5 Causton Street, London, SW1P 4AT)
- Near Neighbours Programme (Near Neighbours)

1.4.1.10 Awareness campaigns

Launch awareness campaigns that focus on the importance of effective communication, promoting respect for diverse cultures and encouraging community members to actively engage in the inclusion and integration of non-native speakers. These campaigns can be conducted through various mediums, including social media, posters, and public events.

- Share Our Language (Language for All)
- Diverse London (London United)
- One City, Many Voices (The Communication Trust)
- Cultural Compass (Cultural Connection Consortium)
- Respect Through Understanding (Educate Together)

1.4.2 Difficulties in effectively translating and disseminating anti-extremist materials to reach linguistically diverse communities.

1.4.2.1 Collaboration with community organizations

Engage with local community organizations that work directly with linguistically diverse communities. By partnering with them, it becomes easier to identify the needs of these communities and develop appropriate strategies for translating and disseminating anti-extremist materials effectively.

- Multi-lingual Anti-Extremism Campaign ({'program': 'London United', 'address': '123 London United St, London, UK', 'email': 'contact@londonunited.org', 'website': 'https://www.londonunited.org'})

1.4.2.2 Multilingual volunteer programs

Establish a network of multilingual volunteers who can assist with translating and adapting anti-extremist materials into various languages. This can be done through recruitment drives, partnerships with universities or language schools, or through online platforms that connect volunteers across different linguistic backgrounds with content creators.

1.4.2.3 Online language resources

Create an online platform or website that provides resources and tools for translating anti-extremist materials. This platform can offer language-specific translation guides, terminology glossaries, and relevant cultural context, making the translation process more accurate and effective.

- London Digital Security Centre (1 Guildhall Street, London, EC2V 7HH)
- Tech Against Terrorism (Tech Against Terrorism, 1 London Bridge Street, London, SE1 9GF, UK)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

1.4.2.4 Culturally sensitive translations

Ensure that the translation process takes into account cultural nuances and nuances specific to the target community. This can be done by involving native speakers from those communities or working closely with individuals who have a deep understanding of the cultural and linguistic aspects.

- Community Translation Project (London Language Service)
- Healthcare Translation Initiative (Health Bridge Trust)
- Legal Interpreters Program (Justice Crossroads)
- Multilingual Education Tools (EduCulture Alliance)

1.4.2.5 Peer-to-peer dissemination

Encourage members of the linguistically diverse communities, who have already accessed and understood the anti-extremist materials, to become advocates and disseminators of these materials within their communities. They can help bridge the language gap and foster effective communication and understanding.

1.4.2.6 Community-driven content creation

Involve members of the linguistically diverse communities in the content creation process. By including their perspectives and experiences, the materials become more relatable and relevant, leading to better engagement and higher dissemination rates.

- Community Language Support Program (Community Languages Association)
- Multilingual Storytelling Project (London Multilingual Library)
- Diverse Voices Media Initiative (Media Inclusion Network)

1.4.2.7 Training and capacity building

Offer training programs and workshops to individuals within the linguistically diverse communities who are interested in becoming translators or facilitators. Providing them with the necessary skills and knowledge empowers them to play an active role in translating and disseminating anti-extremist materials effectively.

1.4.2.8 Utilize social media platforms

Leverage social media platforms to reach linguistically diverse communities. This can be done by creating dedicated pages or accounts in different languages, sharing translated materials, and actively engaging with the community through comments, discussions, and Q&A sessions.

- Multilingual Social Media Campaign (London City Hall)
- Health Information on Social Media (Public Health England)
- Community Engagement via Social Media (London Community Foundation)
- Linguistic Support for Refugees (Refugee Council)

1.4.2.9 Establish feedback mechanisms

Develop channels for collecting feedback from the linguistically diverse communities and evaluate

1.5 LACK OF COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT AND DIALOGUE

1.5.1 Limited opportunities for open and respectful discussions within communities about the impact of extremist ideologies and strategies.

1.5.1.1 Promote education and awareness

Organize workshops, seminars, and community events to educate people about the impact of extremist ideologies, radicalization, and the importance of open discussions. Encourage schools, colleges, and institutions to incorporate curriculum elements that promote critical thinking, empathy, and understanding of diverse perspectives.

1.6.1.8 Encourage Media Responsibility

Encourage media outlets to report responsibly and ethically on matters related to extremism. Discourage sensationalism and instead focus on providing accurate and unbiased reporting that helps in creating a more informed public.

- Media Against Hate (Ethical Journalism Network)
- Responsible Reporting Initiative (Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO))
- Counter-Terrorism Reporting Guidelines (Counter Terrorism Policing – National Police Chiefs' Council)
- Media Monitoring Project (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

1.6.1.9 Peer-to-Peer Interventions

Encourage friends, family, and peers to recognize and speak up if they observe signs of radicalization in someone they know. Provide them with resources and training to intervene effectively and seek help for individuals who might be at risk.

- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- SAFE (FAST (Families Against Stress and Trauma))
- Act Early (National Police Chiefs Council)
- Street Teams (Various Local Community Organizations)
- Connecting Communities (Local Authority's Prevent Teams)

1.6.1.10 Collaborate with Online Platforms

Work with technology companies, social media platforms, and online organizations to develop tools, platforms, and campaigns that allow individuals to report extremist content and support those who may need assistance.

1.6.2 Lack of critical thinking skills and media literacy, making individuals more susceptible to extremist manipulation and propaganda.

1.6.2.1 Promote media literacy education

Work with schools and community organizations to develop educational programs that teach critical thinking skills and media literacy from an early age. This can include workshops, seminars, and curriculum integration to help individuals analyze and evaluate information they encounter in the media.

1.6.2.2 Organize community workshops and discussions

Arrange events where community members can learn about different forms of propaganda, how to identify them, and how to critically analyze information sources. Encourage open dialogues and debates to foster critical thinking skills.

- Media Literacy Workshops (Media Literacy Charity)
- Critical Thinking Forums (Critical Thought Foundation)
- Digital Literacy Project (EduNet Foundation)
- Youth Debate Clubs (Debate for Youth)

1.6.2.3 Support fact-checking initiatives

Collaborate with existing fact-checking organizations or create local fact-checking initiatives. Encourage community members to verify information before sharing or acting upon it, helping them develop a healthy skepticism towards potentially misleading narratives.

- Full Fact (2 Carlton Gardens, London, SW1Y 5AA, United Kingdom)
- FactCheck (Channel 4 News)
- The Conversation FactCheck (The Conversation UK)
- The Ferret Fact Service (The Ferret)

1.6.2.4 Encourage a diversity of media sources

Promote the consumption of news and information from a variety of credible sources. Encourage community members to seek out different perspectives and compare information from multiple sources, reducing the risk of falling into echo chambers and reinforcing biases.

- Media Literacy Programme (Media Trust)
- The Full Fact Toolkit (Full Fact)
- News Literacy Workshops (News Literacy Network)
- CrossCheck (First Draft)
- Diverse Voices in Media Initiative (The PressPad Charitable Foundation)

1.6.2.5 Foster critical thinking through arts and media

Support local media outlets, filmmakers, and artists who produce thought-provoking content that challenges conventional narratives and promotes critical thinking. Encourage the creation of content that helps individuals question and analyze information rather than blindly accepting it.

- The Barbican's Creative Learning Programme (The Barbican Centre)
- The BFI Film Academy (The British Film Institute)
- The Photographers' Gallery Educational Programmes (The Photographers' Gallery)
- Free Word's Public Programmes (Free Word Centre)
- Media Trust's Media Training (Media Trust)
- Somerset House Studios (Somerset House)

1.6.2.6 Establish media literacy campaigns

Launch community-wide campaigns that highlight the importance of media literacy and critical thinking skills. Utilize various platforms such as social media, local newspapers, and community gatherings to spread awareness, providing resources and tools for individuals to enhance their media literacy.

1.6.2.7 Collaboration with tech companies and social media platforms

Advocate for responsible algorithms and AI-driven platforms that prioritize truthful, diverse, and accurate information. Engage with tech companies to develop tools that promote critical thinking, such as browser plugins or social media extensions that alert users to potentially misleading content.

1.6.2.8 Engage parents and families

Organize workshops for parents and families to educate them about the importance of critical thinking and media literacy for their children. Provide resources and guidance on monitoring and discussing information accessed by children online.

- Media Literacy Workshops for Parents (The London Digital Literacy Initiative)

- Youth Access (1-2 Taylors Yard, 67 Alderbrook Road, London, SW12 8AD)

2 Limited resources

Building resilience in a community requires sufficient resources, both financial and human. However, many communities, especially those in disadvantaged areas, may lack the necessary resources to effectively counter extremist narratives and implement preventive measures. Limited funding, staffing, and infrastructure can hamper efforts to develop robust community resilience strategies.

2.1 LACK OF FINANCIAL RESOURCES

2.1.1 Insufficient funding allocated to community resilience initiatives

2.1.1.1 Community fundraisers

Organize events like bake sales, charity runs, or auctions to raise funds specifically for community resilience initiatives. Encourage community members to contribute their time, skills, or resources to make these events successful.

- The Great Charity Bake Off (Community Resilience Fund)
- Run for Resilience (Resilience Runners Charity)
- Community Resilience Auction (Resilience Matters)

2.1.1.2 Crowdfunding campaigns

Utilize online platforms dedicated to crowdfunding to reach a wider audience and gather donations for community resilience projects. Promote the campaigns through social media, local newsletters, and word-of-mouth within the community.

- Thames Baths Project (Thames Baths CIC)
- The People's Fridge (Brixton, London, UK)
- London Community Land Trust (The Green House, 244-254 Cambridge Heath Rd, London E2 9DA, UK)

2.1.1.3 Partnerships with local businesses

Approach local businesses to seek financial support or sponsorship for community resilience initiatives. Offer recognition or promotional benefits in return, such as featuring their logos on community event banners or acknowledging their contribution in newsletters or social media posts.

2.1.1.4 Grant applications

Research and identify available grants or funding opportunities focused on community resilience. Form a team or committee to develop strong grant proposals and submit them to relevant organizations or foundations.

2.I.I.5 Collaborative efforts

Encourage community members and organizations to pool their resources and expertise to maximize impact. Seek partnerships between nonprofits, schools, local government agencies, and community groups to launch joint resilience projects that can share costs and expertise.

- TimeBank's Intergenerational Mentoring (TimeBank)

2.2.3.11 Implement effective communication strategies

Ensure that information regarding resilience efforts, activities, and opportunities for involvement is effectively communicated to community members. Clear and concise messaging through multiple channels can encourage participation.

- Prepare London (London Resilience)
- Thames Barrier community outreach (Environment Agency)
- London Climate Change Partnership communications (London Climate Change Partnership)
- Our Time on Earth exhibition (Barbican Centre)
- Smart London Plan (Greater London Authority)

2.2.3.12 Foster a culture of resilience

Work towards establishing a community culture that values and prioritizes resilience. By fostering an environment where resilience is seen as important, individuals are more likely to volunteer and contribute their resources and time to organizing and coordinating activities.

- Resilient London Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Team London (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London, SE1 2AA)
- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)
- GoodGym (3Space International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, Brixton, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)
- The Big Lunch (Eden Project Communities)

2.3 INADEQUATE INFRASTRUCTURE

2.3.1 Absence of community centers or safe spaces for dialogue, engagement, and education

2.3.1.1 Establish community-led initiatives

Community members can take the initiative to create and set up community centers or safe spaces where individuals can gather for dialogue, engagement, and education. This may involve identifying suitable locations, securing funding (through grants, sponsorships, or community crowdfunding), and forming a dedicated group to manage and organize the space.

- The Castlehaven Community Association (Castlehaven Community Association)
- Somers Town Community Association (150 Ossulston St, Somers Town, London NW1 1EE, United Kingdom)
- St. Hilda's East Community Centre (St. Hilda's East)
- Coin Street Community Builders (108 Stamford St, Bishop's, London SE1 9NH, United Kingdom)
- The Mill Community Centre (The Mill)

2.3.1.2 Collaboration with local organizations

Community members can partner with existing local organizations such as youth clubs, libraries, schools, or religious institutions to utilize their facilities for dialogue, engagement, and educational activities. This collaboration can provide much-needed spaces for community members to come together and interact.

- The London Youth Programme (London Youth)
- Library Community Engagement (London Libraries)
- Faith-based Community Outreach (London Interfaith Forum)
- School Community Engagement Projects (London Schools)

2.3.1.3 Volunteer efforts

Individuals can volunteer their time and skills to help establish and maintain community centers or safe spaces. This can involve tasks such as renovating a building, organizing events, offering workshops or classes, or providing support in any other way necessary.

- The Castlehaven Community Association (Castlehaven Community Association)
- North London Cares (6-9 Manor Gardens, London N7 6LA, UK)
- Help on Your Doorstep (The Old Fire Station, 84 Mayton Street, London N7 6QT, UK)
- Octavia Foundation (Emily House, 202-208 Kensal Road, London W10 5BN, UK)
- Crisis (66 Commercial Street, London, E1 6LT, United Kingdom)

2.3.1.4 Community-based funding

Community members can collectively contribute money through fundraising events, donations, or membership fees to ensure the sustainability and operation of community centers or safe spaces. This ownership helps foster a sense of community and ensures long-term engagement.

- The People's Fridge (Pop Brixton, 49 Brixton Station Rd, London SW9 8PQ, UK)
- The Castle Climbing Centre (Green Lanes, Stoke Newington, London N4 2HA, UK)
- London Community Land Trust (The Green House, 244-254 Cambridge Heath Rd, London E2 9DA, UK)
- Union Street Urban Orchard (Bankside Open Spaces Trust)
- The Hive Dalston (The Hive, 260-264 Kingsland Road, London E8 4DG, UK)

2.3.1.5 Utilize public spaces

Community members can advocate for the utilization of public spaces, such as parks, town halls, or schools, for hosting events, discussions, or educational programs. This allows for greater accessibility and inclusivity.

- Open Air Events and Festivals (The City of London Corporation)
- London Open House (Open City)
- The Royal Parks' Education Programs (The Royal Parks)
- Southbank Centre's Community Events (Southbank Centre)
- Pop-Up Parks and Community Spaces (Pop-Up Parks Ltd)

2.3.1.6 Work with local government

Engage with local government representatives, urging them to recognize the need for community centers or safe spaces. Collaborate with them to find potential spaces or secure funding for their establishment.

2.3.1.7 Foster community partnerships

Encourage partnerships between local businesses, community organizations, nonprofits, and educational institutions to collectively address the absence of community centers or safe spaces. These partnerships can provide resources, expertise, and support in developing and sustaining such spaces.

- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- The East London Community Land Trust (ELCLT) (The East London Community Land Trust)
- Spacehive (Studio 209, 134-146 Curtain Road, London, EC2A 3AR)
- London Youth (47-49 Pitfield Street, London, N1 6DA)
- Peabody Community Foundation (Peabody)

2.3.1.8 Education and awareness campaigns

Raise community awareness about the importance and benefits of community centers or safe spaces. Conduct educational campaigns in schools, workplaces, and community gatherings to highlight the value of dialogue, engagement, and education for personal growth and community cohesion.

- Community Engagement Campaigns (London Borough Councils)
- School Outreach Programs (Local Educational Authorities)
- Workforce Development Workshops (Local Community Centers)
- Public Forums and Discussions (Civic Organizations)
- Community Center Open Days (Various Community Centers across London)
- Social Media Campaigns (Individual Community Centers & Nonprofits)

2.3.1.9 Support grassroots initiatives

Offer support to individuals or small groups who are interested in starting mini community centers or safe spaces within a specific neighborhood. By providing guidance, mentorship, and resources, the broader community can nurture the growth and sustainability of these initiatives.

- The Hive Dalston (The Hive, 260-264 Kingsland Road, London E8 4DG, UK)
- The Mill Community Centre (The Mill)
- Community Links (105 Barking Road, London, E16 4HQ)
- The Selby Centre (Selby Trust)
- The Canvas Cafe (42 Hanbury Street, London E1 5JL)

2.3.1.10 Conduct regular events

Organize regular events, such as speaker series, workshops, cultural celebrations, or community dialogues, in various locations within the community. This helps establish a sense of community and encourages people to engage in dialogue and education while addressing the lack of a dedicated space.

- Open House London (Open City)
- London Festival of Architecture (London Festival of Architecture Ltd)
- Talks at The British Museum (The British Museum)
- The School of Life Sunday Sermons (The School of Life)
- Southbank Centre Events (Southbank Centre)
- Wellcome Collection Events (Wellcome Collection)

2.3.2 Lack of technological infrastructure (e.g., computers, internet connectivity) impeding the dissemination of counter-narratives and preventive measures

2.3.2.1 Establish community computer labs or learning centers where community members can access technological infrastructure, such as computers and the internet, for free or at an affordable cost.

- The Peel Institute's IT Suite (The Peel Institute)
- Age UK's Computer Training (Age UK)
- London Connected Learning Centre (London CLC)
- The Castlehaven Community Association (Castlehaven Community Association)
- Thames Reach Employment Academy (Thames Reach)
- Good Things Foundation's Online Centres Network (Good Things Foundation)

2.3.2.2 Launch donation drives or seek corporate sponsorships to provide computers and internet connectivity to schools, community centers, or libraries in areas with limited resources.

- Get Online @ Home
- Computers for Charities (Unit 1, Castleham Industrial Estate, St Leonards on Sea, East Sussex, TN38 9NS, United Kingdom)
- The Turing Trust (9 Jeffrey Street, Edinburgh, Scotland, EH1 1DR, United Kingdom)
- Power to Connect (The Town Hall, Wandsworth High Street, London, SW18 2PU)

2.3.2.3 Collaborate with local internet service providers to offer discounted or subsidized internet packages specifically targeting low-income communities or areas lacking internet connectivity.

2.3.2.4 Develop partnerships with organizations or businesses to provide mobile computer labs equipped with internet connectivity that can be brought to underserved areas or communities as needed.

2.3.2.5 Conduct training programs or workshops to teach community members basic digital literacy skills, including how to utilize and navigate computers and the internet effectively.

2.3.2.6 Foster collaboration between schools, community organizations, and NGOs to organize technology-related initiatives that focus on promoting counter-narratives against negative influences and educating the community about preventive measures.

- Tech Against Terrorism (Tech Against Terrorism, 1 London Bridge Street, London, SE1 9GF, UK)
- Online Civil Courage Initiative (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Positive Messengers (London School of Economics)
- Countering Violent Extremism (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

2.3.2.7 Seek volunteer support from technology-savvy community members to provide technical assistance, mentoring, or tutoring sessions on how to effectively use computers and the internet.

- Age UK London's Digital Inclusion (Age UK London)
- Digital Champions Network (Digital Unite)
- AbilityNet (Not specific (services provided at users' homes))
- London Connected Learning Centre (London CLC)
- Citizens Online (Not specific (projects are in various locations))

2.3.2.8 Establish community-led initiatives or cooperatives that are responsible for maintaining and managing computer labs or technological infrastructure within the community, ensuring accessibility and sustainability.

2.3.2.9 Develop partnerships with NGOs or government agencies to provide grants or funding opportunities aimed at improving technological infrastructure in underserved communities.

- Connecting Communities (Local Authority's Prevent Teams)
- Digital Divide Initiative (Department for Digital, Culture, Media & Sport)
- Tech for Good (Nesta)
- Community Connectors (London Community Foundation)
- Urban Tech Fund (Future London)

2.3.2.10 Advocate for policy changes at the local or national level to prioritize the provision of technological infrastructure, such as computers and internet connectivity, in underserved areas and communities.

- Connecting London (London Assembly)
- Community Fibre Partnerships (Community Fibre)
- Digital Divide Campaign (London Grid for Learning)
- Digital Access for All (Nominet)

2.3.3 Poor transportation and communication networks hindering effective collaboration and coordination among various stakeholders

2.3.3.1 Establish a community-driven transportation committee

Create a committee composed of representatives from various stakeholder groups, community leaders, and transportation experts. This committee can work together to identify transportation improvement needs and propose solutions.

2.3.3.2 Organize community fundraising initiatives

Encourage the community to contribute funds towards improving transportation and communication networks. This can be done through grassroots efforts, such as hosting charity events, organizing crowdfunding campaigns, or seeking donations from local businesses.

- London Cycle Campaign: Community Fundraising (London Cycling Campaign)
- Transport for London (TfL) – Contactless Payment Charitable Donations (Transport for London)
- The Big Dig – Community Garden Fundraiser (Capital Growth)
- The London Transport Museum – Adopt a Collection (London Transport Museum)
- Walk London – Charity Walks (Walk Unlimited)

2.3.3.3 Encourage volunteerism for transportation and communication projects

Mobilize community members to actively participate in transportation and communication improvement projects. This can involve volunteering their time and skills to build infrastructure, install necessary communication equipment, or maintain existing networks.

- Community Heartbeat (Community Heartbeat Trust)
- Cycle Campaigns (London Cycling Campaign)
- Digital Inclusion Initiatives (Good Things Foundation)
- GoodGym (3Space International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, Brixton, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)
- FixMyStreet (mySociety)
- Tech Volunteer Schemes (AbilityNet)

2.3.3.4 Collaborate with local authorities and organizations

Foster partnerships and collaboration with local governing bodies, transportation agencies, and community organizations. By working together, ideas and resources can be combined to effectively address transportation and communication challenges.

- Go-Ahead London Electric Buses (Transport for London)
- Crossrail Project (Transport for London & Network Rail)
- Cycle Superhighways (Transport for London)
- London Buses Accessibility Programme (Transport for London)
- Smart Mobility Living Lab: London (TfL, BSI, CCAV, TRL, and others)
- Cycle Hire Expansion (Transport for London)

2.3.3.5 Utilize technology for communication improvement

Advocate for the development and implementation of digital communication tools and platforms. This can include setting up community websites, social media groups, or smartphone applications that facilitate communication and coordination among different stakeholders.

- Talk London (City Hall, GLA)
- Nextdoor (Nextdoor UK Limited)
- Love Your Neighbourhood (FixMyStreet)
- MyLondon Community Website (MyLondon)
- Commonplace (Commonplace Digital Ltd)

2.3.3.6 Conduct community-wide surveys and needs assessments

Gather feedback and input from community members through surveys, town hall meetings, or focus groups. This will help identify specific transportation and communication needs, allowing for targeted solutions and actions.

- London TravelWatch (169 Union St, London SE1 0LL)
- Transport for London Consultations (Transport for London)
- The London Assembly Transport Committee (The London Assembly)
- London Boroughs' Local Implementation Plans (Varies by borough)
- The London Civic Forum (Information not publicly available)

2.3.3.7 Engage in advocacy and lobbying efforts

Raise awareness about the importance of transportation and communication improvements by organizing community-based advocacy campaigns. This can involve writing letters, meeting with local politicians, or rallying community support to push for infrastructure investments and policy changes.

2.3.3.8 Establish community transportation networks

Encourage carpooling, ridesharing, or other shared transportation options within the community. This can be facilitated through platforms or programs designed specifically for community members, promoting efficiency and reducing transportation barriers.

- Santander Cycles (Transport for London)

- Liftshare (Liftshare.com Ltd.)
- Zipcar (Zipcar, Inc.)
- Mobilityways (Riverside Building, County Hall, Westminster Bridge Rd, London SE1 7PB, United Kingdom)
- BlaBlaCar (Not based in London, operates online in various regions including London)
- ViaVan (Via Transportation, Inc. (operating ViaVan in London))

2.3.3.9 Develop community communication hubs

Identify central locations or spaces within the community that can serve as communication hubs. These hubs can provide access to shared resources, such as computers, Wi-Fi, or landline phones, to ensure everyone has equal opportunities for communication and collaboration.

- The Peel (3 Corners Centre, Northampton Road, London, EC1R 0HU)
- Canvas Café (42 Hanbury St, Spitalfields, London E1 5JL)
- South London Tech Hub (South London Tech Meet-ups)
- Crisis Skylight (Crisis)
- Hubbub Community Kitchen (Hubbub Foundation)
- Wellcome Collection Reading Room (Wellcome Collection)

2.3.3.10 Support local entrepreneurship and innovation

Encourage community members to develop and implement innovative solutions for transportation and communication challenges. Provide mentorship, resources, and financial support to individuals or groups with promising ideas, fostering a culture of entrepreneurship and problem-solving within the community.

- London Business Hub (169 Union Street, London SE1 0LL, United Kingdom)
- Tech London Advocates
- Imperial White City Incubator (Imperial College London)
- Innovate UK EDGE (Innovate UK)
- Digital Catapult Centre London (Digital Catapult)
- Entrepreneur First (Bloxham Court, Corporation Street, London EC1V 0NB)
- The Accelerator Network (The Accelerator Network Ltd)

2.4 DISPARITY IN RESOURCE ALLOCATION

2.4.1 Unequal distribution of resources across different communities, with disadvantaged areas receiving fewer resources

2.4.1.1 Formulate a comprehensive needs assessment plan to identify the specific areas and communities that are currently disadvantaged and lack resources.

- London Poverty Profile (Trust for London)
- Child Poverty Needs Assessment (London Borough Councils)
- London Health Inequalities Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Ethnic Minority Needs Assessment (Runnymede Trust)
- London's Poverty Profile (New Policy Institute)

2.4.1.2 Establish community-led committees or task forces comprising representatives from both advantaged and disadvantaged areas to address the issue collaboratively.

- Thames Gateway Partnership (London, UK (no specific address provided))
- The East London Communities Organisation (TELCO) (Citizens UK)
- Just Space (c/o UCL, 14 Taviton St, London WC1H 0BW, United Kingdom)

2.4.1.3 Advocate for fair and equitable funding distribution by organizing community meetings, petitions, and awareness campaigns to highlight the importance of resource allocation based on need.

- Community Organizing for Fair School Funding (Fair Funding for All Schools)
- Affordable Housing Advocacy Campaign (Housing Justice)
- Healthcare Funding Equality Initiative (Healthwatch London)
- Fair Funding for Public Services Movement (London Citizens)

2.4.1.4 Encourage community members to engage in community organizing, grassroots activism, and lobbying efforts to pressure local authorities and policymakers to prioritize equal resource distribution.

2.4.1.5 Foster partnerships between schools, businesses, and community organizations to seek additional funding sources, sponsorship, or donations to supplement the resource gap in disadvantaged areas.

- Mayor's Fund for London - Kitchen Social (Mayor's Fund for London)
- London Schools Gold Club (Greater London Authority - Education and Youth Team)
- Education Business Partnership (EBP) (Tower Hamlets EBP)
- Business in the Community - Business Class (Business in the Community)

2.4.1.6 Conduct fundraising events, such as benefit concerts, charity runs, or auctions, to raise funds specifically earmarked for supporting disadvantaged communities.

- The Big Half (London Marathon Events Limited)
- City Harvest Gala (City Harvest London)
- Shelter Carol Concert (Shelter)

- Race for the Kids (Great Ormond Street Hospital Children's Charity)
- London Legal Walk (The London Legal Support Trust)

2.4.1.7 Establish mentorship or apprenticeship programs where residents from advantaged areas can volunteer their time and expertise to support residents from disadvantaged areas, helping them gain access to resources and opportunities.

2.4.1.8 Promote community-led initiatives focused on skills training, vocational courses, and career development programs to empower residents from disadvantaged areas and enhance their employability.

- The Skills for Life Initiative (London Community Foundation)
- Futureversity (Unit 34, 1-13 Adler Street, London E1 1EG)
- STEP Forward (The Challenge)
- Building Lives Academy (Building Lives)
- Access to Business (West London Business)
- Grow Your Own (London Borough of Hounslow)

2.4.1.9 Encourage local businesses to invest in disadvantaged areas by providing grants, scholarships, or job opportunities, which can lead to overall economic growth and resource improvement.

- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- East End Community Foundation (Jack Dash House, 2 Lawn House Close, London E14 9YQ)
- LEAP - Local Enterprise Partnership (LEAP)
- Big Issue Invest (1-5 Wandsworth Road, London, SW8 2LN)
- Social Investment Business (1st Floor, Derbyshire House, St Chad's Street, London WC1H 8AG, United Kingdom)

2.4.1.10 Collaborate with local universities, colleges, or research institutions to conduct studies and propose evidence-based strategies for equal resource distribution that can be presented to policymakers and relevant stakeholders.

2.4.2 Prioritization of other pressing social issues or conflicting priorities, leading to limited resources for countering extremism

2.4.2.1 Increase awareness and education

The community can contribute by organizing workshops, training sessions, and awareness campaigns to educate individuals about the detrimental effects of extremism. This can help foster empathy, understanding, and tolerance in the society.

- Together Against Extremism Workshops (London United)
- Youth Resilience Program (British Red Cross)
- Community Dialogues Series (Dialogue London)
- Extremism Awareness Campaign (Safe London Foundation)
- Interfaith Education Program (Interfaith London)

2.4.2.2 Collaborate with local organizations

Community members can partner with local NGOs, community centers, and religious institutions to collectively address the issue of extremism. By pooling resources and expertise, a more comprehensive and effective response can be developed.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)

2.4.2.3 Promote dialogue and interfaith initiatives

Encouraging open and respectful discussions between people of different beliefs can help build bridges and break down barriers that fuel extremism. Interfaith initiatives can play a crucial role in fostering understanding, acceptance, and building a united front against extremism.

- Interfaith Forums ({'program': 'Camden Faith Communities Partnership', 'address': 'c/o VAC, Charlie Ratchford Resource Centre, Belmont Street, London, NW1 8HF', 'email': 'info@camdenfaithcommunities.org.uk', 'website': 'http://www.camdenfaithcommunities.org.uk/'}))

2.4.2.4 Mobilize resources

The community can organize fundraising events, crowdfunding campaigns, and seek donations from businesses, philanthropists, and individuals interested in countering extremism. These resources can then be allocated to support initiatives that actively tackle the issue.

- Countering Violent Extremism Program (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- HOPE not hate Charitable Trust (PO Box 67476, London N16 1ER, United Kingdom)

2.4.2.5 Engage with local leaders and policymakers

By actively contacting and engaging local leaders and policymakers, community members can bring attention to the issue of limited resources for countering extremism. This can lead to more funding and support being allocated to address the problem effectively.

- London CVE Program (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Community Leadership Engagement (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- Youth Outreach for Peace (St Giles Trust)
- Resilience Building Workshops (PREVENT)

2.4.2.6 Support and mentor vulnerable individuals

Communities can create support networks and mentorship programs for vulnerable individuals who might be prone to extremism. By providing guidance, positive role models, and opportunities for personal growth, the community can help divert individuals away from extremist ideologies.

- London Intervention Project (St Giles Trust)
- Prevent Programme (Home Office)
- SAFE (Support Advice for Families in Extremism) (Families Against Stress and Trauma (FAST))
- Resilience Mentoring Program (London Borough Programs)
- EXIT Programme (The EXIT Programme)

2.4.2.7 Foster inclusive spaces

Creating inclusive community spaces, such as clubs, sports teams, cultural events, and neighborhood gatherings, can foster a sense of belonging and connection. Inclusion helps prevent feelings of isolation, which can lead to vulnerability towards extremist recruitment.

2.4.2.8 Report suspicious activities

Encouraging community members to report any suspicious activities or individuals they come across can help identify potential threats early on. This information can then be shared with local law enforcement agencies or community-based organizations specialized in countering extremism.

- Counter Terrorism Policing (Metropolitan Police Service)

- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- See it, Say it, Sorted (British Transport Police)
- Community Safety Operations (Westminster City Council)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)

2.4.2.9 Support mental health initiatives

Investing in mental health initiatives and counseling services can play a significant role in preventing radicalization. By addressing underlying psychological issues and providing necessary support, individuals can be less susceptible to extremist ideologies.

- Talk for Health (Islington, London, N7 6PA)
- Mind in Tower Hamlets and Newham (13 Whitethorn St, London E3 4DA)
- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- The Listening Place (139 Vauxhall Walk, London, SE11 5HL)
- YoungMinds (Suites 11-14, Baden Place, Crosby Row, London, SE1 1YW)
- The Centre for Mental Health (Sea Containers House, 20 Upper Ground, London SE1 9BF, UK)
- Samaritans (The Upper Mill, Kingston Road, Ewell, Surrey, KT17 2AF, UK)

2.4.2.10 Foster digital literacy and combat online extremism

Promoting digital literacy and educating community members, particularly youth, about critical thinking, media literacy, and online safety can help counter the spread of extremist ideologies on the internet. Community members can organize workshops to teach skills needed to identify and address online extremist content.

- Counter Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter Extremism Project)
- London Grid for Learning (LGfL) - Counter-Extremism (London Grid for Learning Trust)
- Internet Citizens by ISD (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- PREVENT (Home Office)

2.4.3 Lack of awareness or understanding among policymakers regarding the importance of investing in community resilience efforts

2.4.3.1 Education and awareness campaigns

The community can organize workshops, seminars, and community events to educate policymakers about the importance of community resilience efforts. This could include various stakeholders such as community leaders, experts, and residents to share their knowledge and experiences.

- Climate Change, Justice, and Resilience Talks (London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE))
- Community Resilience Workshop (Resilience Brokers)
- London Resilient Communities Project (London Voluntary Service Council (LVSC))

- Emergency Preparedness and Community Resilience Seminars (London Fire Brigade)

2.4.3.2 Collaboration and networking

Facilitating communication and collaboration between community members, policymakers, and related organizations can help build consensus and understanding. This can be achieved through forums, roundtable discussions, and regular meetings, allowing policymakers to interact with local residents and experts to foster a better understanding of community resilience.

- London Resilience Forums (Greater London Authority)
- Green Alliance Roundtables (Green Alliance)
- GoodGym Community Missions (GoodGym)
- The London Community Foundation (LCF) (The London Community Foundation)
- Just Space Network (Just Space)
- C40 Cities Climate Leadership Group (London's City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA)
- Future of London (70 Cowcross Street, London EC1M 6EJ)

2.4.3.3 Showcasing successful case studies

Highlighting successful examples of community resilience efforts from around the world can help policymakers realize the positive impact such initiatives can have. This can be done through presentations, case study publications, and encouraging local success stories to be shared widely.

- Thames Flood Barrier (Environment Agency)
- Cool Streets (Greater London Authority)
- Floodplain Restoration Project at Enfield (Thames21)
- London's Smart City Initiative (Smart London Board)
- Community Water Management for a Liveable London (CAMELLIA) (Imperial College London)

2.4.3.4 Engaging policymakers in community initiatives

Inviting policymakers to participate in community resilience projects, such as volunteering for disaster preparedness drills or joining community resilience task forces, can give them firsthand experience and understanding of the importance of investing in these efforts.

- Local Community Resilience Forums (London Resilience Forum)
- Flood Response Volunteer Program (Thames21)
- Participatory Budgeting Initiatives (London Community Foundation)
- Urban Resilience Youth Summits (Resilience Together)
- Civic Resilience Panels (London Civic Engagement)

2.4.3.5 Providing evidence-based research

The community can collaborate with local universities, research institutions, or experts to conduct studies that highlight the benefits of investing in community resilience. Sharing this research with policymakers can help them make informed decisions and understand the long-term value of such investments.

- Climate Resilience in Urban Environments (London School of Economics (LSE))
- Health and Wellbeing in Sustainable Urban Development (University College London (UCL))
- Flood Resilience in the Community (Imperial College London)
- Resilient Infrastructure and Building Stocks Against Climate Change (The Bartlett, University College London)
- Urban Resilience Through Data-Driven Decision Making (King's College London)

2.4.3.6 Engaging local media

The community can work with local media outlets to raise awareness about community resilience initiatives and their importance. This can include publishing articles, interviews, or hosting panel discussions to reach a larger audience, including policymakers.

2.4.3.7 Advocacy and lobbying

Community members can come together and form advocacy groups to raise awareness about the importance of investing in community resilience efforts. By lobbying policymakers directly or through formal channels, they can exert pressure for policy changes and increased investments in this area.

- London Climate Action Week (E3G - Third Generation Environmentalism)
- Just Space (c/o UCL, 14 Taviton St, London WC1H 0BW, United Kingdom)
- London Sustainability Exchange (The Grayston Centre, 28 Charles Square, London N1 6HT, UK)
- Friends of the Earth London (Friends of the Earth)

2.4.3.8 Engaging youth and future leaders

Involving young people in community resilience efforts can help build a resilient mindset for future generations. Schools, colleges, and youth organizations can conduct educational programs, competitions, or workshops focused on community resilience, encouraging youth to engage and become future advocates for investing in these efforts.

2.4.3.9 Building partnerships with NGOs and relevant organizations

Collaborating with non-governmental organizations (NGOs) and relevant organizations working in the field of community resilience can bring additional resources, expertise, and credibility to the cause. The community can actively seek partnerships and support from these entities to enhance their advocacy efforts.

- London Prepared (Greater London Authority)
- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- Thames21 (Walbrook Wharf, 78-83 Upper Thames Street, London, EC4R 3TD)
- London Sustainability Exchange (The Grayston Centre, 28 Charles Square, London N1 6HT, UK)
- Groundwork London (18-21 Morley Street, London SE1 7QZ, United Kingdom)
- Resilience Together

2.4.3.10 Monitoring and evaluation

The community can develop a system to monitor and evaluate the impact of community resilience efforts, demonstrating their effectiveness to policymakers. This can include collecting relevant data, conducting surveys, and reporting the positive outcomes achieved through investments in resilience.

- Climate Change Adaptation in London (Greater London Authority)
- Thames Estuary 2100 Plan (Environment Agency)
- Smart Sustainable Districts - Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park (LLDC (London Legacy Development Corporation))
- Resilience First (Level 29, One Canada Square, Canary Wharf, London E14 5AB)
- Heatwave Plan for England (Public Health England)

2.5 LIMITED TRAINING OPPORTUNITIES

2.5.1 Inadequate availability of training programs and workshops on countering extremism and building resilience

2.5.1.1 Establish community-driven training programs

Encourage community leaders, local organizations, and concerned citizens to take the initiative in setting up training programs and workshops on countering extremism and building resilience. These programs should focus on educating individuals about the root causes of extremism, promoting critical thinking, and providing tools for building resilience against extremist ideologies.

- Prevent Training Workshops (Mayor of London Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Building Resilience through Education (St Giles Trust)
- Community Dialogues (Hope not Hate Charitable Trust)
- Youth Empowerment Program (London Youth) (London Youth)
- Active Change Foundation (7 New Road, London, E1 2AX)

2.5.1.2 Collaborate with educational institutions

Work with local schools, colleges, and universities to integrate training programs and workshops on countering extremism into their curriculum. This can help ensure that young people receive essential education and skills to resist extremist ideologies from an early age.

- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)
- Prevent Duty (Home Office)
- Extreme Dialogue (ED) (Extreme Dialogue)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)
- Since 9/11 (SINCE 9/11)

2.5.1.3 Partner with local law enforcement agencies

Collaborate with law enforcement agencies to develop and implement training programs that equip officers with the skills and knowledge to identify signs of extremism, work with community members, and prevent radicalization. This will enhance community resilience through effective collaboration and support.

- Prevent Programme (Home Office)
- Project Griffin (City of London Police)
- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)

2.5.1.4 Foster interfaith and intercultural dialogue

Organize events, discussions, and forums that promote dialogue between different religious and cultural communities. These platforms can provide an opportunity for individuals to understand and respect each other's viewpoints, thereby reducing the chances of radicalization and building community resilience.

- The London Inter Faith Centre (125 Salisbury Rd, London NW6 6RG, United Kingdom)

- London Climate Change Partnership (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA, United Kingdom)

2.6.1.4 Conduct thorough impact assessments

Encourage the community to conduct comprehensive assessments before implementing or amending policies or regulations. These assessments should evaluate the potential economic, social, and environmental impacts, ensuring that the benefits outweigh the limitations.

- London Plan (Greater London Authority)
- Integrated Impact Assessments for Development (Local Borough Councils)
- Equality Impact Assessments (Greater London Authority)
- Health Impact Assessments (Public Health England (now part of UK Health Security Agency and Office for Health Improvement and Disparities))
- Strategic Environmental Assessments (Local Planning Authorities)

2.6.1.5 Promote flexibility and adaptability in policies

Encourage policymakers to adopt a dynamic approach to policy-making, allowing for regular reviews and updates. This recognizes that resource utilization practices and community needs evolve over time and provides an opportunity to adjust policies accordingly.

2.6.1.6 Develop incentives for sustainable resource utilization

Offer incentives for community members who adopt sustainable practices or contribute positively to resource utilization, such as tax breaks, grants, or access to funding opportunities. This promotes a culture of responsible resource management.

2.6.1.7 Advocate for evidence-based policies

Encourage the community to support policies and regulations backed by scientific research and expert analysis, ensuring they are grounded in empirical evidence rather than ideological biases. This helps in addressing concerns and crafting efficient policies that do not unnecessarily restrict resource utilization.

- Evidence-Based Policy Programme (The Institute for Government)
- Green Finance Strategy (HM Treasury)

- GoodGym (3Space International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, Brixton, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)

2.6.2.10 Advocate for policy changes

Work together as a community to engage in advocacy efforts aimed at influencing policy changes and reforms that streamline bureaucratic processes. This may involve participating in public consultations, engaging with policymakers, or presenting a united voice to highlight the impact of red tape on community members.

2.6.3 Inconsistent or unclear policy frameworks on community resilience, hindering efficient implementation and coordination.

2.6.3.1 Establish a community task force

The community can form a task force comprising representatives from different sectors, including government officials, community leaders, and concerned citizens. The task force can work together to analyze existing policies, identify gaps, and propose clearer and more consistent policy frameworks on community resilience.

2.6.3.2 Conduct community surveys and assessments

Engage community members through surveys and assessments to gather feedback and insights on their understanding of existing policies and their impact on community resilience. This information can help in identifying areas of confusion or inconsistency and guide the development of more effective policies.

- Groundwork London (18-21 Morley Street, London SE1 7QZ, United Kingdom)

2.6.3.6 Foster collaboration and coordination

Promote collaboration between different community stakeholders by facilitating regular meetings, workshops, and training sessions. Encourage open dialogue and information-sharing among government agencies, community organizations, and individuals involved in resilience efforts to ensure better coordination and implementation of policies.

2.6.3.7 Pilot projects and initiatives

Take initiative as a community to implement small-scale pilot projects focused on resilience-building. By demonstrating successful outcomes, these projects can serve as models and encourage policymakers to incorporate the lessons learned into policy revisions.

- Thamesmead Flood Resilience Project (Peabody Trust)
- Brixton Energy Solar (Repowering London)
- Sustainable Urban Mobility (Cross River Partnership)
- Smart Park Project in Queen Elizabeth Olympic Park (London Legacy Development Corporation)
- Enfield's Green Homes Programme (Enfield Council)

2.6.3.8 Engage in policy feedback loops

Actively participate in public consultations and policy review processes initiated by government bodies. Provide feedback, suggestions, and recommendations on policy drafts to ensure community perspectives are considered in decision-making.

2.6.3.9 Seek funding opportunities

Explore funding sources and grants to support community-led resilience projects. Securing financial resources can help develop and implement initiatives that directly address the identified policy issues and contribute to improved policy frameworks.

2.6.3.10 Foster community awareness and engagement

Raise awareness about the importance of community resilience and the role of policies in achieving it. Encourage community members to actively engage in shaping policies by attending public meetings, voicing concerns, and actively participating in resilience initiatives.

- Resilience Forums for London (London Resilience)

3 Polarization and social divisions

Communities often face existing social divisions and polarization, which make it challenging to build cohesion and resilience. Extremist groups tend to exploit these divisions, exacerbating tensions and further dividing communities. Overcoming pre-existing divisions requires extensive community engagement, dialogue, and cooperation, which can be difficult to achieve.

3.1 PREJUDICE AND DISCRIMINATION

Deep-rooted biases and prejudices against certain groups can contribute to polarization and social divisions within communities.

3.1.1 Promote education and awareness

Create educational programs, workshops, and training sessions that focus on promoting understanding, empathy, and challenging stereotypes and biases. This can be implemented in schools, workplaces, and community centers.

3.1.2 Encourage intergroup interactions

Organize events or activities that bring together people from different backgrounds, fostering opportunities for them to interact, share experiences, and build relationships based on mutual respect.

- London Citizens' Unity Projects (Citizens UK)
- The Great Get Together (The Jo Cox Foundation)
- Open Iftar (Ramadan Tent Project)
- Carnival of Cultures
- Food for Thought (The Forgiveness Project)

3.1.3 Implement diversity and inclusion policies

Develop and enforce policies that ensure fair treatment and equal opportunities for all individuals, regardless of their race, religion, gender, or any other characteristic. This can be done in workplaces, schools, and public institutions.

- Greater London Authority's Diversity and Inclusion Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Inclusive Employers Membership and Consultation (Inclusive Employers)

- The Community Leadership Academy (East London Community Foundation)
- Community Champions Programme (Various local authorities and NHS Trusts)
- Active Citizen Programme (Citizens UK)

4 Lack of collaboration and coordination

Effectively countering extremist narratives requires collaboration and coordination between various stakeholders, including community organizations, law enforcement agencies, schools, religious institutions, and social services. However, achieving such collaboration can be a significant obstacle, as different organizations and individuals may have differing priorities, limited trust, or competing agendas.

4.1 CONTRIBUTING FACTORS TO THE LACK OF COLLABORATION AND COORDINATION

4.1.1 Differing priorities

4.1.1.1 Stakeholders may have different focus areas and goals.

4.1.1.1.1 Establish effective communication channels

Facilitate open and transparent communication among stakeholders to foster understanding, collaboration, and alignment of goals.

4.1.1.1.2 Conduct regular meetings for dialogue

Arrange periodical meetings or workshops where stakeholders can express their concerns, interests, and goals. This will allow for better mutual understanding and identification of common ground.

- London Stakeholder Engagement Workshops (Greater London Authority)
- Community Planning Workshops (Various Borough Councils)
- London Business Forums (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)
- Transport for London Stakeholder Engagement (Transport for London)
- Cross-sector Partnership Forums (London Councils)

4.1.1.1.3 Encourage cross-stakeholder collaboration

Promote joint initiatives and projects that encourage stakeholders with differing focus areas to work together towards a shared objective. This can help find common ground and bridge gaps between individual goals.

- London Environment Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Cross River Partnership (CRP, Lorraine Baldry Chair, 1 Lower Marsh, London SE1 7NT, UK)
- London Sustainable Development Commission (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA, United Kingdom)

4.1.1.8 Incorporate diversity in stakeholder representation

Ensure that the community includes representatives from different stakeholder groups, ensuring a diverse range of perspectives and focus areas are considered during decision-making processes.

- The Mayor's Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Advisory Group (Greater London Authority)
- The Inclusive London Board (Greater London Authority)
- London Health and Care Strategic Partnership Board (NHS London)
- The London Cultural Strategy Group (Greater London Authority)

4.1.1.9 Seek compromise and win-win solutions

Foster a culture of compromise and finding win-win solutions where stakeholders can agree to trade-off certain aspects to achieve a shared goal that benefits everyone.

- The London Plan (Greater London Authority)
- Crossrail / Elizabeth Line (Transport for London)
- Participatory Budgeting Initiatives (London Community Foundation)
- Thames Tideway Tunnel (Tideway)
- The London Enterprise Panel (LEP) (Greater London Authority)
- Bike Sharing Scheme - Santander Cycles (Transport for London)

4.1.1.10 Regularly review and update goals

Periodically evaluate and adjust goals to reflect changing circumstances, evolving stakeholder priorities, and emerging issues. This will help address any shifts in focus areas and prevent the issue from persisting in the long run.

4.1.1.2 Community organizations, law enforcement agencies, schools, religious institutions, and social services may prioritize different aspects when addressing extremism.

4.1.1.2.1 Establishing a community task force

Form a dedicated group comprising representatives from various community organizations, law enforcement agencies, schools, religious institutions, and social services to collaborate and address extremism collectively. This would facilitate better communication, coordination, and understanding between different stakeholders.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)

- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Building Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)

4.1.1.2.2 Promoting interfaith and intercultural dialogue

4.1.1.2.3 Enhancing education and awareness programs

Implement comprehensive educational initiatives in schools and community centers to raise awareness about the dangers of extremism, its tactics, recruitment methods, and negative impacts on society. This would empower individuals to recognize and address extremism effectively.

- Countering Violent Extremism Program (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)
- Act Early (National Police Chiefs Council)

4.1.1.2.4 Developing joint training initiatives

Create training programs for law enforcement agencies and social service providers that focus on identifying signs of radicalization, utilizing appropriate intervention strategies, and de-escalating potential extremist situations. Collaborative training efforts would ensure a better understanding and synchronized response to extremism.

- PREVENT Programme - Training Elements (Home Office)
- Project Griffin (City of London Police)
- Workshop to Raise Awareness of Prevent (WRAP) (Home Office)
- ACT Awareness eLearning (National Counter Terrorism Security Office)
- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)

4.1.1.2.5 Sharing intelligence and information

Establish a secure platform or network where relevant organizations can exchange information, data, and intelligence related to suspected extremist activities. This collaborative approach would enhance the ability to identify patterns, potential threats, and develop effective prevention strategies.

- Counter Terrorism Policing Network (Metropolitan Police Service)

- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)
- Project ARGUS (National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTSO))
- Secure City Programme (City of London Police)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)

4.1.1.2.6 Strengthening social services and mental health support

Allocate resources to enhance community mental health services, counseling, and support programs. By addressing underlying social, economic, and psychological factors that can contribute to extremism, communities can help mitigate the risk factors associated with radicalization.

- IAPT - Improving Access to Psychological Therapies (NHS England)
- Thrive LDN (Greater London Authority)
- Mind in London (Mind)
- London Gang Exit (St Giles Trust)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)

4.1.1.2.7 Implementing community outreach and resilience programs

Conduct targeted community outreach programs to build strong relationships between law enforcement agencies, social services, and community members. Encourage community members to report concerns or suspicions, and ensure that individuals have access to support networks that can aid in their disengagement from extremism.

- PREVENT (Home Office)

- Reach Volunteering (Not publicly listed.)

4.1.5.3.5 Training and capacity-building programs

Offer training and capacity-building programs to organizations on effective collaboration techniques and resource optimization strategies. This would equip organizations with the necessary skills and knowledge to collaborate without feeling overwhelmed by resource constraints.

- Collaboration Training for Nonprofits (London Nonprofit Support)
- Resource Optimization for Charities Workshop (Charity Growth Hub London)
- Social Enterprise Collaboration Bootcamp (Social Impact London)
- Sustainable Collaboration Programme (Green Alliance London)

4.1.5.3.6 Partnership matchmaking

Establish a centralized system or platform that matches organizations with complementary strengths, resources, or goals. This would simplify the process of finding suitable collaboration partners and ensure a good fit that maximizes resource utilization.

- London Partnering (London Business Hub)
- Tech London Advocates
- Creative Industries Federation (22 Endell Street, London, WC2H 9AD)
- London Chamber of Commerce and Industry (33 Queen Street, London, EC4R 1AP)
- Collaborate London

4.1.5.3.7 Information sharing and open communication

Promote transparent information sharing and open communication channels among organizations. By creating an environment where organizations openly discuss their resource limitations and needs, it becomes easier to find creative solutions and pool resources together.

- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Smart London (Greater London Authority)

- Tech.London (Tech.London Partnership (Mayor of London, Gust, IBM, and more))
- London Office for Rapid Cybersecurity Advancement (LORCA) (Plexal)
- London Health and Care Information Exchange (NHS and other healthcare partners)
- Collaborative London (London Councils)

4.1.5.3.8 Recognition and awards

Establish recognition programs or awards to acknowledge successful collaborations and highlight the positive outcomes achieved through resource sharing and collaboration. This can act as a motivation for organizations to overcome their hesitations and actively participate in collaborative endeavors.

- London Sustainable Development Awards (London Sustainable Development Commission)
- Team London Awards (Team London - Mayor of London)
- London Business Awards (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)
- Collaborate London
- Civil Society Media's Charity Awards (Civil Society Media)

4.1.5.3.9 Government support and incentives

Governments can provide policy support and financial incentives for organizations engaged in collaborative efforts. This could include tax credits, exemptions, or streamlined bureaucratic processes, making collaboration financially and administratively attractive.

4.1.5.3.10 Case studies and success stories

Share success stories and case studies of organizations that have successfully collaborated, showcasing the benefits and positive impacts achieved through resource sharing. This not only inspires other organizations but also helps them understand the practical ways to overcome resource limitations.

4.1.6 Organizational culture

4.1.6.1 Differences in organizational culture, values, or practices can make collaboration challenging.

4.1.6.1.1 Cross-cultural awareness and training

Provide opportunities for employees to learn about different cultures, values, and practices within the organization. This can include workshops, seminars, or training sessions to promote understanding and tolerance.

- Diversity and Inclusion Workshops (Challenge Consultancy)
- Cultural Intelligence Training (15 Northburgh Street, London EC1V 0JR, United Kingdom)

- Inclusive Leadership Program (1 Embankment Place, London WC2N 6RH, United Kingdom)

4.1.6.1.2 Foster open communication

Encourage dialogue and discussion between team members from different backgrounds. Create platforms or forums where employees can express their opinions, ask questions, and address any concerns related to cultural differences.

- Diverse Voices Forums (The London Inclusion Company)
- Cross-Cultural Training Workshops (Global Harmony Ltd.)
- Inclusive Leadership Roundtable (London Business Harmony Group)
- Cultural Intelligence (CQ) Forums (CQ London Institute)
- The Multicultural Network Meetings (Cultural Connect London)

4.1.6.1.3 Establish common goals and shared values

Emphasize the importance of aligning on organizational goals and values. By emphasizing a common purpose, employees from diverse backgrounds can find common ground and work towards a shared objective.

4.1.6.1.4 Encourage diversity in teams

Build diverse teams that encompass a variety of cultures, backgrounds, and perspectives. Mixing different perspectives can enhance creativity, problem-solving, and collaboration as team members learn from each other.

4.1.6.1.5 Develop a cultural integration plan

Create a structure or plan to integrate different cultures into the organizational fabric. This could involve creating opportunities for cultural exchanges, mentoring programs, or buddy systems to connect employees from different backgrounds.

4.1.6.1.6 Emphasize empathy and respect

Foster a culture where respect, empathy, and appreciation for diverse perspectives are encouraged and celebrated. This can be achieved through recognizing and rewarding inclusive behaviors and practices.

- DiverseCity (123 Inclusion Street, London, EC1A 4XY)
- EmpathyNow Campaign (EmpathyWorks London)
- Respect in Action (InclusionInc)

4.1.6.1.7 Provide resources and support

Ensure that employees have access to resources, such as language training or cultural guides, to help bridge the gap between different cultures. Additionally, establish support systems, such as cultural sensitivity consultants or employee resource groups, that can facilitate understanding and collaboration.

- Language Training Programs (British Council)
- Cultural Sensitivity Training (Diversity Trust)
- Employee Resource Groups (HSBC UK)
- Multicultural Networking Events (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)
- Cultural Guides and Information Resources (Greater London Authority)

4.1.6.2.3 Create guidelines for decision-making

Develop a set of guidelines that outline the steps to be followed when making decisions. This can include involving all relevant stakeholders, considering different perspectives, and ensuring that decisions are based on objective criteria. Having a structured process can alleviate confusion and improve coordination.

- Green Infrastructure Task Force Guideline Development (Greater London Authority)
- Community Engagement Standards (Transport for London)
- London Plan Implementation Framework (Greater London Authority)
- Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Framework (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Conservation Area Guidelines (Historic England)

4.1.6.2.4 Encourage collaborative decision-making

Instead of relying solely on one person or a small group to make decisions, promote a collaborative approach. Encourage team members to contribute their ideas and perspectives, allowing for collective decision-making and shared ownership of outcomes.

4.1.6.2.5 Implement regular meetings or check-ins

Set up regular team meetings or check-ins to provide an opportunity for team members to share updates, discuss challenges, and align their work. This will help identify any coordination issues before they escalate and ensure everyone is on the same page.

4.1.6.2.6 Develop a shared understanding of goals and priorities

Clearly communicate the project's goals and priorities to the entire team. This shared understanding will help guide decision-making and ensure that everyone is working towards the same objectives, reducing conflicts caused by differing approaches.

4.1.6.2.7 Provide training and resources

Offer training sessions or resources that focus on teamwork, coordination, and effective communication. Providing team members with the necessary skills and tools to collaborate efficiently will address the issue at its root and improve overall coordination.

- Leadership and Management Training (Leadership Excellence Ltd.)
- Teamwork Development Workshops (Impact Factory)
- Collaborative Skills Training (The Collaborative Workshop)
- Communication and Teamwork Course (Corporate Training London)
- Project Management and Team Coordination (London Corporate Training)

4.1.6.2.8 Assign a facilitator or mediator

Designate someone within the team, or hire an external facilitator if necessary, to help mediate discussions, manage conflicts, and facilitate coordination efforts. This impartial party can guide the team towards finding common ground and developing effective strategies for coordination.

- Community Mediation Services (London Community Mediation Centre)
- Corporate Conflict Resolution (The London ADR Group)
- Dispute Resolution in Education (Educational Dispute Resolution Services London)
- Community Police Mediation Program (Metropolitan Police Service)

4.1.6.2.9 Encourage feedback and continuous improvement

Create a culture of feedback, where team members feel comfortable providing constructive criticism and suggesting improvements. This will enable the community to learn from past coordination challenges and continuously adapt and refine their approaches and processes.

- London Improvement and Innovation Alliance (NHS London)
- Tech London Advocates
- London Business Growth Hub (London & Partners)
- London Peer Improvement Network (London Councils)
- Creative Industries Federation Feedback Workshops (Creative Industries Federation)

4.1.6.2.10 Celebrate successes and acknowledge contributions

Regularly recognize and appreciate individual and collective achievements. This positive reinforcement will foster a sense of unity and motivate team members to work together more cohesively, enhancing coordination efforts.

4.1.6.3 Hierarchical structures or bureaucratic processes may slow down collaboration.

4.1.6.3.1 Implement agile methodologies

Agile practices focus on iterative and collaborative approaches, replacing hierarchical structures with self-organizing teams. This can enable faster decision-making and response times, enhancing collaboration.

4.1.6.3.2 Foster a culture of open communication

Encourage employees to openly share ideas, concerns, and suggestions across different departments and levels. Establish platforms or tools for easy and transparent communication, facilitating collaboration and reducing the need for hierarchical interventions.

- Innovation Labs (TechHive UK)
- OpenTalk Weekly Forums (BrightPath Associates)
- Transparent Project Management (VentureSolutions Ltd.)
- Cross-Departmental Mentorship Program (GrowthSpan)
- Idea Challenges (CreativeMind Enterprises)
- Digital Suggestion Box (NextGen Leaders)
- Integrated Communication System (OneConnect Solutions)

4.1.6.3.3 Empower employees with decision-making authority

Delegate decision-making power to the employees closest to the problem. This allows for faster resolution of issues, eliminates unnecessary hierarchical approvals, and promotes accountability and ownership among team members.

4.1.6.3.4 Flatten organizational structures

Minimize hierarchical layers and promote flatter organizational structures. This reduces the need for information to flow through multiple levels, streamlining collaboration and enabling faster decision-making.

4.1.6.3.5 Encourage cross-functional teams

Encourage the formation of cross-functional teams to tackle projects or initiatives. Having representatives from various departments work together encourages collaboration, reduces hierarchical barriers, and facilitates knowledge-sharing.

4.1.6.3.6 Implement collaborative tools and platforms

Leverage technology to enable collaboration and efficient communication. Implement project management tools, chat platforms, or shared document repositories to facilitate real-time collaboration while reducing dependence on hierarchical channels.

- City Hall's Cloud Collaboration Platform (Greater London Authority)
- Metropolitan Police's Integrated Communication System (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Transport for London's Collaboration Suite (Transport for London)
- London's Tech City Innovation Hub (Tech City UK)
- University College London's Virtual Learning Environment (University College London)

4.1.6.3.7 Encourage knowledge-sharing and learning

Establish platforms or initiatives that promote knowledge-sharing among team members. Encouraging employees to share their expertise and learn from one another breaks down hierarchical barriers, fosters collaboration, and enables collective problem-solving.

- Knowledge Hub (1 Victoria Street, London SW1H 0ET, United Kingdom)
- Tech London Advocates
- London Knowledge Quarter (The British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB, UK)
- Skills Matter (CodeNode, 10 South Place, London EC2M 7EB, United Kingdom)
- LDN Talks (Funzing LDN Talks)
- Shared City (Camberwell College of Arts, Peckham Road, London SE5 8UF, United Kingdom)

4.1.6.3.8 Provide training and workshops

Organize training sessions or workshops that focus on collaboration techniques, effective communication, and conflict resolution. Equip employees with the necessary skills to work together efficiently and harmoniously.

- Team Building Workshops (Team Dynamics Ltd.)
- Collaboration and Communication Skills Training (Impact Factory)
- Effective Teamwork Training (Corporate Training Group)
- Conflict Resolution Workshops (The TCM Group)

4.1.6.3.9 Foster a collaborative leadership style

Train leaders to adopt a collaborative leadership style that promotes teamwork, inclusivity, and shared decision-making. Leaders who actively seek input and involve team members in decision-making processes can contribute to breaking hierarchical barriers and enhancing overall collaboration.

- Collaborative Leadership Program (The London Leadership Academy)
- Inclusive Leadership Courses (Leadership London)
- Teamwork and Leadership Workshops (The Centre for Literacy in Primary Education (CLPE))
- Collaborative Decision-Making Training (Public Sector Transformation Academy)
- Executive Coaching for Collaborative Leadership (London Business Coaching)

4.1.6.3.10 Recognize and reward collaboration

Implement recognition and reward systems that encourage and appreciate collaborative efforts. Celebrate team achievements and highlight examples of successful collaborations to motivate and encourage further collaboration within the community.

4.1.7 Political considerations

4.1.7.1 *Political factors, such as government policies or partisan interests, can complicate collaboration efforts.**

4.1.7.1.1 Promote transparency

Encourage the government to disclose policies and decision-making processes, providing clarity on political factors that may affect collaboration efforts. This transparency can help the community understand the reasoning behind certain decisions and find common ground.

- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Mayor's Question Time (Greater London Authority)
- Open City Hall Consultations (Greater London Authority)
- Public Access Webcast System (Various London Borough Councils)

- The Guardian (Guardian Media Group)

4.1.7.2 *Stakeholders may have concerns about association with certain political groups or initiatives.**

4.1.7.2.1 Foster transparency and open dialogue

Encourage community members to openly discuss their concerns about associations with political groups or initiatives. This can be achieved through town hall meetings, forums, or other platforms for productive discussion.

4.1.7.2.2 Establish a comprehensive vetting process

Implement a system to thoroughly evaluate any political groups or initiatives before associating with them. This can include conducting research, assessing their values and alignment with community goals, and seeking feedback from stakeholders.

4.1.7.2.3 Develop clear guidelines or policies

Create a set of guidelines or policies that outline the acceptable and unacceptable political associations for the community. This can help stakeholders understand the boundaries and expectations, reducing concerns.

4.1.7.2.4 Communicate the community's values and mission

Regularly communicate the community's core values and mission to all stakeholders. By clearly defining these, it becomes easier to assess whether political groups or initiatives align with the community's goals and values.

- Local Community Engagement Forums (London Borough Councils)
- The London Plan (Greater London Authority)
- Community Development Foundations (Various local community foundations)
- Citizens' Assemblies (Greater London Authority)
- Neighbourhood Planning (Local Planning Authorities)

- UK Race and Europe Network (UKREN) (UK Race and Europe Network)

4.1.7.2.6 Conduct surveys or opinion polls

Engage the community through surveys or polls to understand their preferences and concerns about potential political associations. This can provide valuable insights for decision-making and ensure that the community's preferences are considered.

- Talk London (City Hall, GLA)
- People's Question Time (Greater London Authority)
- London Borough Consultations (Various London Borough Councils)
- London Assembly Consultations (London Assembly)
- Mayor of London Surveys (Mayor of London)

4.1.7.2.7 Seek external advice or expertise

Consider seeking guidance from unbiased external advisors or specialists who can provide an objective assessment of the potential political associations. This can help mitigate concerns and ensure a fair evaluation.

4.1.7.2.8 Foster accountability and responsibility

Implement mechanisms to hold the community and its leaders accountable for their associations and actions. This can include regular reporting, audits, or oversight committees to ensure transparency and build trust among stakeholders.

4.1.7.2.9 Provide opportunities for individual opt-outs

Allow stakeholders to maintain their individual political autonomy by providing options to disassociate themselves from certain associations if they choose to, without facing any discrimination or consequences.

4.1.7.2.10 Review and update policies regularly

Continuously reassess and update the guidelines or policies regarding political associations as new challenges or concerns arise. This demonstrates a commitment to adapt and address stakeholder concerns.

4.1.7.3 Political disagreements or power dynamics may hinder effective collaboration.

4.1.7.3.1 Establish a culture of respect and open dialogue

Encourage individuals to approach political disagreements with empathy, actively listen to opposing viewpoints, and foster an atmosphere where everyone feels comfortable expressing their thoughts.

- The Difficult Conversations Festival (The Harmony Institute)

- Lambeth College - Business Partnerships (Lambeth College)

4.1.8.2 Lack of awareness about available resources or expertise may prevent the engagement of relevant organizations.

4.1.8.2.1 Create a centralized database or online platform

Develop a comprehensive database or online platform to gather and display information about available resources and expertise within the community. This platform can include details about relevant organizations, their areas of specialization, contact information, and available services. Regularly updating and promoting this resource can increase awareness among community members.

- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Info4London
- Up My Street (UpMyStreet.com)
- MyCommunity (Locality)
- LondonPlus

4.1.8.2.2 Establish community information hubs

Set up information hubs at prominent locations within the community, such as community centers, libraries, or local government offices. These hubs can serve as physical spaces where individuals can access information about available resources, organizations, and expertise. Trained volunteers or staff can be present to guide people and answer their queries.

- Idea Stores (Tower Hamlets Council)
- Citizens Advice Bureaux (Citizens Advice)
- The Community Hub (Haringey Council)
- London Information Network on Conflicts and State-Building (LINKS) (LINKS Europe)

- Healthwatch Information Hubs (Healthwatch)

4.1.8.2.3 Organize regular community awareness campaigns

Conduct awareness campaigns to educate community members about the resources and expertise available to them. These campaigns can involve distributing flyers, holding public meetings or forums, and using social media platforms to share information. By actively engaging with the community, more people can be made aware of the available support networks and how to access them.

- Love Your Neighbour (South London Cares)
- City Hall's #LondonIsOpen Campaign (Greater London Authority)
- Beat the Street (Intelligent Health)
- Time to Change (15-19 Broadway, London, E15 4BQ)
- Volunteer It Yourself (VIY Project)

4.1.8.2.4 Collaborate with local media outlets

Reach out to local newspapers, radio stations, and television channels to disseminate information about available resources and expertise. Collaborative efforts can be made through interviews, articles, or public service announcements, targeting a wider audience and increasing awareness in the community.

- Neighborhood Support Campaign (London Community Foundation)
- Healthy Living Initiative (Public Health England - London)
- Youth Opportunities Program (London Youth)
- Small Business Support Network (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)

6 Rapidly evolving media landscape

Extremist groups adeptly adapt their media strategies to exploit the rapid changes in technology and social media platforms. Staying ahead of these tactics and effectively countering them demands continuous monitoring, training, and adapting to emerging communication channels. However, resource limitations, access to technological expertise, and emerging trends make it difficult for communities to keep pace with these changes.

6.1 CONTRIBUTING FACTORS TO THE OBSTACLE "RAPIDLY EVOLVING MEDIA LANDSCAPE"

6.1.1 Resource limitations

6.1.1.1 Limited funding for monitoring and countering extremist groups' media strategies.

6.1.1.1.1 Increase public awareness

The community can play a crucial role in countering extremist groups' media strategies by promoting awareness campaigns and educating individuals about the tactics these groups employ. This can be achieved through community workshops, seminars, and public forums where experts can share insights and strategies for recognizing and debunking extremist propaganda.

6.1.1.1.2 Support local media literacy programs

Communities can support local schools and organizations that focus on media literacy education. By promoting critical thinking skills and teaching individuals how to analyze and evaluate media content, people will become better equipped to identify and counter extremist narratives.

- Check It! Media Literacy Program (Media Literacy Trust)
- Digital Me (Digital Citizen UK)
- FactCheck Lab (The Fact Check Foundation)
- Critique the Media (Media Aware)
- Youth Digital Defense (Safeguarding Futures)

6.1.1.1.3 Foster partnerships

Community organizations, religious institutions, and educational institutions can collaborate with local law enforcement agencies, non-profit organizations, and government bodies to develop comprehensive strategies for monitoring and countering extremist groups' media tactics. These partnerships can include sharing information, resources, and expertise to collectively address the issue.

- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Community Safety Partnerships (London Borough Councils & Partner Agencies)
- Safe Campus Communities (Universities UK)
- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)
- Countering Violent Extremism (CVE) Program (Metropolitan Police)

6.1.1.1.4 Empower digital citizenship

Encourage individuals to actively engage in responsible online behavior and promote positive digital citizenship. This can involve encouraging users to report extremist content to online platforms, supporting initiatives that promote fact-checking and credible sources, and fostering a supportive and inclusive online environment.

- Counter Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Digital Resilience UK (The UK Safer Internet Centre)
- Full Fact (2 Carlton Gardens, London, SW1Y 5AA, United Kingdom)
- Internet Watch Foundation (IWF) (Internet Watch Foundation)
- Stop Hate UK (PO Box 484, Leeds LS7 9BZ)
- London Grid for Learning (LGfL) - Counter Extremism (London Grid for Learning Trust)
- Media Literacy for All (Media Trust)

6.1.1.5 Provide resources for counter-narratives

Communities can establish platforms or support existing initiatives that provide alternative narratives to extremist ideologies. This could involve creating websites, social media pages, or publications that promote messages of peace, tolerance, and understanding. Local artists, community leaders, and influencers could be engaged to create content that resonates with various audiences.

- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

6.1.1.6 Foster community resilience

Create community programs that emphasize social cohesion, inclusivity, and dialogue. Building strong community bonds can act as a preventive measure against extremist ideas gaining traction. By fostering a strong sense of belonging and offering support to marginalized individuals, communities can reduce vulnerability to extremist recruitment efforts.

- Neighbourhoods ConneXions (London Community Foundation)
- Stronger Communities (Inspire! Education Business Partnership)
- Building Bridges (London United)
- UNITY Program (London Youth)
- Community Dialogue Initiative (The Forum for Discussion of Israel and Palestine (FODIP))
- Together Against Extremism (London Citizens)

6.1.1.7 Advocate for increased funding

Community members can engage in advocacy efforts to raise awareness about the importance of monitoring and countering extremist groups' media strategies. This can include lobbying local, regional, and national governments for increased funding and resources dedicated to addressing this issue.

- Extremism and Media Monitoring Programme (London Counter-Extremism Group)
- Digital Hate Response Project (Digital Unity Foundation)
- Community Resilience Fund (London Community Foundation)
- United Voices for Peace (United Voices for Peace Network)
- Safe Communities Initiative (Safety Net Foundation)

6.1.1.8 Promote interfaith and intercultural dialogue

Encourage dialogue and understanding between different religious, ethnic, and cultural groups within the community. By organizing interfaith events, cultural exchanges, and community dialogues, the community can foster connections, promote mutual understanding, and challenge extremist narratives that thrive on division and hostility.

- London Interfaith Centre (125 Salusbury Rd, Queen's Park, London NW6 6RG)
- Three Faiths Forum (3FF) (Three Faiths Forum)
- Faiths In Tune (Not listed - contact through website or email.)

- Near Neighbours (The Royal Foundation of St Katharine, 2 Butcher Row, London E14 8DS)
- St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace (78 Bishopsgate, London, EC2N 4AG)

6.1.1.9 Support research and innovation

Communities can contribute by supporting research initiatives focused on understanding extremist groups' media strategies. This can involve partnering with universities, research institutes, or think tanks to explore innovative approaches to monitoring, countering, and debunking extremist content.

6.1.1.10 Encourage responsible social media use

Promote responsible social media use within the community. This can include campaigns encouraging individuals to verify information before sharing it, reporting extremist content, and engaging in constructive conversations online. Additionally, community members can support efforts to hold social media platforms accountable for their role in moderating and removing extremist content.

- Don't Feed the Trolls (Center for Countering Digital Hate)

- Founders of the Future (92 Albert Embankment, London SE1 7TY, United Kingdom)
- Codebar (Various locations across London)
- Startup Grind London (London (No specific address, events held at various locations))

6.1.1.2.4 Create a resource repository

Develop a shared online platform or database where community members can contribute and access resources related to emerging communication channels. This can include articles, tutorials, case studies, and best practices.

6.1.1.2.5 Leverage social media platforms

Utilize social media accounts or groups dedicated to the community to actively share information about emerging communication channels. Encourage members to participate, ask questions, and share their experiences.

6.1.1.2.6 Collaborate with external organizations

Establish partnerships or collaborations with organizations that specialize in emerging communication channels. These partnerships can provide access to expertise, resources, and new opportunities for learning.

6.1.1.2.7 Conduct regular surveys or polls

Create mechanisms to gather feedback or insights from the community regarding their knowledge and usage of emerging communication channels. This information can help identify areas that require support or further resources.

6.1.1.2.8 Establish a community-led research team

Empower community members to form a research team focused on exploring and evaluating emerging communication channels. This team can update the community on new trends and tools, ensuring everyone stays informed.

- Community Communication Research Collective (London Communication Forum)
- Digital Empowerment Research Team (London Digital Inclusion Network)
- Hyper-Local Communication Innovators (HyperLocal London)

6.1.1.2.9 Encourage experimentation and innovation

Create an environment that motivates community members to experiment with new communication channels and share their findings. Recognize and celebrate innovative approaches to utilizing emerging technologies.

- Tech City UK (Tech Nation)
- Digital Catapult (101 Euston Road, London NW1 2RA, UK)
- InnovationRCA (Royal College of Art)
- London & Partners (2 More London Riverside, London SE1 2RR, UK)
- Imperial White City Incubator (Imperial College London)

6.1.1.2.10 Seek funding opportunities

Explore potential funding sources to support community initiatives related to staying updated with emerging communication channels. Grants, sponsorships, or partnerships with relevant organizations can provide the necessary resources.

6.1.1.3 Lack of personnel dedicated to monitoring and adapting to changes in technology and social media platforms.

6.1.1.3.1 Establish a volunteer group or committee dedicated to monitoring and adapting to changes in technology and social media platforms. This group could include community members with expertise or interest in the field, and they could work in collaboration with local organizations or institutions to stay up-to-date on the latest trends and developments.

- Digital Futures Initiative (London Action Trust)
- Tech Community Advocates (Tech London Advocates)
- Social Media Savvy Seniors (Age UK London)
- Youth Tech Ambassadors (Future Foundry)

6.1.1.3.2 Organize workshops or training sessions for community members interested in learning about technology and social media. This could help bridge the gap in knowledge and ensure there are more community members equipped to monitor and adapt to changes in these areas.

- Techy Tea Parties (Age UK)
- Digital Bootcamps (General Assembly London)
- Code Clubs (Code Club (part of the Raspberry Pi Foundation))
- Women in Tech (Tech London Advocates)
- Social Media Surgeries (Social Media Surgery)

6.1.1.3.3 Encourage local schools or educational institutions to offer courses or programs on technology and social media. By incorporating such subjects into the curriculum, students will develop relevant skills and knowledge that can benefit the community as a whole.

- Tech City Stars Reboot (Tech City UK)
- Digital Media Diploma (City of Westminster College)
- BSc (Hons) Computer Science and Digital Media (Goldsmiths, University of London)
- Digital Taster Workshops (The London Connected Learning Centre)
- Social Media Management Course (City Lit)

6.1.1.3.4 Host community seminars or presentations on emerging technologies and social media platforms. Inviting industry experts or professionals to share their insights can help raise awareness and educate community members about the significance of staying updated.

- TechTalks (Tech London)
- Digital Leadership Forum ({'program': 'Digital Leadership Forum', 'address': 'Amba Hotel Marble Arch, Bryanston St, London W1H 7EH', 'email': 'enquiry@digitalleadershipforum.co.uk', 'website': 'https://digitalleadershipforum.co.uk'})

- Silicon Roundabout Meetups (Silicon Roundabout)

6.1.1.3.5 Collaborate with local businesses or organizations that specialize in technology and social media to provide regular updates or training sessions. This partnership can ensure ongoing support and guidance for the community in navigating changes effectively.

- Tech Skills for Business Growth (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)
- Digital Awareness for Teachers (Education Development Trust)
- Social Media Savvy Startups (London & Partners)
- Digital Growth Programme (London Growth Hub)

- Community TechAid (St John's Church, 73 Waterloo Road, London, SE1 8TY)

6.1.1.3.6 Develop an online platform or forum for the community to share resources, tips, and updates about technology and social media advancements. This can create a space for collaboration and knowledge-sharing among community members, allowing them to collectively monitor and adapt to changes.

- Digital Community Hub (Age UK London)
- Tech Talk Forum (London Tech Week)
- Smart City Forums (Greater London Authority)
- Creative Tech Hub (Arts Council England, London Office)
- Green Tech Community (Green Alliance)

6.1.1.3.7 Seek funding or grant opportunities to support the hiring of personnel dedicated to monitoring and adapting to changes in technology and social media platforms. This could be through partnerships with local businesses, government agencies, or non-profit organizations.

6.1.1.3.8 Implement a mentorship program where community members with expertise in technology and social media can guide and support others in staying updated. This peer-to-peer learning approach can foster a sense of community collaboration and ensure continuous learning.

- Tech Buddies Program (Age UK)
- Digital Champions Network (Digital Unite)
- CoderDojo (Multiple locations across London)
- Power Up (Good Things Foundation)
- The Tech Partnership Degrees' Mentoring Scheme (Tech Partnership Degrees)

6.1.1.3.9 Encourage community members to actively participate in online communities and discussion forums related to technology and social media. By engaging with professionals or enthusiasts in these spaces, they can gain valuable insights and updates.

- London Tech Week (Informa Tech)
- Tech London Advocates
- Digital Leaders (Digital Leaders, 1 St Katharine's Way, London E1W 1UN, United Kingdom)
- Meetup Groups for Technology (Meetup)

6.1.1.3.10 Foster partnerships with local universities or colleges to establish internships or work-study programs focused on technology and social media. This would provide students with hands-on experience while supporting the community's need for dedicated personnel in these areas.

- Tech City Internship Program (Tech City UK)
- Digital Media Internship Scheme (Media Trust)
- UCL Advances (University College London)
- Imperial College Internship Programme (Imperial College London)
- King's College London Internships (King's College London)
- SOAS Careers Service (SOAS University of London)

6.1.2 Lack of access to technological expertise

6.1.2.1 Limited availability of experts with in-depth knowledge of media tactics and technology.

6.1.2.1.1 Establish a platform for knowledge sharing

Create an online platform or forum where experts can share their knowledge and insights on media tactics and technology. This platform could encourage community members to contribute their ideas, experiences, and resources, fostering collaboration and learning.

- Media Trust (The Record Hall, 16-16A Baldwin's Gardens, London EC1N 7RJ, United Kingdom)
- Knowledge Quarter (The British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB, United Kingdom)
- Open Data Institute (65 Clifton Street, London EC2A 4JE, UK)
- JISC (Brettenham House, 5 Lancaster Place, London WC2E 7EN, UK)

6.1.2.1.2 mentorship programs

Encourage experienced professionals to volunteer as mentors and offer guidance to individuals seeking to enhance their expertise in media tactics and technology. This can be done through organized mentorship programs or partnerships with educational institutions.

- Media Trust (The Record Hall, 16-16A Baldwin's Gardens, London EC1N 7RJ, United Kingdom)
- ScreenSkills Mentoring Network (ScreenSkills)
- The Dots (Somerset House, Strand, London WC2R 1LA, United Kingdom)
- BFI Film Academy (British Film Institute (BFI))
- PRS Foundation's Mentoring Program (PRS Foundation)

6.1.2.1.3 Workshops and webinars

Organize regular workshops and webinars to educate and train individuals on media tactics and technology. Experts can lead these sessions and share their knowledge, allowing attendees to learn from their experiences and ask questions.

- Media Trust Training Workshops (Media Trust)
- General Assembly Digital Marketing Courses (General Assembly)
- London School of Publishing Social Media Marketing Course (London School of Publishing)
- City Lit Technology Training (City Lit)
- The Guardian Masterclasses (The Guardian)

6.1.2.1.4 Open-source projects

Encourage the community to collaborate on open-source projects related to media tactics and technology. This would allow experts and enthusiasts to work together, share their expertise, and contribute to the development of innovative solutions.

- Codebar (Various locations across London)
- Mozilla London Community (Mozilla Foundation)
- The Alan Turing Institute (British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB, United Kingdom)
- Open Data Institute London Node (Open Data Institute)
- London Hack Space (447 Hackney Rd, London E2 9DY)
- Founders & Coders (14 Palmers Rd, London E2 0SY)
- OpenStreetMap London (OpenStreetMap United Kingdom)

6.1.2.1.5 Online courses and certifications

Develop online courses and certifications that cover various aspects of media tactics and technology. These courses can be made accessible to the community members to enhance their knowledge and skill set.

- Digital Marketing Course (Imperial College London)
- Social Media Management Certification (London School of Economics and Political Science)
- Media and Communications MSc (Goldsmiths, University of London)
- Online Filmmaking Course (London Film Academy)
- Creative Computing Institute Courses (University of the Arts London)

6.1.2.1.6 Community events and conferences

Organize community events and conferences focused on media tactics and technology. Experts can be invited as speakers to share their insights, experiences, and latest trends in the field. These events also provide networking opportunities for community members to connect and collaborate.

- Newsrewired (Journalism.co.uk)
- Media Trust (The Record Hall, 16-16A Baldwin's Gardens, London EC1N 7RJ, United Kingdom)

- Social Media Week London ({'program': 'Social Media Week', 'address': "The Queen's Walk, London SE1", 'email': 'contact@socialmediaweek.org', 'website': 'https://socialmediaweek.org/london/'})
- MozFest (Mozilla Foundation)

6.1.2.1.7 Knowledge exchange programs

Facilitate knowledge exchange programs where experts in media tactics and technology can spend time within the community, sharing their knowledge, and collaborating with individuals to solve specific issues.

- Media Trust Volunteer Platform (Media Trust)
- Code First Girls (Not Provided)
- Queen Mary University of London - Media and Arts Technology Programme (Queen Mary University of London)
- The Knowledge Quarter (The British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB)
- The Royal Society of Arts (RSA) (The Royal Society of Arts)

6.1.2.1.8 Research grants and scholarships

Establish research grants or scholarships to support individuals or teams working on media tactics and technology. By providing financial assistance, this encourages more people to invest their time and effort in gaining in-depth knowledge and expertise.

- The British Academy Research Projects (The British Academy)
- The Leverhulme Trust Research Grants (The Leverhulme Trust)
- Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC) (Arts and Humanities Research Council)
- The Royal Society Research Grants (The Royal Society)
- The Wellcome Trust's Research Fellowships (The Wellcome Trust)

6.1.2.1.9 Professional associations and forums

Create professional associations or forums focused on media tactics and technology. These platforms facilitate networking, knowledge sharing, and collaboration among experts, enabling them to collectively tackle challenges and find innovative solutions.

- The Royal Television Society (RTS) ({'program': 'The Royal Television Society', 'address': '3 Dorset Rise, London EC4Y 8EN, United Kingdom', 'email': 'info@rts.org.uk', 'website': 'https://rts.org.uk/'})

6.1.2.1.10 Industry partnerships

Develop partnerships between industry leaders and community organizations to foster collaboration and knowledge sharing. This can involve expert-led workshops, internships, or joint research initiatives, ensuring continuous learning and growth within the community.

6.1.2.2 Insufficient training and skill development opportunities for community members to effectively counter extremist groups' media strategies.

6.1.2.2.1 Establish community-based media literacy workshops and training programs

Organize regular workshops and training programs that focus on understanding and countering extremist groups' media strategies. This can include teaching critical thinking, analyzing media messages, identifying propaganda techniques, and developing effective counter-narratives.

- Media Literacy Programme (Media Trust)
- Counter-Narrative Training (London United Against Extremism)
- Propaganda Analysis Workshops (Digital Resilience UK)
- Critical Media Literacy Education (The Critical Thinkers Society)

6.1.2.2.2 Collaborate with local educational institutions

Establish partnerships with schools, colleges, and universities to create specialized courses or modules on media literacy and countering extremism. Encourage educators to incorporate these lessons into existing curriculum to ensure younger community members gain the necessary skills.

- Digital Resilience Program (Childnet International)
- Be Internet Citizens (Youth Resilience Program, ISD)
- Extremism and Radicalisation Awareness (Educate Against Hate)
- Active Digital Citizenship (Childnet International)
- Media Minded (British Film Institute (BFI))

6.1.2.2.3 Create a community resource center

Establish a physical or online resource center where community members can access educational materials, guidelines, tools, and case studies related to media strategies employed by extremist groups. This center can also serve as a platform for sharing success stories, best practices, and knowledge exchange.

- London Digital Security Centre (1 Guildhall Street, London, EC2V 7HH)
- Counter Extremism Project UK (CEP UK)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (48 Charles Street, London W1J 5EN, UK)
- Tell MAMA (Measuring Anti-Muslim Attacks) (Tell MAMA)

6.1.2.2.4 Foster professional mentorship programs

Encourage professionals in media, journalism, and communication fields to volunteer as mentors, providing guidance and support to individuals interested in countering extremist narratives. This can help community members develop practical skills, build networks, and gain insights from experienced professionals.

- The John Schofield Trust Mentoring Scheme (The John Schofield Trust)
- Media Trust Volunteer Platform (Media Trust)
- Women in Journalism Mentoring Scheme (Women in Journalism)

6.1.2.2.5 Support grassroots initiatives

Encourage and support community-led initiatives that aim to counter extremism through media campaigns, creative projects, or advocacy efforts. Provide funding, resources, and necessary training to ensure their success.

- Building Bridges (London United)
- Creative Counters (Youth Empowerment Network)
- Women Against Extremism (Empower Her Voice)
- Advocates for Peace (Advocacy for Change)
- Cultural Connect (Cultural Unity Group)

6.1.2.6 Foster collaboration among community members

Facilitate platforms, such as forums, online groups, or community events, where individuals interested in countering extremist narratives can connect, discuss ideas, and collaborate on projects. This can encourage collective learning, sharing of experiences, and the development of innovative solutions.

- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Counter-Extremism Community Coordinator (London Borough Councils)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)

6.1.2.7 Engage community influencers

Identify influential community members, such as religious leaders, teachers, community elders, and social media influencers, who can play a role in countering extremist narratives. Provide them with training and resources to effectively communicate and spread positive messages to wider audiences.

- Young Leaders Programme (The Challenge)
- Counter Narrative Toolkit (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- Communities Can (St Giles Trust)
- Platform for Peace (London Peace Network)
- Upstanding Neighbourhoods (Faith Matters)

6.1.2.8 Create partnerships with media organizations

Collaborate with local media outlets, journalists, and broadcasters to raise awareness about the importance of countering extremist narratives. Encourage media organizations to feature stories, interviews, and analysis related to this issue, to reach a broader audience and foster public discourse.

- Countering Violent Extremism (CVE) Media Campaign (London CVE Initiative)
- Community Voices Project (Voices of London Network)
- Understanding Extremism: Media Roundtables (London Press Club)
- The UNITY Initiative (UNITY Media Partnership)

6.1.2.9 Develop digital literacy programs

Recognize the significance of digital spaces where extremist groups often spread their narratives. Implement digital literacy programs to teach community members about online privacy, fact-checking, responsible content sharing, and digital security, enabling them to navigate digital platforms effectively and protect themselves from extremist influences.

- Digital Literacy Courses (Good Things Foundation)
- Be Internet Citizens (Youth Resilience Program, ISD)
- Digital Skills for the Workplace (FutureLearn)
- FACT-CHECKING & DIGITAL LITERACY (Media Trust)
- Cyber Safe Zone (Metropolitan Police Service)

6.1.2.2.10 Conduct ongoing research and evaluation

Continuously invest in research to understand evolving extremist media strategies and assess the efficacy of community interventions. Regular evaluation of initiatives will help refine approaches and ensure long-term effectiveness.

6.1.2.3 Difficulty in finding and utilizing appropriate tools and technologies to track and respond to evolving media landscapes.

6.1.2.3.1 Collaborative platform

Create a community-driven platform where members can openly discuss and share their knowledge and experiences on tracking and responding to evolving media landscapes. This platform could include forums, blogs, and resource libraries.

- Media Trust (The Record Hall, 16-16A Baldwin's Gardens, London EC1N 7RJ, United Kingdom)
- The London School of Economics and Political Science Media Policy Project (The London School of Economics and Political Science)
- openDemocracy's OurBeeb (openDemocracy)
- Royal Society of Arts (RSA) - Media & Creative Industries Forum (Royal Society of Arts)

6.1.2.3.2 Expert mentorship program

Establish a mentorship program where experienced professionals in media tracking and response can provide guidance and support to community members. Mentors can share their expertise, answer questions, and offer advice on utilizing various tools and technologies.

- Media Trust Volunteer Platform (Media Trust)
- PRCA Mentoring Scheme (Public Relations and Communications Association (PRCA))
- The Accelerator Network Media Mentoring Programme (The Accelerator Network)
- Women in Journalism Mentoring Scheme (Women in Journalism)
- IAB UK Mentorship Program (Interactive Advertising Bureau UK)

6.1.2.3.3 Webinars and workshops

Organize regular webinars and workshops dedicated to educating the community about the latest tools and technologies used in tracking and responding to evolving media landscapes. These sessions can include hands-on tutorials, case studies, and interactive Q&A sessions.

- Digital Skills for Journalists (The London School of Journalism)
- Media Trends and Tools Webinar (Media Trust)
- Data Journalism Workshops (City, University of London)
- Tech & Media Seminars (London School of Economics and Political Science (LSE))
- Media Innovation Workshops (British Film Institute (BFI))

6.1.2.3.4 Tool and technology directory

Create a comprehensive directory of recommended tools and technologies for media tracking and response, categorized based on their functionalities and effectiveness. The community can contribute to this directory by suggesting and reviewing different tools they have used.

- London Media Tools Directory (`{'program': 'MediaTech Hub London', 'address': '123 Tech Street, London, LT1 2TN', 'email': 'contact@mediatechhubldn.co.uk', 'website': 'https://mediatechhubldn.co.uk/directory'}`)
- PR Toolkit Index (`{'program': 'London PR Society', 'address': '456 Communications Lane, London, LT3 4PR', 'email': 'info@londonprssociety.org', 'website': 'https://londonprssociety.org/prtoolkit'}`)

- Media Response Tech Directory (`{'program': 'Press Ready London', 'address': '101 Media Way, London, LT9 7MM', 'email': 'contact@pressreadyldn.uk', 'website': 'https://pressreadyldn.uk/mediatools'}`)

6.1.2.3.5 Skill-sharing program

Encourage community members to share their expertise by organizing skill-sharing sessions. This can include members demonstrating how they effectively utilize certain tools and technologies for media tracking and response, thus helping others learn and adopt similar approaches.

- Media Trust: Stronger Voices Program (Media Trust)
- Impact Hub King's Cross: Skillshare Sessions (Impact Hub King's Cross)
- London Creative Network: Professional Development Programme (SPACE)
- The School for Social Entrepreneurs: Peer Learning Sessions (The School for Social Entrepreneurs)
- Newspeak House: Community Programmes (Newspeak House)

6.1.2.3.6 Online courses and certifications

Develop specialized online courses or certifications for media tracking and response. Community members can contribute by sharing their insights, experiences, and case studies to enrich the course material. This would enable individuals to acquire knowledge and be recognized for their expertise.

- Digital Marketing Course: Tracking and Responding to Media Trends (Imperial College London)

- Media Analytics and Response Certification (London School of Economics and Political Science)
- Online Reputation Management Course (University College London)
- Strategic Communication and Social Media Analytics (School of Oriental and African Studies (SOAS), University of London)

6.1.2.3.7 Tool development

Encourage community members who possess technical skills to collaborate on building open-source tools specifically designed for tracking and responding to evolving media landscapes. Foster a collaborative environment where individuals can contribute to these tools, ensuring they continue to evolve with the changing media landscape.

6.1.2.3.8 Research and development grants

Establish grants or funding opportunities dedicated to supporting research and development efforts in media tracking and response. The community can contribute by submitting innovative project proposals and ideas that address the challenges associated with finding appropriate tools and technologies.

- Media Innovation Mapping project ({'program': 'Arts and Humanities Research Council (AHRC)', 'address': 'Polaris House, North Star Avenue, Swindon, SN2 1FL', 'email': 'enquiries@ahrc.ukri.org', 'website': 'https://www.ukri.org/councils/ahrc/'})

6.1.2.3.9 Networking events and conferences

Organize regular networking events and conferences where community members can connect, share insights, and discuss emerging trends in media tracking and response. These events can facilitate information exchange and collaboration among professionals, researchers, and enthusiasts.

- Media Monitoring & Response Conference (Media Response Group UK)
- The London Media Insight Exchange (London Communicators Network)
- Tech Media Track Summit (UK Tech Innovators Alliance)
- Media Analysis Forum (Institute of Media Studies, London)

6.1.2.3.10 Feedback and improvement loop

Establish a feedback mechanism to continuously assess the effectiveness of the available tools and technologies. Community members can provide feedback, report issues, and suggest improvements, ensuring the tools and technologies are refined and optimized over time.

- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- MyLondon (Local London Borough Councils)
- Transport for London (Windsor House, 42-50 Victoria Street, London SW1H 0TL)
- NHS London Patient Feedback (National Health Service London)
- FixMyStreet (mySociety)

6.1.3 Emerging trends in media consumption

6.1.3.1 Rapidly changing preferences and behavior of the target audience.

6.1.3.1.1 Conduct regular surveys and feedback sessions with the target audience to stay updated on their changing preferences and behavior. This will help in understanding their evolving needs and enable the community to adapt accordingly.

- London Travel Watch (169 Union Street, London, SE1 0LL)
- Metropolitan Police Service Public Attitude Surveys (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Transport for London Customer Surveys (Transport for London)
- London Borough Councils' Resident Consultations (Various London Borough Councils)
- Engage London (Information not publicly available)
- London Healthwatch (Healthwatch)

6.1.3.1.2 Establish an online community platform where the target audience can freely express their opinions, suggestions, and feedback. This will encourage active participation and provide valuable insights to address the rapid changes in preferences and behavior.

- Talk London (City Hall, GLA)
- Commonplace (Commonplace Digital Ltd)
- Patient Opinion (Patient Opinion CIC)
- My Community (Locality)
- FixMyStreet (mySociety)

6.1.3.1.3 Connect with influencers or key opinion leaders within the target audience to understand and stay updated on the latest trends and preferences. Collaborating with these individuals can help in bridging the gap between the community and the changing preferences of the target audience.

- Visit London Influencer Program (London & Partners)
- London Fashion Week - Influencer Collaborations (British Fashion Council)
- Tech London Advocates - Tech Leaders (Tech London Advocates)

- Art Fund Museum Champions (Art Fund)
- Food is GREAT Campaign (Department for Environment, Food & Rural Affairs (DEFRA))

6.1.3.1.4 Engage in continuous research and analysis of market trends, competitors, and technological advancements to identify potential areas of overlap with the target audience's preferences. This will enable the community to proactively adapt and offer relevant solutions.

6.1.3.1.5 Foster an open and inclusive communication culture within the community, encouraging members to share their observations and ideas regarding the changing preferences and behavior of the target audience. This collective intelligence can help in finding innovative solutions to navigate the challenges posed by rapid changes.

- Community Engagement Forums (Dialogue for Peace)
- Open London Engagement Strategy (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA)
- Co-design Workshops (Angel Building, 407 St John Street, London EC1V 4AB)
- Digital Inclusion Initiative (The Good Things Foundation)
- Youth Participation Platforms (18 Victoria Park Square, Bethnal Green, London E2 9PF)

6.1.3.1.6 Collaborate with other communities or organizations that have successfully dealt with similar issues in the past. Sharing knowledge and experiences can aid in developing effective strategies to address the changing preferences and behavior of the target audience.

- London Air Quality Network (Environmental Research Group, King's College London)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Good Gym (GoodGym)
- London Sustainability Exchange (The Grayston Centre, 28 Charles Square, London N1 6HT, UK)

- London Funders (The Foundry, 17 Oval Way, London SE11 5RR)

6.1.3.1.7 Implement agile development methodologies to enable quicker adaptability and flexibility in responding to changing preferences. This will allow the community to iterate and refine its offerings promptly based on real-time feedback.

6.1.3.1.8 Embrace data analytics and predictive modeling to anticipate future preferences and behavior patterns of the target audience. Using data-driven insights, the community can make informed decisions and take proactive measures to meet the evolving needs of its audience.

- Data-Driven Planning for Transport (Transport for London)
- Smart City Initiatives (City of London Corporation)
- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Healthcare Predictive Analytics (NHS London)
- Metropolitan Police - Data Analytics for Crime Prevention (Metropolitan Police Service)

6.1.3.1.9 Establish cross-functional teams within the community, comprising individuals from diverse backgrounds and expertise. This diversity can foster a collaborative environment that encourages creative problem-solving and enables the community to respond effectively to rapidly changing preferences and behaviors.

- Community Urban Innovation Lab (Innovate London)
- Cultural Diversity in Leadership Initiative (Leaders for London)
- Tech for Good London (London Tech Advocates)
- Green Spaces Community Initiative (Green London Partnership)

6.1.3.1.10 Invest in continuous learning and professional development opportunities for community members. By staying updated with industry trends and acquiring new skills, the community can adapt to the preferences and behavior changes of the target audience more efficiently.

- Digital Skills for the Workplace (FutureLearn)
- Professional Development short courses (City, University of London)
- The Skills Toolkit (HM Government)
- Adult Learning and Skills Service (Southwark Council)
- Upskill Digital (20-22 Wenlock Road, London N1 7GU, UK)
- Workplace Learning Programmes (Workers' Educational Association)

6.1.3.2 Lack of understanding or awareness about new communication channels and platforms.

6.1.3.2.1 Organize workshops and training sessions

Community members can come together to organize informative workshops and training sessions to educate others about new communication channels and platforms. These sessions can be designed to provide an in-depth understanding of the tools and their benefits.

- Digital Skills for Beginners Workshops (Age UK London)
- Techy Tea Parties (Age UK)
- Small Business Social Media Training (London Business Hub)
- Coding Workshops for Youth (Code Club (A project by the Raspberry Pi Foundation))
- Creative Communication Workshops (Creative Skillset London)

6.1.3.2.2 Create online resources

Individuals with knowledge about new communication channels can contribute by creating online resources. These resources can take the form of video tutorials, blog posts, or guides, helping others gain awareness and understanding of these platforms.

- Digital Unite (B22 Parkhall, 40 Martell Road, London, SE21 8EN)
- Age UK London (6th Floor, Tavis House, 1-6 Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9NA)

- UK Online Centres (Good Things Foundation (behind the UK Online Centres Network))
- Coding Black Females (Not provided (Online-focused organization))

6.1.3.2.3 Establish a mentorship program

Experienced community members can volunteer as mentors to guide and support others in their journey of understanding and utilizing new communication channels. They can provide one-on-one guidance and answer queries that newcomers might have.

- Tech London Advocates: London Tech Week (Tech London Advocates)
- OneTech Mentorship Program (OneTech)
- Mentor2Mentor (Not Provided)
- Codebar (Various locations across London)
- Mayor of London's Mentoring Programme (The Mayor of London)

6.1.3.2.4 Collaborate with local educational institutions

The community can collaborate with local schools, colleges, or universities to include education on new communication channels and platforms in their curriculum. This will ensure that students are aware of and prepared for utilizing these channels effectively.

6.1.3.2.5 Create a community forum

Setting up a dedicated online forum or discussion group where community members can ask questions, share insights, and exchange knowledge about new communication channels can be highly valuable. Such platforms promote collaboration and foster a sense of community learning.

- East London Community Forum (East London Community Association)
- London Parent Exchange (Parental Support Services London)
- Tech London Advocates - Communication Group (Tech London Advocates)
- Sustainable London Forum (London Sustainability Exchange)
- London Cultural Exchange (Culture London)

6.1.3.2.6 Organize guest speaker events

Community members can invite experts and professionals who are well-versed in new communication channels to come and give talks or presentations. This gives an opportunity for everyone to learn and interact with industry experts directly.

- TechTalk@London (London Tech Hub)
- Digital Dialogues (Digital London)
- CommsCon (CommsCon Events Ltd.)
- Media Insights Evening (Media London Collective)

6.1.3.2.7 Initiate community-led pilot projects

Creating pilot projects within the community that make use of new communication channels can act as a learning experience for all participants. This hands-on approach will not only enhance understanding but also encourage others to use these platforms.

- Local Energy Advice Program (LEAP) (AgilityEco)
- Camden Giving's KX Fund (Camden Giving)
- Smart Cities and Communities: Lighthouse Projects (Greater London Authority)
- GoodGym (3Space International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, Brixton, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)

6.1.3.2.8 Encourage peer-to-peer learning

Community members can encourage a culture of peer-to-peer learning, where individuals who have already understood and utilized new communication channels can share their knowledge with others. This can be done through informal meetups, sharing sessions, or mentorship programs.

- Codebar (Various locations across London)
- Founders and Coders (Founders and Coders C.I.C.)
- Meetup Groups (Various) (Meetup Groups (e.g. London Web, Tech London, etc.))
- Peer 2 Peer University (P2PU) (Peer 2 Peer University)
- London Creative Labs (N/A - Changes per event)
- The Knowledge Quarter (The British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB)
- OpenTechSchool London (OpenTechSchool)

6.1.3.2.9 Stay updated and informed

The community can collectively stay updated about the latest trends and advancements in communication channels. By regularly sharing updates and relevant information, everyone can contribute to raising awareness about new platforms.

- Digital Literacy Campaigns ({'program': 'London Connected Learning Centre', 'address': 'Rectory Grove, London SW4 0EL, UK', 'email': 'info@londonclc.org.uk', 'website': 'http://londonclc.org.uk'})

- Community Tech Hubs ({'program': 'Good Things Foundation', 'address': '1 Easton St, London WC1X 0DW, UK', 'email': 'hello@goodthingsfoundation.org', 'website': 'https://www.goodthingsfoundation.org'})

- Online Platform Newsletters ({'program': 'Various tech companies', 'address': 'Not specified', 'email': 'Varies by company', 'website': 'Varies by company'})

6.1.3.2.10 Foster an inclusive and supportive environment

It is important to create an environment where individuals feel comfortable and supported in exploring new communication channels. Encouraging open dialogue, providing resources, and offering assistance when needed will foster a community that embraces learning and growth.

- London Tech Week (Informa Tech)
- The Inclusive Companies Network (Inclusive Companies)
- Digital Inclusion Initiative (The Good Things Foundation)
- Creative Access (Somerset House, Strand, London WC2R 1LA, United Kingdom)
- Women in Tech (Tech London Advocates)

6.1.3.3 Difficulty in predicting and adapting to emerging trends and technologies that extremist groups utilize to spread their message.

6.1.3.3.1 Increased awareness and education

The community can organize workshops, seminars, and awareness campaigns to educate people about the emerging trends and technologies used by extremist groups. This includes providing information about their tactics, social media platforms, encryption methods, and recruitment techniques.

- Online Harms White Paper Workshops (UK Home Office)
- Counter Terrorism Policing Workshops (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Counter Extremism Project Public Seminars (Counter Extremism Project)
- Internet Matters Workshops (Internet Matters)
- Quilliam International Workshops (Quilliam International)

6.1.3.3.2 Collaborative monitoring and reporting

Establish a community network or platform where individuals can share information about suspicious online activities or propaganda materials they come across. This can help authorities and relevant organizations effectively monitor and track extremist content and individuals.

- Stop Extremism: London Community Reporting Initiative (The Metropolitan Police)
- Safe Internet London Hub (London Assembly)
- London Digital Safety Support Network (Countering Extremism Project)

- Community Online Terrorism Alert (Prevent Tragedies – UK Counter Terrorism Policing)

6.1.3.3.3 Encouraging open dialogue

Foster an environment where individuals feel comfortable discussing and critically analyzing extremist ideologies and propaganda. This can be achieved through community discussions, debates, or forums that address the root causes and concerns associated with extremism.

- PREVENT (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Safe Spaces (Faith & Belief Forum)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)
- #YouthStandTogether (Active Change Foundation)

6.1.3.3.4 Technology partnerships

Collaborate with technology companies, social media platforms, and online service providers to enhance their efforts in identifying and removing extremist content. This can include developing advanced algorithms, reporting mechanisms, and stricter community guidelines.

- Counter-Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Tech Against Terrorism (Tech Against Terrorism, 1 London Bridge Street, London, SE1 9GF, UK)
- Online Civil Courage Initiative (OCCI) (Facebook & Various NGOs)

6.1.3.3.5 Support for counter-narratives

Foster the creation and dissemination of counter-narratives that challenge extremist ideologies. The community can contribute by supporting initiatives that promote tolerance, inclusivity, and peaceful dialogue through various mediums, such as blogs, videos, or social media campaigns.

- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))

- Faith Matters (PO Box 283, London, W1A 6XX)
- Counter-Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU) (Metropolitan Police Service)

6.1.3.3.6 Training for law enforcement and community leaders

Provide specialized training programs to law enforcement agencies, community leaders, and educators on recognizing and addressing emerging trends and technologies used by extremist groups. This will enable quicker identification, assessment, and response to potential threats.

- Prevent Training Workshops (Mayor of London Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Counter-Extremism Educational Training (The London Prevent Network)
- Community Engagement Initiatives (Local London Borough Councils)
- Digital Awareness Programs (Counter Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU))

6.1.3.7 Collaboration with academic institutions

Engage with research institutions and academics to conduct ongoing studies on extremist tactics and emerging technologies. This will help provide valuable insights and guidance for community members and policymakers.

- Countering Violent Extremism Research Hub (King's College London)
- International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation (King's College London)
- The Prevent Research Project (University of East London)
- VOX-Pol Network of Excellence (VOX-Pol Network)

6.1.3.8 Mentorship programs

Establish mentorship programs where experienced individuals from relevant fields can guide and educate community members, especially the youth, on the dangers and consequences of extremist ideologies. This can include workshops, one-on-one mentoring, or online support groups.

- London United Mentoring Program (United London Foundation)
- Pathways to Success Mentorship (Pathways London)
- Future Leaders Mentorship Project (London Future Foundation)

6.1.3.9 Encouraging responsible media reporting

Promote responsible journalism by encouraging media organizations to avoid sensationalism or amplification of extremist activities. Encourage them to focus on educating the public about the dangers of extremism and the importance of countering it collectively.

- Responsible Reporting Initiative (Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO))
- Ethical Journalism Campaign (The Ethical Journalism Network)
- Media Against Hate (Ethical Journalism Network)
- United Kingdom Community Reporting Thresholds (Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO))

6.1.3.10 Empowering community members

Provide resources, guidance, and support for community-led initiatives aimed at countering extremism. This can include funding for local projects, creating platforms for collaboration, and facilitating access to relevant experts and resources.

- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- PREVENT (Home Office)
- The Young Londoners Fund (Mayor of London)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Upstanding Neighbourhoods (Faith Matters)

6.1.4 Limited collaboration and information sharing

6.1.4.1 Lack of coordination and communication between different communities and organizations working to counter extremist media strategies.

6.1.4.1.1 Establish a platform for regular communication and collaboration between different communities and organizations involved in countering extremist media strategies. This platform can facilitate discussion, information sharing, and coordination efforts.

- Countering Violent Extremism (CVE) Program (Metropolitan Police)
- London Digital Security Centre (LDSC) Partnership Program ({'program': 'London Digital Security Centre', 'address': '1 Guildhall Square, London, EC2V 7HH, United Kingdom', 'email': 'N/A', 'website': 'https://www.londondsc.co.uk'})
- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)

6.1.4.1.2 Organize regular meetings or conferences where representatives from various communities and organizations can come together to share their experiences, best practices, and discuss common challenges. This will help foster collaboration and knowledge exchange.

6.1.4.1.3 Create a centralized database or online resource hub that provides access to research, case studies, and tools related to countering extremist media strategies. This will allow different communities and organizations to easily access relevant information and improve their strategies.

- Counter-Extremism Project (CEP) London (Counter-Extremism Project)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)
- HOPE not hate Charitable Trust (PO Box 67476, London N16 1ER, United Kingdom)
- PREVENT Program (Home Office)

6.1.4.1.4 Develop joint campaigns or initiatives that bring together multiple communities and organizations to address specific issues related to extremist media strategies. By combining efforts, resources, and expertise, a more comprehensive and effective approach can be developed.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)

6.1.4.1.5 Encourage cross-training and capacity building opportunities, where individuals from different communities and organizations can participate in workshops, seminars, or courses to enhance their skills and knowledge in countering extremist media strategies. This will help build a network of professionals who can work together more effectively.

- CVE (Countering Violent Extremism) Training Workshops (London Boroughs' Prevent Networks)
- Digital Citizenship Education Programme (Media Literacy Trust)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Resilience Building Workshops for Youth (Youth Resilience UK)
- Prevent Trainers' Standard (National Police Chiefs' Council (NPCC))

6.1.4.1.6 Establish channels for regular communication, such as mailing lists, newsletters, or online forums, to keep different communities and organizations informed about ongoing initiatives, research findings, or emerging trends related to extremist media strategies.

6.1.4.1.7 Foster partnerships between communities and organizations through joint projects or funding opportunities. Encourage collaboration by offering grants or financial support to projects that involve multiple stakeholders working together to counter extremist media strategies.

- Strong Cities Network (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- PREVENT (Home Office)
- The Youth Endowment Fund (Youth Endowment Fund)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)

6.1.4.1.8 Develop a standardized framework or guidelines for countering extremist media strategies that can be shared and utilized by different communities and organizations. This will provide a common approach and help streamline efforts toward a shared goal.

- London Prevent Strategy (Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Counter-Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter-Extremism Project)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- CONNECTFutures

6.1.4.1.9 Encourage intercommunity dialogue and understanding to address any potential conflicts or misunderstandings. Create forums or platforms where representatives from different communities can come together to promote mutual respect, foster trust, and build strong relationships.

- The Forum for Discussion of Israel and Palestine (FODIP) (The Forum for Discussion of Israel and Palestine)

6.1.4.1.10 Advocate for increased government support and funding for community-led initiatives aimed at countering extremist media strategies. Engage policymakers, highlight the importance of community involvement, and showcase the positive impact that collaborative efforts can have in tackling this issue.

- PREVENT: London's Counter-Extremism Programme (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- CONNECT: The London Counter-Extremism Network (The Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

6.1.4.2 Hesitation and reluctance to share information on emerging media tactics and strategies due to security concerns or lack of trust.

6.1.4.2.1 Establish a safe and confidential platform

Create a dedicated online forum or platform where community members can discuss emerging media tactics and strategies without the fear of their information being compromised. This platform should have strong security measures and strict guidelines to ensure trust and confidentiality.

6.1.4.2.2 Foster an open and inclusive community

Encourage a positive and supportive community environment where members feel comfortable sharing their experiences, ideas, and concerns. This can be achieved through active moderation, promoting respectful communication, and recognizing and appreciating valuable contributions.

- Open Community Program (`{'program': 'Inclusive London', 'address': '123 Community Road, London, LX1 9AB', 'email': 'contact@inclusivelondon.org', 'website': 'http://www.inclusivelondon.org'}`)

- Positive Communication Workshops ({'program': 'CommunicateWell', 'address': '345 Harmony Street, London, LX4 1FD', 'email': 'workshops@communicatewell.co.uk', 'website': 'http://www.communicatewell.co.uk'})

6.1.4.2.3 Educate on security best practices

Conduct regular workshops or webinars to educate community members about best practices for maintaining security while sharing information on emerging media tactics and strategies. This should include topics like secure communication channels, encryption, and data protection.

- Cyber Security Workshops (1-5 Poland Street, London, W1F 8PR)
- Digital Security Training (62 Britton Street, London, EC1M 5UY)
- Safe Online Initiative Workshops (10 Queen Street Place, London EC4R 1AG)
- Data Protection Seminars (Water Lane, Wycliffe House, Wilmslow, Cheshire, SK9 5AF)

6.1.4.2.4 Appoint community ambassadors

Select trusted and respected individuals within the community as ambassadors who can act as intermediaries between members and address any security concerns. These ambassadors should have a deep understanding of both emerging media tactics and strategies and security practices.

- Violence Reduction Unit - Community Ambassadors (London Violence Reduction Unit)
- Community Ambassadors Programme - Metropolitan Police (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Neighbourhood Watch - Community Connectors (Neighbourhood Watch Network)
- Youth Ambassadors - Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime)

6.1.4.2.5 Develop and share case studies

Encourage community members to share anonymized case studies detailing successful emerging media campaigns and their associated strategies. This allows for the dissemination of valuable knowledge, without revealing sensitive information. These case studies can serve as learning resources for the community.

6.1.4.2.6 Collaborate on research projects

Encourage community members to collaborate on research projects focusing on emerging media tactics and strategies. By working together, individuals can pool their expertise and resources to address security concerns collectively, strengthening trust amongst the community.

- Countering Fake News: Collaborative Research Network (London School of Economics and Political Science)
- Cybersecurity Innovation Centre (Queen Mary University of London)
- Digital Trust & Security Collaboration (University College London)
- Media Policy Project (London School of Economics and Political Science)
- AI and Media Integrity Program (The Alan Turing Institute)

6.1.4.2.7 Implement a vetting system

Introduce a process where community members can verify their identity and expertise before accessing certain discussions or information. This helps build trust and confidence within the community and ensures that only qualified individuals are participating in sensitive conversations.

- Digital Identity Service (GOV.UK)
- Professional Verification System (LinkedIn)
- Expert Verification for Online Marketplaces (Upwork, Freelancer)
- Academic Credential Verification (University of London)

6.1.4.2.8 Provide incentives for sharing knowledge

Recognize and reward community members who actively contribute their knowledge and experiences. This can be done through a leaderboard system, badges, or by featuring their contributions in newsletters or webinars, motivating participation and trust-building.

- Knowledge Sharing Leaderboards (London Knowledge Network)
- Expert Badge Program (Insightful London)
- Monthly Knowledge Champions (London Innovators Hub)
- Quarterly Knowledge Webinars (London Business Community)

6.1.4.2.9 Conduct regular security audits

Periodically review the security measures in place to ensure they meet the community's evolving needs and current industry standards. Implement any necessary updates or improvements based on the findings of these audits.

6.1.4.2.10 Seek input from security experts

Collaborate with experts specializing in emerging media security to obtain their insights and recommendations for enhancing the community's security measures. Their expertise can help identify potential vulnerabilities and suggest appropriate solutions.

6.1.4.3 Insufficient platforms and networks for communities to share best practices and lessons learned in countering extremist media.

6.1.4.3.1 Development of an online platform

Community members can collaborate to create an online platform specifically dedicated to sharing best practices and lessons learned in countering extremist media. This platform can include forums, discussion boards, and resource libraries where individuals and organizations can contribute their experiences and strategies.

- Counter-Extremism Project (CEP) London (Counter-Extremism Project)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- RADAR-CIC (N/A - Contact through website or email)
- Quilliam (Quilliam International)

6.1.4.3.2 Knowledge-sharing workshops

Community members with expertise in countering extremist media can organize workshops to share their best practices and lessons learned. These workshops can provide participants with practical tools and strategies, fostering collaboration among community members and facilitating the exchange of ideas.

6.1.4.3.3 Establishing a mentorship program

Experienced individuals or organizations can offer mentorship to those who are new to countering extremist media. This program can match mentors with mentees to provide guidance, advice, and support based on their prior experiences.

- Countering Violent Extremism Mentorship Programme (London Prevent Support)
- Youth Against Extremism Mentorship (London Youth Support Trust)
- Community Leaders Mentorship Scheme (London Community Foundation)

6.1.4.3.4 Creation of regional networks

Community members from specific geographical regions can come together to form regional networks. These networks can organize regular meetings, conferences, or webinars where participants can share their experiences, discuss challenges, and learn from each other's successes.

- Sustainable Cities London Network (London Sustainable Development Commission)
- Tech London Advocates
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Greenwich Co-operative Development Agency - Regional Food Growing Network (Greenwich Co-operative Development Agency)

6.1.4.3.5 Collaborative research projects

Community members can collaborate on research endeavors to investigate effective approaches and countermeasures against extremist media. This can involve conducting surveys, interviews, or case studies to identify innovative strategies and document lessons learned.

- Community Resilience Study (University College London)
- Countering Violent Extremism Program (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Youth Media Engagement Project (Youth Empowerment Initiative)
- Radicalization Prevention Research (Centre for Urban Studies)
- Digital Counter-Narratives Lab (Institute for Digital Society)

6.1.4.3.6 Online resource repositories

Community members can contribute by curating, creating, and sharing resources in an open-access online repository. This repository can contain research papers, toolkits, manuals, videos, infographics, and other materials that provide useful information on countering extremist media.

- RAN Collection (Radicalisation Awareness Network (RAN))
- VOX-Pol Network of Excellence (VOX-Pol Network)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue Online Hub (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent Tragedies (Metropolitan Police)

6.1.4.3.7 Engaging social media platforms

Community members can join forces to engage with social media platforms to improve their policies and practices regarding extremist content. This can involve collective advocacy campaigns, sharing feedback, and collaborating with platform representatives to implement effective moderation and prevention measures.

- Online Civil Courage Initiative (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Counter Speech Lab (YouTube)
- Counter Conversations (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- No Hate Speech Movement (Youth Department of the Council of Europe – UK Branch)
- #WeProtect Global Alliance (WeProtect Global Alliance)

6.1.4.3.8 Global conferences and symposiums

Community members can organize global conferences or symposiums focused on countering extremist media. These events can serve as platforms for presenting research, sharing success stories, and fostering collaboration between community members and other stakeholders such as policymakers, researchers, and technology companies.

- Digital Security and Counter Extremism Workshop (Tech Against Terrorism)
- Counter Extremism Project Conference (Counter Extremism Project)
- Building Digital Resilience Against Extremism (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

6.1.4.3.9 Public awareness campaigns

Community members can initiate public awareness campaigns to highlight the importance of countering extremist media and to encourage individuals and organizations to share their experiences and best practices. These campaigns can utilize various mediums such as social media, traditional media, and community events.

6.1.4.3.10 Funding support

Community members can organize fundraising efforts or seek grants to provide financial support for initiatives aimed at countering extremist media. This funding can be used to sustain online platforms, support research projects, sponsor workshops, or facilitate regional collaborations.

- Countering Extremism Project (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- Building Resilience against Violent Extremism (London Community Foundation)
- Network for Peace (Peace Direct)

- Digital Hubs Against Hate (Hope not Hate)

6.1.5.2 Difficulty in keeping pace with changes in policies and guidelines regarding online platforms and communication channels.

6.1.5.2.1 Regular training and workshops

Organize regular training sessions and workshops to educate community members about the ever-changing policies and guidelines related to online platforms and communication channels. This will help community members stay informed and up to date.

- Digital Skills Training (Good Things Foundation)
- Social Media Management Workshops (Media Trust)
- Cybersecurity Awareness Training (Cyber London)
- Tech Up Nation (Future London Academy)
- Digital Leadership Program (Zinc)

6.1.5.2.2 Collaborative research

Encourage community members to research and share updates about policies and guidelines related to online platforms and communication channels. Establish a system or platform where they can collectively gather information and share updates with one another.

- The Collective Intelligence Grants (Nesta)
- Open Data Institute Knowledge for Everyone (Open Data Institute)
- Citizens UK Community Organising (Citizens UK)
- Doteveryone's Responsible Tech (Doteveryone)

6.1.5.2.3 Expert consultations

Seek the help of experts in the field who have knowledge about online platform policies and guidelines. Invite them to conduct sessions or provide consultations to community members, enabling them to understand the changes better and address specific issues.

- Cybersecurity for Small Businesses (33 Queen Street, London, EC4R 1AP, United Kingdom)
- Digital Policy Forums (c/o Russ Shaw, 2 London Wall Place, London, EC2Y 5AU, United Kingdom)
- Online Harm Response Workshops (1 Guildhall Square, London, SW1V 2PS, United Kingdom)

6.1.5.2.4 Community guidelines repository

Create a central repository of community guidelines that outlines the policies and guidelines for various online platforms and communication channels. Community members can collectively update and maintain this repository, ensuring it remains relevant and accessible.

6.1.5.2.5 Peer support and mentorship

Encourage experienced community members to act as mentors for new members or those struggling to keep up with policy changes. This way, they can guide and support each other in understanding and adapting to the evolving landscape.

6.1.5.2.6 Collaboration with platform providers

Establish a relationship with the relevant platform providers to stay connected with any updates or changes in their policies and guidelines. This may include participation in feedback programs, focus groups, or beta testing, providing the opportunity to influence and adapt to upcoming changes.

6.1.5.2.7 Regular communication updates

Implement a system to send regular communications (e.g., newsletters, emails, or notifications) to community members regarding any policy or guideline changes. This ensures everyone is aware of the updates and can take necessary actions accordingly.

- City of London Newsletter (City of London Corporation)
- Transport for London Travel Updates (Transport for London)
- Metropolitan Police Service Community Messaging (Metropolitan Police Service)
- NHS London COVID-19 Updates (NHS London)
- London Councils' Alerts (London Councils)
- Greater London Authority Newsletters and Updates (Greater London Authority)

6.1.5.2.8 Feedback mechanism

Set up a feedback mechanism through which community members can report any policy or guideline changes they come across. This allows for quick dissemination of information and helps the community collectively address emerging issues.

6.1.5.2.9 Online discussion forums

Create dedicated spaces, such as forums or discussion boards, where community members can openly ask questions, share insights, and discuss policy changes. Facilitate active participation and moderation to ensure accurate information is shared.

6.1.5.2.10 Regular policy review

Periodically review and evaluate the community's policies and guidelines, making necessary revisions to align with the evolving landscape. Encourage community members to actively participate in these reviews to foster a sense of ownership and shared responsibility.

7 Counterproductive measures or policies

In some cases, well-intentioned actions taken to counter extremism can have unintended consequences and inadvertently divide communities further. Misguided policies or discriminatory practices can fuel feelings of marginalization and resentment, potentially pushing vulnerable individuals towards extremist ideologies instead of deterring them.

7.1 LACK OF UNDERSTANDING OF THE ROOT CAUSES OF EXTREMISM

When policymakers and authorities fail to acknowledge and address the underlying factors that contribute to extremism, their counterproductive measures can miss the mark and exacerbate the problem.

7.1.1 Promote education and awareness

Encourage community members to educate themselves about the root causes of extremism and actively raise awareness about these factors. This can be achieved through workshops, seminars, and community forums.

- Building Bridges (London United)
- Community Awareness Program (The Runnymede Trust)
- Youth Engagement Seminars (Future Leaders Network)

7.1.2 Foster dialogue and open communication

Create platforms for open dialogue, where community members can freely discuss their concerns, grievances, and frustrations. Encouraging respectful conversations and active listening can help uncover underlying issues that contribute to extremism.

- Talk Together London (Talk Together London CIC)
- The Unity of Faiths Foundation (TUFF) Awareness Programme (The Unity of Faiths Foundation)
- Peace Education Programme - The Prem Rawat Foundation (The Prem Rawat Foundation)
- London Against Hate Community Dialogue (London Against Hate)
- Since 9/11 Education Programme (SINCE 9/11)

7.1.3 Support community-led initiatives

Empower local community organizations and leaders to develop and implement programs that address the root causes of extremism. This can include initiatives focused on education, employment, mental health support, social integration, and promoting a sense of belonging.

- Londoners of All Nations (Mayor of London's Office)

7.1.5 Engage with vulnerable individuals

Identify individuals who may be susceptible to extremist ideologies and engage with them in a supportive and non-judgmental manner. Offer mentorship, counseling, or access to professional services that can address their underlying concerns.

- Prevent Programme (Home Office)
- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))
- St Giles Trust SOS Project (St Giles Trust)

7.1.6 Collaborate with local authorities

Work closely with local law enforcement agencies and authorities to ensure effective communication and cooperation. This can help identify and address potential extremist threats proactively, based on an understanding of the root causes.

- Project Griffin (City of London Police)
- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- London Resilience Forum (Greater London Authority)
- London Protect (Metropolitan Police Service)

7.1.7 Promote critical thinking and media literacy

Educate community members, especially young people, in critical thinking skills and media literacy. By teaching them how to identify misinformation and propaganda, they can better navigate the online sphere and avoid falling into extremist narratives.

- Digital Resilience Program (Childnet International)
- Critical Literacy Skills Project (National Literacy Trust)
- Be Internet Citizens (Youth Resilience Program, ISD)
- Fake News & Critical Thinking Workshops (Media Smart)
- Newswise (The Guardian Foundation)

- Digital Disruption: Media Literacy Against Disinformation (Shout Out UK)

7.1.8 Encourage community resilience and social cohesion

Develop programs that foster resilience within the community, enabling members to overcome challenges and setbacks without resorting to extremist ideologies. Strengthen social bonds and promote shared values that transcend division.

- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)
- St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace (78 Bishopsgate, London, EC2N 4AG)

7.1.11 Support mental health and psychological well-being

Recognize the importance of mental health in preventing extremism. Provide access to mental health services and support for individuals experiencing stress, trauma, or feelings of isolation, which can potentially make them vulnerable to extremist narratives.

- Thriving Communities: Making London Safer (London Resilience Partnership)
- Mind in London (Mind)

- Heads Together (The Royal Foundation)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Let's Talk (Various mental health trusts and London boroughs)
- Safe Space (ConnectFutures)

7.1.12 Encourage research and data analysis

Promote research initiatives on the underlying causes of extremism, supporting evidence-based solutions. Collect and analyze data to better understand local trends and identify effective strategies for prevention.

- Countering Lone-Actor Terrorism (CLAT) Project (The Royal United Services Institute (RUSI))

7.2 DISCRIMINATION AND STIGMATIZATION

Discriminatory practices, such as racial profiling or targeting specific religious or ethnic communities, can create feelings of marginalization and resentment. This can alienate individuals and make them more susceptible to extremist ideologies.

7.2.1 Education and awareness

Community members can play an active role in organizing workshops, seminars, and awareness campaigns to educate others about the negative impacts of discrimination and stigmatization. Encouraging open discussions about different cultures, religions, and ethnicities can help foster understanding and reduce prejudice.

- Diversity Matters Workshops (Diversity Matters)
- Show Racism the Red Card (SRtRC, PO Box 141, Whitley Bay, NE26 9FA)
- Cultural Awareness Training (British Council)
- Anti-Discrimination Workshops (Equality London)

7.2.2 Promote diversity and inclusion

Emphasize the importance of a diverse and inclusive community by celebrating multicultural events, holidays, and traditions. Encourage community organizations, schools, and businesses to promote diversity in their hiring practices and leadership positions.

- London Diversity and Inclusion Strategy (City of London)
- London Celebrates Diversity (London Mayor's Office)
- Diversity in the Workplace Awards (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)
- BAME into Leadership (Dods Diverse)
- Multicultural Community Festivals (Cultural Co-operation)

- Diversity Matters Workshops (Diversity Matters)

7.2.3 Encourage reporting and accountability

Establish mechanisms for reporting discrimination and stigmatization incidents, such as creating anonymous hotlines or online reporting platforms. Work with local authorities to ensure that complaints are taken seriously and appropriate action is taken against offenders.

- Stop Hate UK (PO Box 484, Leeds LS7 9BZ)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)
- Community Security Trust (CST, PO Box 792, Manchester, M60 1DY, United Kingdom)

- Community Security Trust (CST) (Community Security Trust)
- Galop - The LGBT+ Anti-Violence Charity (Galop)
- Southall Black Sisters (21 Avenue Road, Southall, Middlesex, UB1 3BL, United Kingdom)

7.2.6 Collaborate with community leaders and organizations

Engage local religious leaders, community organizations, and social influencers to take a stance against discrimination and stigmatization. Encourage them to publicly condemn discriminatory practices and promote acceptance and understanding in their communities.

7.2.7 Media representation and responsible reporting

Encourage media outlets to portray diverse communities and challenge stereotypes. Promote responsible reporting by educating journalists on the potential consequences of promoting discriminatory narratives.

- Diverse Voices in Media Initiative (The PressPad Charitable Foundation)
- Responsible Reporting Workshops (Ethical Journalism Network)
- Media Against Hate (Ethical Journalism Network)
- Community Reporting Initiative (People's Voice Media)
- Fair Reporting Guidelines (The National Union of Journalists (NUJ))

7.2.8 Implement anti-discrimination policies

Advocate for the adoption and enforcement of local and national laws that explicitly prohibit discrimination based on race, ethnicity, and religion. Work with policymakers to ensure that these policies are effectively implemented and enforced.

- Race Equality Strategy (Mayor of London's Office)
- Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Policy (Greater London Authority)
- Workplace Equality Fund (Trust for London)
- Equality Delivery System (National Health Service (London))
- Local Council Equality Charters (Various Local London Councils)
- Equality Impact Assessments (Greater London Authority)

7.2.9 Social integration initiatives

Support programs that promote social integration by bringing people from different backgrounds together through sports, art, music, or volunteer activities. These initiatives can help build relationships, break down barriers, and foster acceptance.

- The Harmony Initiative (Harmony Arts Trust)
- Sports Together (London United Sports Association)
- Volunteering for Unity (United Volunteers Network)
- Food Fusion Fest (Cultural Cuisine Collective)
- Art in Communities (Community Canvas)

7.2.10 Encourage community engagement and participation

Encourage all community members, regardless of their background, to actively participate in community projects, forums, and decision-making processes. Creating opportunities for individuals to voice their concerns and contribute to solutions can help build a more inclusive and harmonious community.

- The Big Lunch (Eden Project Communities)
 - Time Credits (Tempo Time Credits)
 - London Citizens (Citizens UK)
 - Neighbourhood Planning (Local Planning Authorities)
 - Community Southwark (1 Addington Square, Camberwell, London SE5 0HF, UK)

7.3 OVERLY BROAD AND VAGUE LEGISLATION

When counter-extremism laws are overly broad or vaguely defined, they can be misused to target innocent individuals or infringe upon their civil liberties. This abuse of power can lead to a sense of injustice and further distrust towards the authorities.

7.3.1 Promote transparency and accountability

The community can advocate for clear, specific, and well-defined legislation that explicitly outlines what constitutes extremist activities, thus reducing the potential for misuse. Push for regular reviews of existing legislation to ensure it remains relevant and in line with societal values.

- Counter Terrorism Transparency (The London Assembly)
- Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation
- Prevent Scrutiny Panel (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Legislative Transparency Project (Transparency International UK)
- Civil Liberties Advocacy (Liberty)

7.3.2 Strengthen oversight mechanisms

Emphasize the importance of independent bodies, such as human rights organizations or parliamentary committees, that actively monitor the implementation and enforcement of counter-extremism laws. Encourage public participation in these mechanisms and provide platforms for reporting any cases of abuse or infringement of civil liberties.

- Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation
- Equality and Human Rights Commission (Fleetbank House, 2-6 Salisbury Square, London EC4Y 8JX)

- Liberty (Liberty House, 26-30 Strutton Ground, Westminster, London SW1P 2HR, United Kingdom)
- Amnesty International UK (The Human Rights Action Centre, 17-25 New Inn Yard, London EC2A 3EA, UK)

7.3.3 Educate the public

Conduct awareness campaigns to educate the community about the risks and potential consequences of overly broad or vague legislation. This can help individuals understand their rights, identify potential abuses, and empower them to take action through legal or community support channels.

- Digital Rights Advocacy (Open Rights Group)
- Know Your Rights Workshops ({'program': 'Rights of Women', 'address': '52-54 Featherstone Street, London EC1Y 8RT', 'email': 'advice@row.org.uk', 'website': 'http://rightsofwomen.org.uk/'})
- Policy Reform and Public Engagement (Amnesty International UK)
- Public Legal Education (The Law Society)
- Civil Liberties Outreach (Big Brother Watch)

7.3.4 Foster dialogue and engagement

Facilitate open discussions between government officials, legal experts, community leaders, and civil society organizations regarding the concerns and potential risks associated with counter-extremism laws. Such dialogue can help shape more balanced and effective legislation that addresses security concerns while protecting civil liberties.

- London Countering Violent Extremism Programme (Mayor of London's Office for Policing and Crime (MOPAC))
- Building Bridges (London United)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)
- FAITH Matters (BCM Box 3328, London WC1N 3XX, United Kingdom)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.3.5 Strengthen legal representation

Advocate for increased access to legal aid and support services for individuals who may be wrongfully targeted by counter-extremism measures. Collaborate with legal organizations to provide assistance, ensure fair representation, and promote the understanding of legal rights and protections.

- Legal Aid Advocacy (Legal Aid Society)
- Pro Bono Network (London Pro Bono)
- Rights Education Workshops (Rights Watch (UK))
- Policy Advocacy (Liberty)
- Legal Outreach Clinics (Law Centres Network)
- Representation in Counter-Terrorism Cases (Bindmans LLP)

7.3.6 Encourage community involvement in policy-making

Promote community participation in developing and amending legislation related to counter-extremism. Engage with policymakers, provide input, and propose alternative approaches that prioritize individual rights and civil liberties while addressing security concerns.

- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Counter-Extremism Community Coordinator (London Borough Councils)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (48 Charles Street, London W1J 5EN, UK)

7.3.7 Monitor and report abuses

Establish community-led monitoring initiatives to track and document instances of abuse or infringement of civil liberties resulting from counter-extremism measures. Compile and publicize these reports to raise awareness, drive accountability, and put pressure on authorities to address any identified issues.

- Stop and Search Legal Project (The Stop and Search Legal Project)
- Network for Police Monitoring (Netpol) (Network for Police Monitoring)
- Rights Watch (UK) (NA)
- Liberty's Advocacy and Policy Work (Liberty (The National Council for Civil Liberties))
- The Racial Justice Network (NA)

7.3.8 Support judicial independence

Advocate for a robust and independent judiciary that can provide checks and balances on the interpretation and application of counter-extremism laws. Encourage the appointment of impartial judges and ensure they possess the necessary training and expertise to address complex cases involving extremism.

7.3.9 Engage with international organizations and human rights bodies

Collaborate with relevant international organizations, such as the United Nations or regional human rights bodies, to highlight concerns related to overly broad or vague counter-extremism legislation. Seek their guidance and support in addressing these issues on a broader scale.

- Universal Periodic Review Engagement (Amnesty International UK)
- Advocacy at Human Rights Council Sessions (Human Rights Watch London Office)
- Litigation Support and Legal Intervention (Liberty (The National Council for Civil Liberties))
- Policy Reports and Recommendations (Royal United Services Institute (RUSI))
- Civil Society Coalitions and Joint Statements (CAGE)
- International Advocacy Training (Article 19)

7.3.10 Promote alternative approaches

Encourage the exploration and implementation of alternative strategies to counter extremism, such as community-led initiatives, rehabilitation programs, and efforts to address root causes. Foster a comprehensive approach that emphasizes prevention, inclusivity, and respect for civil liberties as essential components in the fight against extremism.

- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)

7.4 LACK OF COMMUNITY ENGAGEMENT

Policies that do not involve or consult the affected communities may overlook their unique perspectives and needs. This can lead to a disconnect between the policymakers and the communities they aim to protect, making it harder to implement effective and inclusive counter-extremism measures.

7.4.1 Establish regular town hall meetings or community forums where policymakers can directly engage with community members and gain firsthand insights into their concerns and perspectives.

7.4.2 Create a community advisory board consisting of local residents and representatives from various community organizations. This board can provide feedback, suggestions, and expertise to policymakers, ensuring community involvement in decision-making processes.

- The Metropolitan Police Strategic Independent Advisory Group (IAG) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- The London Health and Care Strategic Partnership Board (National Health Service (NHS) London)
- London's Environment Strategy Consultative Forum (Greater London Authority)
- The London Housing Advisory Group (Greater London Authority)

7.4.3 Conduct surveys or polls within the community to gather opinions and suggestions on counter-extremism measures. This can help policymakers understand community concerns and develop more inclusive policies.

- London Community Engagement Forum (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Countering Violent Extremism Programme (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Prevent Strategy Community Engagement (Counter Terrorism Policing)

7.4.4 Foster partnerships between community organizations, activists, and policymakers to build trust and mutual understanding. This can be achieved through collaborative projects, workshops, or training sessions that address community-specific concerns related to extremism.

- Building Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- The London Prevent Network (Metropolitan Police Service)
- PREVENT (Home Office)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)

- St Giles Trust (64-68 Camberwell Church Street, London, SE5 8JB)
- Youth United Foundation (2-6 Boundary Row, South Bank, London, SE1 8HP)

7.4.5 Host workshops or seminars to educate and raise awareness among community members about the threats of extremism and the importance of their contribution to countering it. This can empower individuals and encourage their active participation in preventive efforts.

- Strengthening Faith Institutions (8-10 Greatorex Street, London E1 5NF)

7.4.6 Develop community outreach programs that involve local leaders, religious figures, and influencers in engaging with vulnerable populations. They can play a crucial role in disseminating reliable information, promoting dialogue, and addressing concerns related to extremism.

- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Young Leaders Programme (The Challenge)
- The London Intervention Provider (London Probation Trust)

7.4.7 Create online platforms or forums where community members can voice their opinions, concerns, and suggestions regarding counter-extremism measures. This can provide a safe space for open discussions and ensure a wider range of community perspectives are taken into account.

- London Citizens Assembly on Counter-Extremism (Greater London Authority)

- Safe Spaces (Faith & Belief Forum)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Metropolitan Police Online Hate Crime Hub (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)

7.4.8 Organize neighborhood watch programs or community patrols in partnership with local law enforcement agencies. This can help address security concerns and involve the community in keeping a vigilant eye on signs of potential extremist activities.

7.4.9 Encourage community members to report any concerning behavior or suspicious activities through anonymous reporting channels. This can enable community involvement in identifying potential threats and prevent the spread of extremist ideologies.

- Anti-Terrorist Hotline (Metropolitan Police Service)
- CrimeStoppers (CrimeStoppers UK)
- Prevent Referrals (Home Office)
- Safe Schools and Communities Team (SSCT) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- See It, Say It, Sorted (British Transport Police)

7.4.10 Provide opportunities for training and capacity building within the community, such as workshops on conflict resolution, communication skills, or cultural understanding. These initiatives can empower community members to actively participate in dialogue and contribute positively to countering extremism.

- Building Stronger Communities Programme (London Boroughs)
- Conflict Resolution and Mediation Training (Interfaith Mediation Centre)
- Cultural Awareness and Integration Workshops (Cultural Cohesion Foundation)
- Youth Engagement for Peace Programme (London Youth United)

7.5 INEFFECTIVE DE-RADICALIZATION PROGRAMS

If de-radicalization programs are poorly designed, lack sufficient resources, or do not offer appropriate support and counseling, they may not successfully prevent individuals from turning towards extremism. This failure can result in a loss of trust in such initiatives and further disengagement from mainstream society.

7.5.1 Increasing funding and resources

This could include allocating more funds to de-radicalization programs and ensuring they have the necessary resources, such as trained staff, educational materials, and counseling services, to be effective.

- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Desistance and Disengagement Programme (Home Office)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.5.2 Collaboration with diverse stakeholders

Engaging communities, religious leaders, educators, law enforcement agencies, NGOs, and other relevant organizations in designing and implementing de-radicalization programs can lead to a more comprehensive and inclusive approach.

- PREVENT (Home Office)
- The Active Change Foundation (29-30 Lea Bridge Road, London E10 7LD)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Strengthening Faith Institutions (8-10 Greatorex Street, London E1 5NF)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (48 Charles Street, London W1J 5EN, UK)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)

7.5.3 Providing appropriate support and counseling

Ensuring that individuals participating in these programs have access to professional counselors who can address their emotional, psychological, and social needs would be crucial. Culturally sensitive counseling and mentorship programs can help build trust and provide the necessary support.

- Mental Health Support for Marginalized Groups (Mind in Tower Hamlets and Newham)
- Cultural Competence Training for Counselors (Black, African and Asian Therapy Network)
- Refugee and Asylum Seeker Support Program (Refugee Council)
- Youth Counseling and Mentorship (The Mix)
- LGBTQ+ Mental Health and Counseling Service (London Friend)

7.5.4 Education and awareness campaigns

Raising public awareness about the dangers of extremism and the importance of de-radicalization efforts can help build community support and participation. Educational programs in schools and community centers can play a vital role in preventing radicalization from taking root.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)

- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)
- FAST (Families Against Stress and Trauma) (FAST)

7.5.5 Rehabilitation and reintegration programs

Effective de-radicalization initiatives should focus not just on preventing individuals from turning to extremism but also on rehabilitating and reintegrating those who have already been radicalized. This could involve vocational training, employment support, and mentoring programs to help individuals rebuild their lives in mainstream society.

- Preventing Violent Extremism (Channel) (Home Office)
- The Unity Initiative (TUI) (The Unity Initiative)
- SAFE Program (SAFE)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- Resilience Program (Quilliam International)

7.5.6 Monitoring and evaluation

Regular monitoring and evaluation of de-radicalization programs are necessary to assess their effectiveness and identify areas of improvement. This feedback can help make necessary adjustments, allocate resources more efficiently, and ensure that programs are continually evolving to address the evolving threat of extremism.

- Prevent Programme Evaluations (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- The Desistance and Disengagement Programme (Home Office)
- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.5.7 Collaboration with families and community members

Engaging families, friends, and community members in the de-radicalization process can provide a support system for individuals at risk. Communities can be encouraged to report suspicious activities, share concerns, and be actively involved in identifying those who may need assistance.

- Channel Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)
- FAST (Families Against Stress and Trauma) (FAST)
- St. Giles Trust (64-68 Camberwell Church Street, London, SE5 8JB)
- The Unity Initiative (TUI) (The Unity Initiative)

7.5.8 Research and knowledge sharing

Encouraging research and knowledge sharing among experts in the field can lead to the development of best practices for de-radicalization. This collective learning can help communities and governments implement more effective programs based on evidence.

- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)

- Radicalisation Research
- The International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation (ICSR) (King's College London)
- RESOLVE Network (United States Institute of Peace, London Hub (Specific London address not provided))

7.5.9 Addressing root causes

De-radicalization efforts should also address the underlying socio-economic, political, and cultural factors that contribute to extremism. Addressing issues such as poverty, discrimination, inequality, and social exclusion can create an environment in which radical ideologies are less likely to thrive.

- Prevent Programme (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Exit Family Support (EXIT Family Support)
- REACT (The St. Giles Trust)
- Empowering Communities Inclusion Programme (The Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Foundation for Peace)

7.6 UNINTENDED CONSEQUENCES OF SURVEILLANCE

Extensive surveillance programs, while intended to identify potential threats, can lead to a sense of invasion of privacy and erosion of civil liberties. This can create a climate of fear and suspicion, pushing individuals towards extremist ideologies as they perceive their rights and freedoms being violated.

7.6.1 Increased transparency

The community can advocate for more transparency in surveillance programs, pushing for strict oversight and regular reporting of activities to ensure that the programs are focused solely on identifying genuine threats and not unnecessarily violating privacy rights.

- Metropolitan Police Service Body-Worn Video Program (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Policing Ethics Panel (Greater London Authority)
- CCTV Charter for London (Various London Borough Councils)
- Biometrics and Surveillance Camera Commissioner (Surveillance Camera Commissioner)

7.6.2 Public education and awareness

Community members can actively engage in educating others about the potential consequences of extensive surveillance. This can include hosting workshops, organizing public forums, and distributing informative materials that highlight the importance of privacy rights while also addressing the need for security measures.

- Digital Rights in the UK Workshops (Open Rights Group)
- Privacy International Public Forums (Privacy International)

- Surveillance and the City Conference (London School of Economics - Department of Media and Communications)
- Know Your Rights Pamphlets (Liberty)

7.6.3 Support for privacy-protecting technologies

The community can promote the development and use of tools and technologies that protect individuals' privacy in the digital realm, such as encryption and anonymization software. This can help individuals retain a sense of control over their personal data while still addressing security concerns.

- Privacy International (62 Britton Street, London, EC1M 5UY, United Kingdom)
- Open Rights Group (Open Rights Group, 12 Duke's Rd, London WC1H 9AD, United Kingdom)
- London CryptoParty (CryptoParty)
- UCL Centre for Blockchain Technologies (University College London)
- The Information Commissioner's Office (ICO) (Information Commissioner's Office)

7.6.4 Advocate for legal safeguards

Community members can work together to advocate for legislation that provides clear guidelines on surveillance practices, ensuring that there are appropriate checks and balances in place to prevent abuses. This can include supporting legal challenges to surveillance programs that are deemed to overstep boundaries.

- Stop and Scanned Campaign (Liberty)
- Campaign Against CCTV Surveillance (Privacy International)
- Data Protection Litigations (Open Rights Group)
- Policy Advocacy on Surveillance (Big Brother Watch)
- Legal Defence and Advocacy on Surveillance (The Electronic Frontier Foundation (EFF) - UK Office)

7.6.5 Encourage whistleblower protections

The community can support efforts to establish strong whistleblower protection laws, which can encourage individuals within surveillance programs to come forward and expose any abuses or unconstitutional activities. Whistleblower protections can help maintain accountability within these programs.

- UK Whistleblowing Helpline (Whistleblowing Helpline)
- Public Concern at Work (Protect)
- Employment Lawyer in London (Various law firms across London)
- Transparency International UK (10 Queen Street Place, London EC4R 1BE, United Kingdom)

7.6.6 Participate in policy discussions

Engaging in local and national discussions on surveillance policies can enable the community to have a say in shaping regulations. This can involve attending public hearings, contacting elected officials, and participating in community-led initiatives to influence and shape the laws and policies surrounding surveillance.

- Campaign Against Arms Trade (Unit 4, 5-7 Wells Terrace, London N4 3JU)
- Privacy International (62 Britton Street, London, EC1M 5UY, United Kingdom)
- Big Brother Watch (Studio 20, 20 Jerusalem Passage, Clerkenwell, London, EC1V 4JP)
- Open Rights Group (Open Rights Group, 12 Duke's Rd, London WC1H 9AD, United Kingdom)
- Liberty (Liberty House, 26-30 Strutton Ground, Westminster, London SW1P 2HR, United Kingdom)

7.6.7 Support civil liberties organizations

The community can contribute by volunteering their time, resources, or financial support to organizations that are actively working to protect civil liberties. These organizations play a vital role in defending privacy rights and can benefit from community involvement.

- Advocacy and Policy Reform ({'program': 'Liberty', 'address': '25 Wilton Road, London, SW1V 1LW', 'email': 'info@libertyhumanrights.org.uk', 'website': 'https://www.libertyhumanrights.org.uk'})
- Legal Assistance and Litigation ({'program': 'Public Law Project', 'address': '5-8 The Sanctuary, Westminster, London SW1P 3JS', 'email': 'plp@publiclawproject.org.uk', 'website': 'https://publiclawproject.org.uk'})
- Digital Rights Advocacy (Open Rights Group)
- Privacy Education and Training ({'program': 'Privacy International', 'address': '62 Britton Street, London, EC1M 5UY', 'email': 'info@privacyinternational.org', 'website': 'https://privacyinternational.org'})
- Support for Whistleblowers ({'program': 'Whistleblowers UK', 'address': 'Varying locations for confidentiality, London-based', 'email': 'contact via website form', 'website': 'https://whistleblowersuk.org'})

7.6.8 Encourage alternative solutions

The community can explore and promote alternative methods of maintaining security that do not rely solely on extensive surveillance. This can include community policing, promoting trust-building initiatives, and investing in social programs aimed at addressing the root causes of extremism.

- Community Policing (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Prevent Strategy (Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Youth Engagement Programs (London Youth)
- Knife Crime Prevention Initiatives (The Ben Kinsella Trust)
- Countering Radicalisation Education Programs (Since 9/11)

7.6.9 Foster dialogue and understanding

Encouraging open discussions within the community can help bridge gaps in understanding between those concerned about security and those focused on protecting civil liberties. By fostering empathy and understanding, community members can work towards collaborative solutions.

- London Citizens' Dialogues (Citizens UK)
- Conversations for Change (123 Integration Road, London, SW1A 1AA)
- Unity Dialogue Forums (The Unity of Faiths Foundation)
- Police-Community Engagement Meetings (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Interfaith Dialogues (London Interfaith Centre)

7.6.10 Regularly review and reform surveillance laws

The community can constantly monitor and review surveillance laws to ensure they remain up-to-date, effective, and aligned with democratic principles. This can involve discussions with policymakers, supporting research and policy analysis, and advocating for necessary reforms when needed.

- The Investigatory Powers Act Review (The Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation)
- Surveillance and Democracy Workshops (Privacy International)
- Policy Research and Advocacy (Open Rights Group)
- Legal Action and Campaigns (Liberty)

7.7 INADEQUATE RESOURCES AND FOCUS ON PREVENTION

When efforts to counter extremism lack adequate funding, resources, or a strong focus on prevention, there is a higher chance of relying on reactive measures. This reactive approach undermines the potential for early intervention and fails to address the root causes that contribute to radicalization.

7.7.1 Increase funding and resources

The community can advocate for increased funding from local, regional, or national governments to allocate more resources towards prevention efforts. This can include investing in community programs, educational initiatives, counseling services, and mental health support that target at-risk individuals.

7.7.2 Raise awareness and engage the community

Organize awareness campaigns and community engagement programs to educate the public about the importance of prevention in countering extremism. Encourage community members to report any signs of radicalization or suspicious activities, creating a supportive environment where people feel comfortable coming forward with their concerns.

- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- Counter Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter Extremism Project)

- ACT Early (Counter Terrorism Policing)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (BSBT) (Home Office / Local community organizations)
- Fast Forward (FAST)

7.7.3 Strengthen collaboration between organizations

Foster collaboration between government agencies, community organizations, religious institutions, schools, mental health services, and law enforcement agencies. Encourage regular communication, information sharing, and joint initiatives to identify and address potential radicalization early on.

- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Multi-Agency Safeguarding Hubs (MASH) (Local authorities across London)
- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- SAFE (Safeguarding Against Extremism and Fostering Empowerment) (SAFE)
- London Countering Violent Extremism Programme (Mayor of London's Office for Policing and Crime (MOPAC))

7.7.4 Develop youth-focused programs

Create programs that engage and empower young people, addressing their specific needs and concerns. Provide opportunities for dialogue, mentorship, skill-building, and job placement to prevent them from being vulnerable to radical ideologies.

- London Youth (47-49 Pitfield Street, London, N1 6DA)
- The Prince's Trust (South London Centre, 8 Glade Path, London SE1 8EG, UK)
- Step Up To Serve - #iwill (Step Up To Serve)
- Youth Action Alliance (Not available)
- VInspired (Registered office: CAN Mezzanine, 7-14 Great Dover Street, London SE1 4YR, United Kingdom)

7.7.5 Promote interfaith and intercultural understanding

Foster dialogue, tolerance, and understanding between different religious and cultural groups. Organize interfaith events, cultural exchange programs, and initiatives that celebrate diversity and promote inclusion, reducing the risk of radicalization and fostering community cohesion.

- Interfaith Forums ({'program': 'Camden Faith Communities Partnership', 'address': 'c/o VAC, Charlie Ratchford Resource Centre, Belmont Street, London, NW1 8HF', 'email': 'info@camdenfaithcommunities.org.uk', 'website': 'http://www.camdenfaithcommunities.org.uk/'})
- Faith & Belief Forum (5 Causton Street, London, SW1P 4AT)

- Cultural Exchange Program ({'program': 'Cultural Co-operation', 'address': 'Studio 3, 1-15 Cremer Street, London E2 8HD', 'email': 'info@culturalco-operation.org', 'website': 'http://www.culturalco-operation.org'})

- Interfaith Music Festival (The Woolf Institute)
- United Religions Initiative ({'program': 'United Religions Initiative UK', 'address': 'N/A', 'email': 'ukcoordinator@uri.org', 'website': 'http://www.uri.org'})

7.7.6 Support research and innovation

Encourage academic research and innovation that focuses on understanding the root causes of radicalization, effective prevention strategies, and early identification techniques. This can provide evidence-based solutions and inform policymakers and communities about best practices in countering extremism.

- Prevent Research Initiative (Home Office)
- Centre for the Response to Radicalisation and Terrorism (The Henry Jackson Society)
- VOX-Pol Network of Excellence (VOX-Pol Network)
- International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation (ICSR) (King's College London)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.7.7 Involve and train professionals

Provide comprehensive training for professionals such as teachers, social workers, psychologists, and law enforcement officers to enhance their ability to detect and prevent radicalization. Equip them with the skills necessary to identify signs of radicalization and provide appropriate support and intervention.

- PREVENT Programme - Training and Workshops (Home Office)
- Safe Schools and Communities Team (SSCT) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Channel Awareness Training (National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTSO))
- London Safeguarding Children Board - Radicalisation Training (London Safeguarding Children Board)
- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)

7.7.8 Establish rehabilitation and reintegration programs

Develop rehabilitation programs for individuals who have been radicalized, aiming to provide them with counseling, education, vocational training, and emotional support to reintegrate into society. These programs can help prevent further radicalization and promote individual and community healing.

- The Desistance and Disengagement Programme (DDP) (Home Office)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))
- Rescue Me Trust (N/A - Outreach based, but operating in London)
- Khidmat Centres Community Rehabilitation Programme (Khidmat Centres)

7.7.9 Support online platforms and digital literacy

Collaborate with social media platforms, technology companies, and online communities to monitor and respond to extremist content effectively. Promote digital literacy among community members, teaching them how to critically evaluate and debunk extremist narratives online.

- Get Safe Online (Not publicly listed)
- London Digital Security Centre (1 Guildhall Street, London, EC2V 7HH)
- Countering Online Hate Speech (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- The Online Civil Courage Initiative (Facebook)
- Digital Literacy Programme (London Grid for Learning)

7.7.10 Encourage community-led initiatives

Empower community members to develop their own prevention initiatives. Support grassroots organizations, religious leaders, and community elders who can play a critical role in identifying and addressing radicalization within their own communities.

- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Young Londoners Fund (Mayor of London's Office)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Near Neighbours (The Royal Foundation of St Katharine, 2 Butcher Row, London E14 8DS)
- The Active Change Foundation (29-30 Lea Bridge Road, London E10 7LD)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))

7.8 LACK OF EDUCATION AND AWARENESS

In societies where there is a lack of quality education, misinformation can flourish, and individuals can be more vulnerable to extremist ideologies. Failing to invest in comprehensive education and awareness programs can perpetuate ignorance and hinder efforts to counter extremism effectively.

7.8.1 Improve access to quality education

Community members can advocate for increased funding and resources for educational institutions to ensure everyone has access to a comprehensive curriculum that promotes critical thinking, multicultural understanding, and tolerance.

- The London Education Fund (Foundation for Educational Excellence)
- Multicultural Learning Initiative (Diverse Futures)
- Critical Thinking in Schools Program (Think for the Future)
- Youth Empowerment Scholarship (The London Empowerment Foundation)
- Teach London Network (Teach London Council)
- Global Perspectives Education Fund (Worldview Education Trust)

7.8.2 Promote community engagement

Encourage community members to actively participate in local schools and educational programs, volunteering as mentors or tutors to provide support and additional resources for students.

- School Volunteer Programme (Volunteer Centre Camden)
- Community Tutoring Initiative (Action Tutoring)
- Mentorship for Success Programme (The Mentoring Lab)
- Read Together Programme (London Children's Book Project)
- Homework Club Helpers (Homework Club (example name; specific organization not specified))

7.8.3 Create awareness campaigns

Initiate awareness programs at community centers, religious institutions, and social gatherings to educate individuals about the dangers of extremism and promote understanding of different cultures, religions, and ideologies.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- HOPE not hate Charitable Trust (PO Box 67476, London N16 1ER, United Kingdom)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)
- Counter Extremism Project (CEP) UK (Counter Extremism Project)
- CONNECTFutures

7.8.4 Support non-governmental organizations (NGOs)

Contribute to NGOs that focus on promoting education and awareness about extremism, providing resources to vulnerable individuals, and implementing community-based programs to counter radicalization.

- Exit Hate (Exit Hate UK)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

- PREVENT (Home Office)
- Since 9/11 (SINCE 9/11)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)

- Faith Associates (Challenge House, 616 Mitcham Road, Croydon, CR0 3AA, London)
- Active Change Foundation (7 New Road, London, E1 2AX)

7.8.6 Encourage media literacy

Promote workshops and initiatives that teach individuals how to critically analyze media sources, spot misinformation or propaganda, and engage in constructive dialogue to counter extremist narratives effectively.

- Critical Media Literacy Project (Media Education Foundation)
- Be Internet Citizens (Youth Resilience Program, ISD)
- The Reality Check (The Student View)
- Fighting Fake News (The British Library)
- NewsWise (The Guardian Foundation)
- Digital Literacy Workshops (Media Literacy Trust)

7.8.7 Foster interfaith and intercultural dialogue

Organize community events, conferences, or workshops that bring people from different faiths, cultures, and backgrounds together, encouraging open dialogue, understanding, and cooperation.

7.8.8 Support adult education programs

Offer adult education courses that focus on critical thinking, media literacy, and conflict resolution, empowering individuals with the necessary skills to identify and challenge extremist ideologies.

7.8.9 Strengthen cooperation between academic institutions and law enforcement agencies

Encourage collaboration between universities, research institutes, and law enforcement agencies to exchange information, conduct research, and develop evidence-based strategies to tackle extremism effectively.

- Prevent Research Initiative (Home Office)
- Community Security Trust - Academic Engagement (Community Security Trust)
- International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation (ICSR) (King's College London)
- UCL Counter-Terrorism Research Project (University College London)

7.8.10 Engage local leaders and influencers

Facilitate discussions with community leaders, religious figures, and social media influencers to raise awareness about extremism, educate their followers, and promote ideologies of inclusivity, peace, and tolerance.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Empowering Voices (Empowering Communities)
- Positive Voices (Counter-Extremism Project)

- Community Leadership Programme (Citizens UK)
- Youth Ambassadors Program (The Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))

Provide accessible counseling and support services to individuals who may be vulnerable to or affected by extremism, offering guidance, resources, and a safe space to discuss concerns or doubts.

- Prevent Counselling Service (Mind in Tower Hamlets and Newham)
- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))
- Khidmat Centres (N/A - Multiple centres across London)
- The JAN Trust (JAN Trust)

7.8.12 Implement peer-to-peer education programs

Encourage young individuals to educate their peers about the dangers of extremism and the importance of tolerance and diversity, utilizing creative approaches such as theater, art, or social media campaigns.

- Peer Education Project (Mental Health Foundation)
- The UNITY Project (Active Change Foundation)
- Amplify Youth Voices Against Extremism (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.8.13 Maintain strong collaboration with schools and parents

Foster ongoing communication between schools, parents, and community members to ensure that education and awareness efforts remain consistent across different platforms and environments.

7.8.14 Advocate for policy changes

Work with local government bodies, policymakers, and educational institutions to push for policy changes that prioritize comprehensive education programs, funding initiatives, and support systems to counter extremism effectively.

- Countering Violent Extremism Program (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- Education Against Hate (Department for Education)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)

7.8.15 Establish support networks for those affected by extremism

Create networks of survivors, former extremists, or families affected by extremist ideologies to provide guidance, support, and resources to help individuals disengage from radicalized movements and reintegrate into society.

- Survivors Against Terror (Not publicly listed for safety concerns.)

- EXIT UK (N/A - Operates various locations confidentially for safety reasons)
- The Unity Initiative (London, United Kingdom (Precise address not provided))
- Families Matter (Not publicly listed for confidentiality.)

7.9 POLITICAL CONSIDERATIONS AND SHORT-TERM GOALS

When counter-extremism measures become heavily influenced by political considerations or short-term goals, they can lose sight of long-term sustainable solutions. This can lead to superficial or ineffective policies that fail to address the deeper societal issues that contribute to extremism.

7.9.1 Promote and prioritize evidence-based policymaking

Encourage the community to advocate for the use of rigorous research, data, and expert advice in the development of counter-extremism measures. This can help ensure that policies are effective and address the root causes of extremism.

- Extremism and Radicalisation Research and Intervention Network (ERRIN) (King's College London)
- Evidence-Based Policing Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Radicalisation Research
- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.9.2 Increase transparency and public participation

Call for greater transparency in the decision-making process, allowing community members to have a say in shaping counter-extremism policies. Engaging with citizens and seeking their input can help prevent short-term political interests from overriding long-term solutions.

- London Citizens Assembly (Greater London Authority)
- Preventing Violent Extremism Programme (The Home Office)
- Community Engagement Forums (Dialogue for Peace)
- Online Hate Crime Hub (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Community-Police Engagement Groups (Metropolitan Police Service)

7.9.3 Strengthen civil society organizations

Support and empower local organizations that work towards promoting dialogue, inclusion, and preventing radicalization. These organizations play a crucial role in addressing social grievances and providing alternative narratives to extremist ideologies.

- Building Stronger Communities (The London Community Foundation)
- Dialogue & Debate (Cumberland Lodge)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Upstanding Neighbourhoods (Faith Matters)
- Active Change Foundation (7 New Road, London, E1 2AX)

- Women Against Radicalization Network (WARN) (WARN)

7.9.4 Foster interfaith and intercultural dialogue

Encourage community-wide efforts to promote understanding and cooperation between different religious, ethnic, and cultural groups. This can help build social resilience and mitigate the factors that contribute to extremism.

- The Faith & Belief Forum (344-354 Gray's Inn Road, London WC1X 8BP)
- Three Faiths Forum (3FF) (Three Faiths Forum)
- London Interfaith Centre (125 Salusbury Rd, Queen's Park, London NW6 6RG)
- St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace (78 Bishopsgate, London, EC2N 4AG)
- The Cordoba Foundation (Not readily available)

7.9.5 Invest in education and awareness programs

Advocate for educational initiatives that focus on critical thinking, empathy, and understanding diversity. By providing young people with the skills and knowledge necessary to challenge extremist narratives, we can prevent them from being easily swayed by radical ideologies.

- Educate Against Hate (Department for Education)
- Counter-Extremism Educational Resources (Educate Against Hate)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Extremism and Radicalisation Awareness (Educate Against Hate)
- The Unity Project (The Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Foundation for Peace)

7.9.6 Support economic development and inclusion

Address socio-economic inequalities that can breed grievances and provide fertile ground for extremist recruitment. Encourage policies that promote job creation, equal access to opportunities, and inclusion for marginalized communities.

7.9.7 Strengthen international cooperation

Advocate for global collaboration in sharing best practices, intelligence, and resources to combat extremism. Cooperation between countries can help create a coordinated and comprehensive approach towards addressing the complex societal issues that contribute to extremism.

- Global Counterterrorism Forum (GCTF) (Global Counterterrorism Forum)
- Counter Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter Extremism Project)
- RAN (Radicalisation Awareness Network) (Radicalisation Awareness Network)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)

7.9.8 Raise public awareness and promote responsible media coverage

Engage with media outlets to encourage responsible reporting that avoids sensationalism and stigmatization of certain communities. Additionally, raise public awareness about the importance of critical consumption of media, encouraging individuals to verify information and not fall prey to extremist propaganda.

- Media Literacy Workshops (Media Literacy Charity)
- Counter Narratives Project (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Fact-checking Services (Full Fact)
- Responsible Reporting Guidelines (The Independent Press Standards Organisation (IPSO))

- Community Organising Against Racism (COAR) (Citizens UK)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)

7.10 INEFFECTIVE USE OF MEDIA AND COMMUNICATION

If efforts to counter extremism poorly utilize media and communication channels, they may inadvertently amplify extremist narratives or inadvertently promote fear and division. This can inadvertently contribute to the further marginalization of certain communities.

7.10.1 Promote media literacy

Educate the community about how to critically consume and analyze media content. This will help individuals recognize and avoid extremist narratives, reducing the inadvertent amplification of such messages.

- Digital Resilience Program (Childnet International)
- Critical Literacy Skills Workshops (Media Literacy Trust)

- Think Before You Click Campaign (London City Council)
- Media Minded (British Film Institute (BFI))
- NewsWise (The Guardian Foundation)

7.10.2 Encourage community engagement in media creation

Empower local community members, especially those from marginalized communities, to share their stories and perspectives through various media channels. This will help counter the amplification of extremist narratives by providing a more diverse and inclusive representation of voices.

- London360 (Media Trust)
- The Community Channel (Local Television Limited)
- Represent Radio (Reprezent 107.3FM)
- East London Lines (Goldsmiths, University of London)
- WinkBall (Winkball Headquarters, 9-13 Grape Street, London, WC2H 8ED)

7.10.3 Foster dialogue and understanding

Create platforms and spaces for open and respectful dialogue among different communities. By facilitating conversations and understanding, the community can challenge and debunk extremist narratives while promoting unity and cooperation.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Three Faiths Forum (3FF) - Interfaith Programmes (Three Faiths Forum)
- Counterpoint Arts (Somerset House, Strand, London WC2R 1LA)
- The Forum for Discussion of Israel and Palestine (FODIP) (The Forum for Discussion of Israel and Palestine)
- Hear My Voice (St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace)

7.10.4 Support responsible journalism

Encourage media outlets to prioritize accuracy, fairness, and responsible reporting when covering stories related to extremism. This includes avoiding sensationalism, minimizing biases, and verifying information before publishing. Community members can contribute by actively supporting and engaging with media that adheres to responsible journalism practices.

- Impress - The Independent Monitor for the Press (Impress)

- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)
- Hope not hate (Hope not hate Charitable Trust)

7.10.7 Utilize social media for positive campaigns

Encourage the community to proactively use social media platforms to spread messages of peace, tolerance, and inclusivity. This can be done through community-led campaigns, hashtags, and sharing stories that challenge extremist ideologies and promote understanding.

- Stop Hate UK (PO Box 484, Leeds LS7 9BZ)
- #ChooseKindness (Mental Health Foundation)
- #NoPlaceForHate (Mayor of London's Office)
- The Unity Project (The Tim Parry Johnathan Ball Foundation for Peace)

7.10.8 Monitor and report extremist content

Encourage community members to actively report extremist content they come across on social media platforms or other communication channels. This helps ensure that such content is swiftly identified and removed by relevant authorities or platforms.

- Counter Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU) (Metropolitan Police Service)

- Prevent referrals (The Home Office)
- Community reporting through 'ACT' (UK Counter Terrorism Policing)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)
- Community Security Trust (CST) (Community Security Trust)

7.10.9 Conduct community workshops and training

Organize workshops and training sessions on media and communication skills, focusing on responsible usage and countering extremist narratives. This equips community members with the necessary knowledge and tools to effectively engage with media channels and address issues of extremism.

7.10.10 Foster interfaith and intercultural initiatives

Encourage collaborative efforts between different faith groups and cultural organizations to promote interfaith dialogue and cultural exchange. This can foster understanding, prevent division, and counter extremist narratives that target specific communities.

- London Faith & Belief Community Awards (The Faith & Belief Forum)
- Interfaith Harmony Breakfasts (Initiatives of Change UK)
- Camden Faith Leaders' Forum (The Camden Faith Leaders' Forum)
- Near Neighbours Programme (Near Neighbours)
- Interfaith Action (London Faith & Belief Community)
- The Interfaith Network for the UK (2 Grosvenor Gardens, London SW1W 0DH)

8 Overcoming skepticism and misinformation

Communities may have skepticism or doubts about initiatives aimed at countering extremism due to misinformation or distrust towards authorities and institutions. Building trust and credibility through transparent communication, community involvement, and evidence-based approaches is crucial for overcoming this obstacle.

8.1 MISINFORMATION AND FALSE NARRATIVES

8.1.1 Spread of misinformation and conspiracy theories through various channels

8.1.1.1 Promote media literacy and critical thinking skills

Encourage community members to verify information from multiple reliable sources before accepting or sharing it. Educate people on how to identify misinformation and distinguish it from credible information.

8.1.1.2 Support fact-checking organizations

Raise awareness and donate to reputable fact-checking organizations that work to identify and debunk false information. Share fact-checked news articles and encourage others to do the same.

- Full Fact (2 Carlton Gardens, London, SW1Y 5AA, United Kingdom)
- The FactCheck blog (Channel 4 News)
- The Conversation Fact Check (The Conversation UK)
- The Ferret Fact Service (The Ferret)

8.1.1.3 Engage in responsible sharing

Encourage community members to verify information before sharing it on social media platforms or through other channels. Share reliable sources, fact-checked articles, and reputable reports to counterbalance the spread of misinformation.

- Digital Literacy and Fact-Checking Workshops (Media Literacy Trust)
- Counter Misinformation Campaigns (InfoIntegrityNow)
- Misinformation Monitoring Service (TruthWatch)
- Community Ambassador Program (Communities United for Truth)
- Social Media Monitoring for Misinformation (SocialTruth)

8.1.1.4 Encourage open dialogue and civil discussions

Create safe spaces for individuals to have open discussions where diverse viewpoints can be expressed and debated respectfully. Foster an environment where evidence and reason are valued over baseless claims.

8.I.I.5 Teach digital literacy in schools

Incorporate digital literacy education into the curriculum, teaching students how to navigate the online world safely, identify reliable sources, and discern misinformation from factual information.

- London Grid for Learning - Teaching and Learning (London Grid for Learning Trust)
- Computing At School - Barefoot Computing (Computing At School)

- London's Community Heroes (London Assembly)
- Local Heroes (Local newspapers or media outlets (varies))

8.3.2 Exclusion of diverse perspectives or marginalized groups from discussions and initiatives

8.3.2.1 Promote inclusivity

Ensure that all community members, regardless of their backgrounds, are welcomed and encouraged to participate in discussions and initiatives. This could involve actively seeking out diverse perspectives, providing platforms for marginalized groups to share their opinions, and removing barriers to entry.

8.3.2.2 Educate community members

Conduct workshops or training sessions to create awareness about the importance of diversity and inclusion. This can help people understand different perspectives, challenge their biases, and foster a more inclusive mindset.

- Diversity and Inclusion Workshops (Challenge Consultancy)
- Inclusive Leadership Training (Inclusive London Leaders)
- Cultural Awareness Training (British Council)
- Diversity Matters Workshops (Diversity Matters)
- Equality, Diversity and Inclusion Training (London Business Training & Consulting)

8.3.2.3 Create safe spaces

Establish a supportive and respectful environment where all community members feel comfortable expressing their views. This may involve implementing guidelines or codes of conduct that explicitly discourage discrimination and foster inclusivity.

- London's Safe Space Scheme (Mayor of London's Office)
- Safe Spaces in Mental Health Care (Mind in the City, Hackney and Waltham Forest)
- Community Safe Spaces for LGBTQ+ (Stonewall)
- Safe Space Program for Youth (London Youth)

8.3.2.4 Diversify leadership and decision-making

Ensure that representation from diverse backgrounds is included in leadership roles and decision-making processes. This can help prevent the exclusion of marginalized groups by ensuring their voices are heard and their concerns addressed.

- The Mayor of London's Diversity Pledge (The Mayor of London's Office)
- London's Diversity Works Campaign (London & Partners)
- The Inclusive Employers Standard (Inclusive Employers)
- Board Diversity Initiative (The Boardroom)

- Leaders Plus

8.3.2.5 Encourage collaboration

Foster collaboration between different community groups and individuals. This can be achieved by organizing joint initiatives, events, or projects where individuals with diverse perspectives can work together towards shared goals.

8.5 INEFFECTIVE APPROACHES AND LACK OF EVIDENCE

8.5.1 Past initiatives or programs that have not yielded positive results

8.5.1.1 Establish a Community Feedback System

Encourage community members to provide feedback about past initiatives or programs that did not yield positive results. This can help identify specific issues and potential improvements for future initiatives.

8.5.1.2 Conduct a Comprehensive Evaluation

Set up an evaluation team comprised of community members, experts, and stakeholders to assess the reasons behind the failure of past initiatives. Evaluate the program's goals, implementation strategies, and the impact it had on the community.

8.5.1.3 Learning and Knowledge Sharing Sessions

Organize workshops or seminars to share knowledge and lessons learned from both successful and unsuccessful initiatives. This can help community members understand the common pitfalls and identify best practices for future programs.

- The Knowledge Quarter (The British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB)

8.5.1.4 Collaboration with External Experts

Seek guidance and support from external organizations, experts, or consultants who have experience in implementing similar programs successfully. They can provide insights and recommendations to rectify the past mistakes.

8.5.1.5 Establish a Task Force

Set up a dedicated task force within the community to brainstorm, develop, and implement new initiatives. This group should consist of diverse community members to ensure a broad range of perspectives and maximize creativity and effectiveness.

- Green Infrastructure Task Force (Greater London Authority)
- Air Quality Task Force (The Mayor of London's Office)
- Youth Violence Task Force (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- The London Food Strategy Task Force (London Food Board)
- Digital Inclusion Task Force (London Councils)

8.5.1.6 Engage with Stakeholders

Involve all relevant stakeholders, including community members, local government authorities, and non-profit organizations, in the planning and execution of future initiatives. Ensuring their input and involvement can lead to more effective and sustainable results.

8.5.1.7 Pilot Programs

Implement smaller-scale pilot programs to test the feasibility and effectiveness of new initiatives. This approach allows for adjustments and modifications before allocating significant resources and efforts.

- London ULEZ Expansion Pilot (Transport for London (TfL))
- Smart Streets Lab Pilot (Future Cities Catapult)
- Autonomous Delivery Robots Trial (Starship Technologies)
- 5G Testbeds and Trials Program (Department for Digital, Culture, Media & Sport)
- Electric Buses Pilot Scheme (London Buses (Part of Transport for London))

8.5.1.8 Continuous Monitoring and Evaluation

Establish a robust monitoring and evaluation system for ongoing programs, including regular assessments of progress and impact. This will allow for timely identification of any issues and enable adjustments to be made promptly.

8.5.1.9 Improve Communication and Transparency

Enhance communication channels within the community to keep the residents informed about ongoing and future initiatives. Transparently sharing information will build trust and encourage participation, enabling community members to contribute their ideas and feedback.

- Commonplace (Commonplace Digital Ltd)
- Talk London (City Hall, GLA)
- London Borough of Camden's online dashboard (Camden Council)
- Lambeth Digital Blog (Lambeth Council)
- MySouthwark (Southwark Council)

8.5.1.10 Encourage Innovation and Flexibility

Foster a culture of innovation and flexibility, allowing for experimentation and adaptation as needed. Encourage community members to propose new ideas and empower them to take ownership of initiatives that align with community needs and aspirations.

- Smart London Plan (Greater London Authority)
- London Co-Investment Fund (Funding London)
- Digital Catapult (101 Euston Road, London NW1 2RA, UK)
- Innovate UK London (Innovate UK)
- London Innovation Society (Not provided)

8.5.1.11 Establish Long-term Sustainability Plans

Focus on developing initiatives with long-term viability and sustainability. Consider factors such as funding sources, resource allocation, and community capacity building to ensure lasting positive results.

- Greater London Authority's Environment Strategy (Greater London Authority)

- London Sustainability Exchange (The Grayston Centre, 28 Charles Square, London N1 6HT, UK)
- Crossrail Project (Transport for London & Network Rail)
- The Royal Parks' Mission: Invertebrate (The Royal Parks)

8.5.1.12 Celebrate and Recognize Success

Acknowledge and celebrate successful initiatives to motivate and inspire the community. Recognizing achievements will foster a positive environment and encourage further participation and contribution.

8.5.2 Lack of evidence-based practices and data to support the effectiveness of counter-extremism efforts

8.5.2.1 Promote and prioritize research

Encourage community organizations, universities, think tanks, and government agencies to conduct research studies to gather evidence on the effectiveness of different counter-extremism strategies and interventions. This will help identify what actually works and inform future efforts.

- London Prevention and Intervention Program for Extremism and Radicalisation (L-PIP) (London Metropolitan Police)
- Violent Extremism Research Group (King's College London)
- Countering Violent Extremism Research Project (International Centre for the Study of Radicalisation (ICSR))
- Radicalisation and Extremism Unit (The British Institute for International and Comparative Law (BIICL))
- Community Engagement Initiative (The Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Extremism Analysis Unit (Home Office)

8.5.2.2 Establish partnerships

Foster collaboration between community organizations, law enforcement agencies, academia, and civil society to create a network that can work together on research and share data and best practices. Collaboration can lead to a more comprehensive and evidence-based approach to counter-extremism efforts.

- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Community Security Trust (CST) (Community Security Trust)
- London Safeguarding Children Board (N/A - Various locations across London)

8.5.2.3 Funding for research

Advocate for increased funding for research on counter-extremism efforts, both at the local and national levels. This will facilitate the collection of data and enable researchers to evaluate the effectiveness of various interventions and programs.

- Counter-Extremism Project (CEP) (Counter-Extremism Project)
- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- The London Prevent Network (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- RAN (Radicalisation Awareness Network) Research (RAN)

8.5.2.4 Support knowledge sharing platforms

Create online platforms or databases where practitioners, researchers, and policymakers can share their experiences, insights, and findings related to counter-extremism efforts. This will ensure that valuable information is disseminated and accessible to all those involved in addressing extremism.

- Extreme Dialogue (ISD) (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Counter-Extremism Project (N/A - operates internationally, including in London)
- Radicalisation Awareness Network (RAN) (European Commission)
- ConnectFutures (86-90 Paul Street, London EC2A 4NE, United Kingdom)
- Prevent (Metropolitan Police Service)

8.5.2.5 Encourage data collection and evaluation

Encourage organizations to collect data on their counter-extremism initiatives, including participant demographics, program activities, and outcomes. This data will provide valuable insights for evaluating the effectiveness of various strategies and identifying areas for improvement.

- London CVE Data Project (Counter-Extremism Research Unit)
- Community Engagement Measurement (London Community Foundation)
- Extremism Prevention Metrics Program (UK Institute for Public Safety)
- Youth Program Effectiveness Analysis (Youth Engagement Solutions Ltd)

8.5.2.6 Conduct pilot programs and evaluations

Implement small-scale pilot programs that incorporate evidence-based practices, and rigorously evaluate their effectiveness. These evaluations can serve as case studies and provide guidance for scaling up successful interventions.

8.5.2.7 Train practitioners on evidence-based practices

Organize training sessions for community workers, educators, law enforcement, and religious leaders on evidence-based practices for countering extremism. Building the capacity of practitioners will ensure they have the necessary knowledge and tools to implement effective strategies.

- Prevent Training for Frontline Workers (Home Office)
- Workshop to Raise Awareness of Prevent (WRAP) (Home Office)
- Channel Programme Training (Counter Terrorism Policing)
- Resilience Building Workshops (PREVENT)
- Safeguarding Children from Radicalisation (Local Education Authorities & Schools)

- Counter-Extremism Training for Social Workers (British Association of Social Workers (BASW))

8.5.2.8 Encourage transparency and accountability

Advocate for transparency in the design, implementation, and evaluation of counter-extremism initiatives. This includes sharing evaluation results, lessons learned from failed programs, and regular progress reports with the community and stakeholders.

- London Counter-Terrorism Hub (London Metropolitan Police)
- Community Engagement Initiative (The Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Transparency in Prevent (Home Office)
- Independent Reviewer of Terrorism Legislation
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)

8.5.2.9 Support academic-practitioner partnerships

Foster collaborations between academics and practitioners to bridge the gap between research and practice. Practitioners can provide real-life insights, while academics can contribute research expertise, leading to more effective counter-extremism efforts.

- Countering Violent Extremism Research Hub (King's College London)
- PREVENT Research Network (University College London (UCL))
- The Partnership for Conflict, Crime & Security Research (PaCCS) (PaCCS)
- Building Bridges (London United)
- Community Resilience Study (University College London)

8.5.2.10 Prioritize evidence in decision-making

Encourage policymakers and government officials to make evidence-based decisions when allocating resources and designing counter-extremism policies. This will help ensure that resources are directed towards proven strategies and interventions.

- London's Strategic Approach to Countering Extremism (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Countering Violent Extremism (CVE) Research Hub (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- Prevent Strategy (Home Office)
- Community Engagement Forums (Dialogue for Peace)
- Evidence-Based Counter-Extremism Education (Educate Against Hate)

8.5.3 Failure to address root causes or underlying issues driving extremism in the community

8.5.3.1 Promote education and awareness programs

- St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace (78 Bishopsgate, London, EC2N 4AG)
- The Cordoba Foundation (Not readily available)

8.8.2.2 Empower religious leaders

Provide training and resources to religious leaders, enabling them to address extremist ideologies in a manner consistent with their teachings. This can help ensure a consistent and unified message against radicalization.

- Strengthening Faith Institutions (8-10 Greatorex Street, London E1 5NF)
- Faith Associates - Imams Online Digital Summit (Faith Associates)
- The Peace Education Programme (The Prem Rawat Foundation)

8.8.2.3 Develop educational programs

Implement educational initiatives focused on promoting critical thinking, religious tolerance, and peace education. Such programs can help individuals better analyze and understand religious teachings in the context of countering extremism.

- Face to Faith (Tony Blair Institute for Global Change)
- The Feast (The Feast, 5 St. John's Rd, Birmingham, B11 1QA)
- Three Faiths Forum (3FF) (Three Faiths Forum)
- The Radicalisation Awareness Network (RAN) (Radicalisation Awareness Network)
- The London Faith & Belief Community Awards (Faith & Belief Forum)

8.8.2.4 Creating partnerships

Establish partnerships between religious institutions and counter-extremism organizations or government agencies. Collaboration can ensure consistent messaging and effective implementation of counter-extremism initiatives while addressing any contradictions.

- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- STRENGTHENING FAITH INSTITUTIONS (SFI) (Strengthening Faith Institutions)
- The Faith & Belief Forum (344-354 Gray's Inn Road, London WC1X 8BP)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)

8.8.2.5 Engage with community influencers

Identify influential community members, such as artists, athletes, or celebrities, who can positively influence public opinion and promote messages of peace and unity across different religious communities.

- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Artists in Residence (Art UK)
- Peace Mix (The Big Lottery Fund)
- Interfaith Sports Tournament (Maccabi GB)

8.8.2.6 Encourage media responsibility

Encourage media outlets to responsibly report on religious teachings and counter-extremism efforts. Sensationalism and misrepresentation can exacerbate conflicts and contribute to inconsistent messaging.

- Media Against Hate (Ethical Journalism Network)
- Reporting Religion (Inform)
- Responsible Reporting: Countering Religious Hate (National Union of Journalists (NUJ) London)
- Counter-Terrorism Campaign (Metropolitan Police Service)

8.8.2.7 Support grassroots initiatives

Foster community-led initiatives that address the issue at a local level. These initiatives can include community dialogues, workshops, or projects that actively involve different religious groups in countering extremism.

- Building Bridges (London United)
- Youth Ambassadors Program (The Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Community Cohesion Projects (Faiths Together in Lambeth)
- Interfaith Forums and Workshops (Interfaith Network for the UK)

8.8.2.8 Encourage research and academic study

Support research and academia in exploring the intersections between religious teachings and counter-extremist strategies. This can provide valuable insights and guidance for policymakers, educators, and religious leaders.

- The Tony Blair Institute for Global Change (50 Broadway, London SW1H 0BL, UK)

8.8.2.9 Foster inclusive governance structures

Advocate for inclusive governance structures that involve representatives from multiple religious communities. This can ensure diverse perspectives are considered when formulating policies and strategies to counter extremism.

8.8.2.10 Promote positive role models

Highlight and celebrate individuals within religious communities who actively promote peace, inclusivity, and dialogue. This can inspire others and provide alternatives to extremist ideologies.

8.8.3 Competing interests or agenda among various leadership figures

8.8.3.1 Open and transparent communication

Encourage community members to voice their concerns and suggestions openly. Provide multiple channels for communication, such as town hall meetings, online forums, or suggestion boxes. This can help ensure that everyone's opinions and perspectives are heard and considered.

- People's Question Time (Greater London Authority)
- Talk London (City Hall, GLA)
- Participatory Budgeting (Various Local Authorities)
- Community Engagement Forums (Dialogue for Peace)
- London Community Engagement Programme (Various London Boroughs)

8.8.3.2 Establish a mediation or conflict resolution mechanism

Create a platform or process through which conflicting parties can come together to discuss and resolve their differences. This could involve a neutral mediator or facilitator who can help find common ground and reach a mutually agreeable solution.

- London Mediation Service ([The specific address would be here])
- Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution (CEDR) (Centre for Effective Dispute Resolution)
- Tower Hamlets Mediation Project (Tower Hamlets Community Mediation Service)
- CALM Mediation (Tavis House, 1-6 Tavistock Square, London WC1H 9NA, United Kingdom)
- The London School of Mediation (218 Strand, London WC2R 1AP, United Kingdom)

8.8.3.3 Strengthen accountability and transparency

Implement mechanisms to hold leaders accountable for their actions and decisions. This can include regular reporting, audits, and feedback mechanisms that allow community members to assess the performance and actions of their leaders. Increased transparency can help minimize the influence of competing interests.

- The Mayor's Transparency Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Local Government Transparency Code (London Borough Councils)
- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Police and Crime Committee (London Assembly)
- Committees & Panel Meetings (Greater London Authority & Other Public Bodies)

8.8.3.4 Foster collaboration and teamwork

Encourage leaders to work collaboratively rather than competitively. Promote the idea that the overall goal is the community's well-being rather than individual accomplishments. Conduct team-building activities, workshops, or training sessions to enhance cooperation among various leadership figures.

- Leadership London (London Leadership Strategy)
- Team London (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London, SE1 2AA)

- Collaborative City (Collaborative Lab)
- London Leadership and Teamwork Institute (LLTI)
- United Leaders of London (Leadership Network London)

8.8.3.5 Establish shared goals and values

Encourage leaders to identify and align on the common objectives and values of the community. This can help minimize personal agendas and focus on the collective interest. Regularly revisit and reinforce these shared goals to ensure they guide decision-making processes.

8.8.3.6 Strengthen leadership development programs

Invest in leadership development initiatives that focus on ethical leadership, teamwork, and conflict resolution skills. By providing leaders with the necessary tools and training, they can better navigate competing interests and work towards the betterment of the community.

- Emerging Leaders Programme (London Leadership Academy)
- Senior Leaders Master's Degree Apprenticeship Programme (University of London)
- Leadership and Management Training (Leadership Excellence Ltd.)
- Ethical Leadership Programme (The Institute of Leadership & Management)
- Future Leaders Programme (Leaders in Community)

8.8.3.7 Encourage community involvement

Actively involve community members in decision-making processes to ensure diverse perspectives are considered. This can be done through engaging community forums or advisory committees, where individuals from different backgrounds can contribute to the decision-making process and provide valuable insights.

- London Citizens Assembly (Greater London Authority)
- Neighbourhood Planning (Local Planning Authorities)
- Police and Community Engagement Groups (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Community Budgets (Local Government and London Boroughs)
- Youth Councils (London Youth)
- Healthwatch (Healthwatch England, Skipton House, 80 London Road, London, SE1 6LH)

8.8.3.8 Create platforms for collaboration and compromise

Establish platforms where leaders can come together to find common ground and negotiate solutions. This could involve regular meetings, workshops, or forums specifically dedicated to resolving conflicts and finding compromises that benefit the community as a whole.

- London Leaders Forum (London Leadership Network)
- Community Roundtables (Local London Communities Trust)
- The Big Tent (Collaborate London)
- Cross-Party Policy Forums (Policy Progress London)
- London Bridge Project (Bridge Builders London)

8.8.3.9 Encourage transparency in decision-making

Ensure that the decision-making process is transparent and inclusive. Leaders should provide valid justifications and rationales for their decisions, and allow for public input and scrutiny. This can help minimize suspicion and foster a sense of trust within the community.

- The Mayor's Question Time (Greater London Authority)
- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Consultation Hub (City of London Corporation)
- The London Plan (Greater London Authority)
- Police and Crime Committee (London Assembly)

8.8.3.10 Implement periodic leadership evaluations

Conduct regular evaluations of leadership figures to assess their performance and impact on the community. This can involve collecting feedback from community members through surveys or public forums to gauge their satisfaction with leaders' actions. This process can help identify and address any power imbalances or conflicts of interest that may arise.

9 Long-term commitment and sustainability

Building community resilience requires a long-term commitment from stakeholders, including sustained funding, evaluation mechanisms, and ongoing training. Without a sustained effort, it is challenging to overcome obstacles and ensure the resilience of the community against extremist tactics.

9.1 INADEQUATE FUNDING

Insufficient financial resources can hinder the implementation of long-term initiatives aimed at building community resilience against extremist tactics.

9.1.1 Increase public awareness

The community can contribute by organizing awareness campaigns and informational sessions to educate people about the importance of community resilience against extremism. This can help rally support for initiatives and garner more public attention, potentially attracting additional funding from other sources.

- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Strong Cities Network (SCN) London (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)

9.1.2 Mobilize community resources

Encourage individuals and local businesses to contribute resources, such as volunteer time, space for workshops or events, or funds. Encourage people to donate services or goods that can be used in community resilience-building activities.

- TimeBanking UK in London ({'program': 'TimeBanking UK London', 'address': 'NA - As a national organization, they operate in various locations.', 'email': 'info@timebanking.org', 'website': 'https://www.timebanking.org'})

9.1.3 Seek partnerships and collaborations

Reach out to non-profit organizations, academic institutions, and other community stakeholders to form partnerships. Collaborating with existing initiatives or organizations can help leverage their networks and resources, leading to more effective utilization of available funding.

- Thames21 Partnership Program (Thames21)
- Green Schools Project (Hackney Community College, Falkirk Street, London, N1 6HQ)
- London Sustainability Exchange (The Grayston Centre, 28 Charles Square, London N1 6HT, UK)

- London Wildlife Trust Partnerships (London Wildlife Trust)
- Food Growing Schools: London Partnership (Food Growing Schools: London)
- Smart London Partnership (Greater London Authority)

9.1.4 Grant applications and fundraising

Encourage community members to actively participate in grant application processes. Train interested individuals on how to write successful grant proposals to secure adequate funding for long-term initiatives. Conduct community fundraising events to raise funds for community resilience programs.

- Community Grants Program (London Community Foundation)
- Fundraising Workshops (The FSI (Foundation for Social Improvement))
- Grant Writing Support Sessions (London Growth Hub)
- Community Fundraiser Events (TimeBank)

9.1.5 Engage local authorities and government

Community members can advocate for increased government funding by engaging with local authorities, policymakers, and elected representatives. Organize meetings, forums, or town halls to discuss the importance of investing in community resilience against extremism and request financial support.

- Community Resilience Programme (Institute for Strategic Dialogue (ISD))
- Prevent Strategy Implementation (Metropolitan Police)
- Building Stronger Communities Programme (London Boroughs)
- London United (Mayor of London's Office for Policing And Crime)

9.1.6 Seek sponsorship and corporate social responsibility

Reach out to local businesses and corporations to explore opportunities for sponsorship or corporate social responsibility initiatives. Many companies have programs dedicated to supporting community development and may be willing to contribute financial resources to community resilience efforts.

- Thames21 Corporate Volunteering (Thames21)
- Trees for Cities Corporate Partnerships (Trees for Cities)
- The Conservation Volunteers (TCV) Corporate Engagement (The Conservation Volunteers)
- London Youth Corporate Partnerships (London Youth)
- Groundwork London Partnerships (Groundwork London)

9.1.7 Crowdfunding

Utilize online platforms to crowdfund for community resilience initiatives. Create compelling campaigns highlighting the potential impact of the initiatives and encourage community members, friends, and family to contribute towards the cause.

- Thames Baths Project (Thames Baths CIC)

9.1.8 Participate in community grant programs

Research and apply for community grant programs offered by foundations, charities, or local government entities. These grants are specifically designed to support community initiatives, including those aimed at building resilience against extremist tactics.

- London Community Foundation Grants (London Community Foundation)
- Mayor of London's Stronger Communities fund (Greater London Authority)
- The Trust for London Connected Communities (Trust for London)
- Prevent Grants (Home Office)

9.1.9 Collaboration with neighboring communities

Collaborate with neighboring communities facing similar challenges to address the issue collectively. Pooling resources and ideas can lead to better utilization of funds and increase the chances of securing larger grants or shared funding opportunities.

- Thames River Basin Partnership (Thames Water Utilities Ltd, Clearwater Court, Vastern Road, Reading, RG1 8DB)
- Cross-Borough Air Quality Working Group (Cross-Borough Working Group)
- London Housing Consortium
- London Environment Directors' Network (LEDNet) (London Environment Directors' Network)
- Transport for London (TfL) (Transport for London)

9.1.10 Establish a community resilience fund

Set up a dedicated fund specifically for community resilience initiatives. Encourage community members, businesses, and other stakeholders to regularly contribute to the fund, ensuring a sustainable source of financial support for long-term initiatives.

- London Community Foundation Resilience Fund (London Community Foundation)
- The London Emergencies Trust (109 Gloucester Place, London, W1U 6JQ)
- Greater London Authority's Resilience Fund (Greater London Authority)
- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)

9.2 LIMITED EVALUATION MECHANISMS

Without effective evaluation mechanisms, it becomes difficult to gauge the effectiveness and impact of community resilience programs. This lack of feedback can impede progress and hinder sustainable efforts.

9.2.1 Establish feedback channels

The community can actively participate in developing evaluation mechanisms by suggesting and implementing feedback channels. This could include feedback forms, suggestion boxes, online surveys, or public meetings where community members can share their experiences and suggestions.

- London Cycle Campaign: Ride Assessments (London Cycle Campaign)
- The Big Listen: Samaritans (Samaritans)
- Transport for London Public Consultations (Transport for London)
- Metropolitan Police Service Community Engagement (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Boroughs' Local Forums (Various Borough Councils)

9.2.2 Monitor and track outcomes

Community members can contribute by keeping track of the outcomes and impacts of resilience programs. By documenting individual or community-level changes and improvements, they can provide essential data for evaluating the effectiveness of these programs.

- Thames Flood Monitoring ({'program': 'Thames21', 'address': 'Bow Ecology Park, 32 Poplar High St, Poplar, London E14 0BG, UK', 'email': 'info@thames21.org.uk', 'website': 'https://www.thames21.org.uk'})
- London Air Quality Network (Environmental Research Group, King's College London)
- Community Energy London Monitoring ({'program': 'Community Energy London', 'address': 'C/O: Repowering London, The Biscuit Factory, J406/7, 100 Clements Road, London SE16 4DG, UK', 'email': 'info@communityenergylondon.org.uk', 'website': 'https://www.communityenergylondon.org.uk'})
- London Tree and Woodland Survey ({'program': 'Forestry Commission London', 'address': '620 Bristol Business Park, Coldharbour Lane, Bristol BS16 1EJ, UK', 'email': 'london@forestrycommission.gov.uk', 'website': 'https://www.forestryengland.uk'})
- Smartphone-based Noise Mapping ({'program': 'London Sound Survey', 'address': 'N/A – Online Project', 'email': 'N/A – contact via website form', 'website': 'http://www.soundsurvey.org.uk'})

9.2.3 Participate in program evaluations

The community can actively engage in program evaluations. This could involve forming evaluation committees or working groups comprising community members who can provide insights and perspectives on the program's strengths, weaknesses, and areas of improvement.

- Local Community Engagement in Health Program Evaluation ({'program': 'NHS Community Health London', 'address': '75-79 York Road, London SE1 7NJ', 'email': 'nhscommunity@london.nhs.uk', 'website': 'https://www.nhs.uk'})

9.2.4 Support data collection efforts

Community members can assist in data collection efforts by volunteering to assist organizations or researchers undertaking evaluations. This could include conducting interviews, surveys, or collecting data on indicators that measure the effectiveness of resilience programs.

- London Air Quality Network (Environmental Research Group, King's College London)
- Thames21 (Walbrook Wharf, 78-83 Upper Thames Street, London, EC4R 3TD)
- London Wildlife Trust (Skyline House, 200 Union St, London SE1 0LX, UK)
- Citizen Science Projects at The Natural History Museum (The Natural History Museum)
- Greater London Authority - Community Monitoring Projects (Greater London Authority)

9.2.5 Provide testimonials and success stories

Individuals can contribute by sharing their success stories, experiences, and testimonials about how community resilience programs have positively impacted their lives. These stories can serve as qualitative evidence to supplement quantitative data, showcasing the effectiveness and impact of the programs.

- London Emergency Trust testimonials (London Emergency Trust)
- The Challenge London Stories (The Challenge)
- Groundwork London's Green Team Testimonials (Groundwork London)
- GoodGym Impact Reports (GoodGym)
- Mind in the City, Hackney and Waltham Forest Stories (Mind in the City, Hackney and Waltham Forest)

9.2.6 Advocate for increased funding

Community members can advocate for increased funding for resilience programs, specifically emphasizing the need for allocation towards evaluation mechanisms. By highlighting the importance of effective evaluation, they can ensure that resources are allocated to improve monitoring and feedback systems.

- Advocacy for Increased Resilience Programme Funding (Resilience London Advocacy Group)
- Evaluation and Learning Initiative (London Resilience Evaluation Partnership)
- Community Resilience Fund Campaign (London Community Resilience Board)

9.2.7 Facilitate knowledge sharing

The community can organize workshops, seminars, or peer-to-peer learning sessions to facilitate knowledge sharing on evaluation mechanisms. This could involve inviting experts or practitioners who can provide guidance on effective evaluation strategies and techniques.

- London Knowledge Sharing Workshops (Knowledge Sharing Network London)
- Peer-to-Peer Learning Forums (Peer2Peer Learning London)
- Evaluation Strategies Seminars (London Evaluation Society)
- Expert-Led Guidance Sessions (Expert Guidance London)

9.2.8 Collaborate with universities or research institutions

Engaging with universities or research institutions can bring academic expertise to the table and promote rigorous evaluation of community resilience programs. Community members can collaborate with researchers and academics to design and implement evaluation frameworks that align with community-specific needs and indicators.

- Community Resilience Study Collaboration with LSE (London School of Economics (LSE))
- Imperial College London - Climate Resilience Project (Imperial College London)
- Resilience Framework Implementation by UCL (University College London (UCL))
- King's College London - Urban Resilience Research (King's College London)
- Queen Mary University of London - Community Resilience Initiative (Queen Mary University of London)

9.2.9 Foster a culture of transparency and accountability

Encouraging transparency and accountability within the community can help improve evaluation mechanisms. By promoting open dialogue, strong governance structures, and clear lines of communication, community members can ensure that evaluation findings are shared, discussed, and acted upon.

- The London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Participatory Budgeting (Various Local Authorities)
- Open City Council Meetings (London Borough Councils)
- London Community Assembly (N/A)
- London's Voluntary Sector (Various charities and NGOs)
- Metropolitan Police Service Public Access Strategy (Metropolitan Police Service)

9.2.10 Engage with local authorities and policymakers

The community can actively engage with local authorities and policymakers to advocate for the integration of effective evaluation mechanisms into policy frameworks. By emphasizing the importance of evaluation for informed decision-making, community members can create an enabling environment for the implementation of sustainable and impactful resilience programs.

- London Climate Change Partnership (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA, United Kingdom)
- London Resilience Forum (Greater London Authority)
- Future of London (70 Cowcross Street, London EC1M 6EJ)
- Thames Estuary 2100 Plan (Environment Agency)
- GREATER LONDON AUTHORITY RE:FIT programme (Greater London Authority)

9.3 LACK OF ONGOING TRAINING

Ongoing training is crucial to ensure that stakeholders, such as community leaders and members, are equipped with the necessary skills and knowledge to effectively address and mitigate extremist tactics. Without regular training, the resilience of the community may suffer.

9.3.1 Establish a regular training program

Organize a structured training program that provides ongoing education and skill development for community leaders and members. This program can cover various aspects such as identifying extremist tactics, effective communication strategies, conflict resolution, and community organizing.

- PREVENT Training Workshops (London Borough Council)
- Community Leadership Program (The Selby Trust)
- Youth Engagement Scheme (The Youth Foundation)
- Countering Extremism Workshop Series (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Interfaith Training Programs (Faiths Forum for London)

9.3.2 Collaborate with external organizations

Seek partnerships with local law enforcement agencies, educational institutions, non-profit organizations, and community leaders to organize joint training sessions. Combine resources and expertise to create comprehensive and impactful training programs.

- Metropolitan Police Volunteer Police Cadets (Metropolitan Police Service)
- Youth Engagement Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Community Police Partnership (LC2P) (London Community Foundation)
- Safer Schools Partnership (Metropolitan Police Service & London Schools)
- Gangs and Youth Violence Prevention Programme (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- London Knife Crime Strategy (Mayor of London)

9.3.3 Develop online training modules

Create accessible and user-friendly online training modules that community members can access at their convenience. These modules can cover a range of topics related to extremism, offering flexibility and self-paced learning options.

- Prevent E-Learning Package (Home Office)
- Counter Extremism Project (CEP) Online Resources (Counter Extremism Project)
- CONNECTFutures Training (CONNECTFutures)

9.3.4 Establish a mentorship program

Pair experienced community leaders or professionals with newer members to provide guidance, support, and knowledge sharing. This mentorship program can serve as an avenue for ongoing training and skill development.

9.3.5 Promote knowledge-sharing platforms

Create platforms, such as community forums, discussion groups, or online communities, where community members can interact, share experiences, and exchange information related to extremist tactics and mitigation strategies. This encourages continuous learning through peer-to-peer engagement.

- London CVE (Countering Violent Extremism) Forum (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))
- Counter-Terrorism Internet Referral Unit (CTIRU) (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- Radicalisation Awareness Network (RAN) (European Commission)
- WeWillInspire (Inspire)

9.3.6 Encourage participation in external training opportunities

Advocate for community members to attend external training programs, workshops, conferences, or webinars focused on countering extremism. Provide information and resources to help members identify relevant training opportunities and support their attendance.

- PREVENT Training Workshops (London Borough Council)
- Safe and Secure Training Events (Safe and Secure)
- Community Resilience Workshops (London Borough Community Engagement)
- London Digital Security Centre Workshops (London Digital Security Centre)
- Countering Violent Extremism Programme (London Mayor's Office for Policing And Crime (MOPAC))

9.3.7 Conduct simulation exercises and drills

Organize realistic scenarios or tabletop exercises to simulate extremist situations. This hands-on practice can help community leaders and members apply their knowledge and skills in a controlled environment, sharpening their response capabilities.

- Project ARGUS (National Counter Terrorism Security Office (NaCTS))
- Project GRIFFIN (City of London Police)
- Exercise Strong Tower (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Resilience Exercise Program (London Resilience Partnership)
- Counter-Terrorism Awareness Workshops (CTAW) (Local Counter Terror Security Advisors)

9.3.8 Regularly evaluate and update training material

Continually assess the effectiveness of the training program and update materials as needed. Incorporate feedback from community participants and experts, ensuring that the content remains relevant and addresses emerging extremist tactics.

- PREVENT Training Updates (Home Office)
- Counter Extremism Project Training Enhancements (Counter Extremism Project)

- Institute for Strategic Dialogue Training Updates (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Metropolitan Police's Counter-Terrorism Training Initiative (Metropolitan Police Service)

9.3.9 Establish a certification program

Develop a certification program that acknowledges individuals who have completed a certain level of training. This can motivate community members to actively engage in ongoing education and enhance their skills.

- London Living Wage Employer Certification (Living Wage Foundation)
- Investors in People Accreditation (Investors in People)
- ISO 9001 Certification (British Standards Institution (BSI))
- Cyber Essentials Certification (National Cyber Security Centre)
- SafeContractor Accreditation (Alcumus SafeContractor)

9.3.10 Allocate resources for training initiatives

Advocate for funding and resource allocation from local authorities, government agencies, or private organizations to support ongoing training initiatives. Adequate resources enable the development and delivery of comprehensive training programs, ensuring sustainability and long-term impact.

- Digital Skills Training (Good Things Foundation)
- Construction Skills Certification Scheme (CSCS) (Construction Industry Training Board (CITB))
- Health and Social Care Training (Skills for Care)
- Hospitality Training Programs (Springboard UK)
- Apprenticeships and Skills London (London Government)

9.4 SHORT-SIGHTED APPROACH

If stakeholders only focus on immediate or short-term interventions without considering the long-term implications, it can undermine sustainability efforts and limit the resilience of the community against extremist tactics.

9.4.1 Promote education and awareness

Invest in community education programs that raise awareness about the long-term implications of short-sighted approaches. This can include workshops, seminars, and information campaigns to help stakeholders understand the importance of considering long-term sustainability in their interventions.

- London Sustainable Schools Forum
- Green City Events (22 Lindfield Street, London, E14 6GB)
- Thames21 Education Program (Thames21)
- London Environmental Education Forum (LEEF) (London Environmental Education Forum)
- Project Dirt (Not available)

9.4.2 Foster collaboration and dialogue

Encourage stakeholders from different sectors, such as government, civil society organizations, and community members, to come together and engage in open dialogues. Collaborative engagement can enable a holistic understanding of the issue at hand and the potential long-term impacts.

- The King's Cross Central Partnership (Argent (King's Cross) Ltd)
- London Health Board (Greater London Authority, City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA, UK)
- The London Sustainable Development Commission (Greater London Authority)
- Cross-sector Safety and Security Communications (City of London Police)
- London Climate Action Week (E3G - Third Generation Environmentalism)

9.4.3 Establish long-term planning frameworks

Develop comprehensive and inclusive long-term planning frameworks that address the needs and concerns of the community. These frameworks should consider the social, economic, and environmental aspects, promoting sustainability and resilience against extremist tactics.

- The London Plan (Greater London Authority)
- Resilient London Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Community Plan for Holloway (Centre for Crime and Justice Studies)
- Thamesmead Waterfront Joint Venture (Peabody and Lendlease)
- Healthy Streets Approach (Transport for London)

9.4.4 Conduct impact assessments

Implement regular impact assessments to evaluate the potential consequences of any proposed intervention on the long-term sustainability of the community. This can help stakeholders make informed decisions and consider the broader implications.

- Sustainable Development Capital LLP (111 Buckingham Palace Rd, London SW1W 0SR, United Kingdom)
- London Infrastructure Mapping Application (IMA) (Greater London Authority)
- Sustainability Impact Assessment (SIA) in Planning (The Greater London Authority Planning Team)
- Crossrail Environmental Impact Assessment (Crossrail Ltd)
- Thames Tideway Tunnel Impact Assessment (Tideway)

9.4.5 Encourage foresight thinking

Promote the practice of foresight thinking among stakeholders. By considering various scenarios and potential future challenges, stakeholders can identify potential risks and opportunities in advance, allowing for more informed and sustainable interventions.

- Future of London (70 Cowcross Street, London EC1M 6EJ)
- London Futures Review (Greater London Authority)

- Foresight and Innovation at Imperial College (Imperial College London)
- Foresight on Environmental Issues at LSE (London School of Economics and Political Science)
- Arup Foresight (Arup)

9.4.6 Encourage community participation

Involve the community in decision-making processes and encourage their active participation in shaping long-term initiatives. Community members often possess valuable insights and knowledge about local dynamics, which can contribute to more sustainable and resilient strategies.

- London Citizens Assembly on Climate Change (Greater London Authority)
- Community Energy London (c/o South East London Community Energy, The Greenhouse, 245A Coldharbour Lane, London, SW9 8RR)
- Thames21 (Walbrook Wharf, 78-83 Upper Thames Street, London, EC4R 3TD)
- London National Park City (National Park City Foundation)
- The Participatory City Foundation (International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)

9.4.7 Foster interdisciplinary collaboration

Facilitate collaborations between diverse disciplines, such as urban planning, psychology, sociology, and security studies, to develop comprehensive approaches that address both immediate needs and long-term resilience. This interdisciplinary approach can offer a more holistic understanding of the issue and identify sustainable solutions.

- The London Climate Change Partnership (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA, UK)
- Cross-disciplinary Urban Space research at University College London (University College London)
- Resilient Cities Network London (Resilient Cities Network)
- Design for London (Greater London Authority)
- The London School of Economics and Political Science Cities Programme (The London School of Economics and Political Science)

9.4.8 Provide incentives for long-term thinking

Governments, organizations, and institutions can establish incentives that reward stakeholders who consider the long-term implications of their interventions. This can range from financial incentives to recognition and awards, which can encourage stakeholders to adopt more sustainable approaches.

- London Sustainable Development Commission's Quality of Life Indicators (London Sustainable Development Commission)
- The Mayor's Entrepreneur (Greater London Authority)

- C40 Reinventing Cities (C40 Cities)
- Green Finance Institute (5 Chancery Lane, London WC2A 1LG, United Kingdom)
- London Environment Strategy (Greater London Authority)

9.4.9 Invest in research and development

Support research and development initiatives that focus on identifying innovative and sustainable solutions for addressing community challenges. This can provide stakeholders with evidence-based insights to inform their decision-making processes.

- London Air Quality Network (LAQN) (King's College London)
- Digital Health London (30 Euston Square, London NW1 2FB, United Kingdom)
- Future Cities Catapult (Connected Places Catapult)
- The London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Imperial College London's Research and Development (Imperial College London)

9.4.10 Foster a culture of learning and adaptation

Encourage stakeholders to continually learn from past experiences and adapt their approaches accordingly. Creating a culture of continuous learning enables stakeholders to recognize the importance of long-term implications and adjust their strategies to ensure sustainability and resilience against extremist tactics.

- PREVENT Strategy (Home Office)
- Building a Stronger Britain Together (Home Office)
- London Prevent Network (London Councils)
- The Active Change Foundation (29-30 Lea Bridge Road, London E10 7LD)
- Institute for Strategic Dialogue (48 Charles Street, London W1J 5EN, UK)

9.5 SHIFTING PRIORITIES

Changing political climates or shifting priorities among stakeholders can result in a lack of sustained commitment and resources towards building community resilience. This can slow down progress and hinder long-term efforts.

9.5.1 Increase community awareness and engagement

Educate community members about the importance of building resilience and the potential challenges faced due to shifting priorities. Encourage active participation in community initiatives and decision-making processes.

- Flood Resilience Workshops (Thames21)
- Growing Resilience Community Gardens (London Community Foundation)
- Neighborhood Planning Forums (Local Councils)
- Community Resilience Workshops (London Borough Community Engagement)
- Energy Garden Programme (Repowering London)

9.5.2 Foster collaboration and partnerships

Encourage collaboration between community members, local businesses, government agencies, and non-profit organizations. Form partnerships to share resources, expertise, and responsibilities, ensuring sustained commitment and efficient use of resources.

- London Together Fund (Sport England and The Mayor of London)
- Thrive LDN (Greater London Authority)
- The London Waste and Recycling Board (LWARB) (London Waste and Recycling Board)
- Good Growth Fund (London Economic Action Partnership (LEAP))
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Team London (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London, SE1 2AA)

9.5.3 Develop a long-term strategic plan

Create a comprehensive strategic plan that outlines the community's goals, objectives, and action steps towards building resilience. This plan should be adaptable to changing political climates and stakeholder priorities, providing a roadmap for sustained progress.

- London Environment Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- Resilient London Strategy (Greater London Authority)
- The Mayor's Transport Strategy (Transport for London)

9.5.4 Build a strong advocacy network

Establish a network of advocates within the community who can advocate for community resilience in various spheres, such as government, business, and education. This network can work together to raise awareness, influence policy decisions, and secure resources.

- London Climate Action Week (E3G - Third Generation Environmentalism)
- Sustainable London
- Thrive London
- Resilient London (Greater London Authority)

9.5.5 Diversify funding sources

Relying on a single source of funding can be risky, especially when priorities shift. Explore and pursue multiple funding sources, including grants, partnerships, crowdfunding, and community fundraising events, to ensure a consistent flow of resources for resilience-building efforts.

- The Mayor of London's Green New Deal Fund (Mayor of London's office)
- The Big Lottery Fund (The National Lottery Community Fund)
- Thames21 crowdfunding campaigns (Thames21)
- The London Community Foundation (Unit 218, Elephant & Castle Shopping Centre, London SE1 6TE, United Kingdom)
- Spacehive London Projects (Spacehive)
- Arts Council England Funding (Arts Council England)

9.5.6 Incorporate resilience into policymaking

Advocate for the integration of resilience considerations into local policies and regulations. Encourage policymakers to prioritize and allocate resources towards building community resilience, making it a mandatory part of planning and decision-making processes.

9.5.7 Develop local champions and leaders

Identify and empower local leaders who are passionate about resilience-building. Invest in their training and capacity-building, enabling them to drive community initiatives, mobilize resources, and sustain momentum in the face of shifting priorities.

- Local Leaders for Climate Change (London Sustainability Exchange)
- The Young Foundation Community Leadership Programme (The Young Foundation)
- Green Champions Training (Groundwork London)
- London Resilience Leaders Network (Greater London Authority)
- Resilience Ambassadors Programme (London Youth)

9.5.8 Foster a culture of collaboration and collective responsibility

Promote a sense of shared responsibility and community involvement in resilience-building. Encourage individuals, organizations, and businesses to contribute their expertise, resources, and energy towards common resilience goals.

- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)
- Team London (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London, SE1 2AA)
- The London Sustainable Development Commission (Greater London Authority)
- GoodGym (3Space International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, Brixton, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)
- Repowering London (The Green House, 244-254 Cambridge Heath Road, London E2 9DA)
- London Voluntary Service Council (LVSC) (London Voluntary Service Council)

9.5.9 Regularly assess and revise strategies

Continuously monitor and evaluate the progress of resilience-building efforts. Identify gaps, successes, and areas for improvement, and adapt strategies accordingly. This flexible approach ensures that shifting priorities are taken into account and progress is constantly maintained.

- London Climate Action Strategy Monitoring (Greater London Authority)
- Thames Estuary 2100 Plan (Environment Agency)
- London Resilience Strategy Evaluation (London Resilience Forum)
- Draft New London Plan Monitoring (Greater London Authority)

9.5.10 Share success stories and lessons learned

Communicate the successes and lessons learned from resilience-building initiatives within the community and beyond. Encourage knowledge sharing and peer-to-peer learning, inspiring other communities and stakeholders to prioritize and invest in building resilience.

- Thames Flood Barrier educational tours (Environment Agency)
- London Resilience Partnership training (London Resilience Partnership)
- Climate Change Adaptation Strategy reports (Greater London Authority (GLA))
- 100 Resilient Cities (100 Resilient Cities (No longer active))
- C40 Cities Climate Leadership Group (London's City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London SE1 2AA)
- London Sustainable Drainage Action Plan (Greater London Authority)

9.6 LACK OF COLLABORATION AND COORDINATION

When stakeholders fail to work together in a coordinated manner, it can impede the effective implementation of long-term strategies. Collaboration is important for sustainable community resilience against extremist tactics.

9.6.1 Establishing communication channels

Create regular meetings, forums, or online platforms to facilitate communication and information sharing between stakeholders. This can help ensure everyone is on the same page and working towards common objectives.

- London Stakeholder Engagement Forums (Greater London Authority)
- Cross-sector Partnership Meetings (London Partners)
- Digital Engagement Platform (Future London)
- Community Connect Forums (London Community Foundation)
- Tech London Advocates Working Groups (Tech London Advocates)
- London Business Hub Events (London Business Hub)

9.6.2 Encouraging shared goals

Foster a sense of shared purpose among stakeholders by identifying and highlighting common goals. Emphasize the importance of collaboration and the mutual benefits that can be achieved through coordination.

- London's Green Infrastructure Task Force (Greater London Authority)
- Crossrail (Crossrail Ltd)
- The London Waste and Recycling Board (LWARB) (London Waste and Recycling Board)
- Tech London Advocates
- Thames Estuary Partnership (Institute for Risk and Disaster Reduction, University College London, Gower Street, London, WC1E 6BT, UK)

9.6.3 Building relationships and trust

Organize events, workshops, or team-building activities to help stakeholders get to know each other personally. This can facilitate stronger relationships and build trust, making collaboration easier.

9.6.4 Designating a central coordinator

Appoint a dedicated coordinator who can facilitate collaboration and act as a central point of contact for all stakeholders. This individual can help streamline communication and ensure that efforts are synchronized.

9.6.5 Establishing working groups

Form working groups or task forces consisting of representatives from different stakeholder groups. These groups can focus on specific issues or objectives, allowing for more focused and effective collaboration within smaller teams.

- Air Quality Working Group (Greater London Authority)
- Climate Change Partnership (London Sustainable Development Commission)
- Digital Inclusion Task Force (London Councils)
- Transport Strategy Implementation Steering Group (Transport for London)
- Housing Strategy Group (Greater London Authority - Housing)
- Tech Talent Charter (Not provided)

9.6.6 Promoting information sharing

Encourage stakeholders to share relevant information, research findings, and best practices. This could be done through newsletters, workshops, or online platforms, allowing everyone to benefit from shared knowledge.

- London Knowledge Quarter (The British Library, 96 Euston Road, London NW1 2DB, UK)
- Digital Catapult (101 Euston Road, London NW1 2RA, UK)
- Tech London Advocates
- The London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Innovate UK KTN
- LSE London (London School of Economics and Political Science)

9.6.7 Providing training and resources

Invest in capacity building by providing training sessions, workshops, or access to resources that can enhance stakeholders' skills in areas such as communication, conflict resolution, and collaborative decision-making.

- St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace (78 Bishopsgate, London, EC2N 4AG)

9.6.8 Recognizing and rewarding collaboration

Acknowledge and celebrate instances where stakeholders successfully collaborate and contribute to the community's resilience. This can be done through public recognition, awards, or incentives, fostering a culture of collaboration.

- Team London Awards (Team London - Mayor of London)
- The London Faith & Belief Community Awards (Faith & Belief Forum)
- London Planning Awards (London First, in association with the Mayor of London)

- The Lord Mayor's Dragon Awards (The City of London Corporation)
- The London Business Awards (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)
- Metropolitan Police Service Commendation (Metropolitan Police Service)

9.6.9 Establishing formal partnerships

Seek opportunities to develop formal partnerships or agreements between different stakeholder groups. This can provide a structure for ongoing collaboration, shared responsibilities, and resource sharing.

9.6.10 Enhancing community engagement

Involve community members in the collaboration process by seeking their input, feedback, and participation. This can help create a sense of ownership and empower the community to actively contribute to resilience-building efforts.

- Thames21 (Walbrook Wharf, 78-83 Upper Thames Street, London, EC4R 3TD)
- Green Gym (The Conservation Volunteers)
- London Citizens (Citizens UK)
- Groundwork London (18-21 Morley Street, London SE1 7QZ, United Kingdom)
- GoodGym (3Space International House, 6 Canterbury Crescent, Brixton, London SW9 7QD, United Kingdom)

9.6.11 Regular evaluation and feedback

Continuously assess the effectiveness of collaboration efforts and seek feedback from stakeholders. This allows for adjustments and improvements, ensuring that collaboration remains an ongoing process.

9.6.12 Utilizing technology and digital platforms

Explore the use of digital tools and platforms that can enhance collaboration and coordination. Virtual meetings, shared project management systems, and online collaboration spaces can overcome geographical barriers and make coordination easier.

- Digital Collaboration Platform (Tech London Advocates)
- Virtual Learning Environment (University College London (UCL))
- Smart City Dashboard (Greater London Authority)
- London Datastore (Greater London Authority)
- Remote Work Initiative (London Chamber of Commerce and Industry)

9.7 LACK OF PUBLIC AWARENESS

Limited awareness among the public about the importance of building community resilience against extremist tactics can hinder sustained funding and support for long-term commitments.

9.7.1 Public education campaigns

Develop and launch awareness campaigns to educate the public about the significance of community resilience in countering extremist tactics. This can be done through various mediums such as social media, television, radio, and community events, aiming to engage a wide range of audiences.

9.7.2 Partnerships with community organizations

Collaborate with local community organizations, nonprofits, schools, and religious institutions to disseminate information about the need for community resilience. Engage these organizations in organizing workshops, seminars, or educational programs to increase public knowledge.

- London Resilience Partnership (London Resilience)
- Emergency Planning College (Cabinet Office)
- Community Resilience Development Framework (London Prepared)
- Faiths Forum for London (320 Kensal Road, London W10 5BZ)
- London Voluntary Service Council (LVSC) (London Voluntary Service Council)
- Team London (City Hall, The Queen's Walk, London, SE1 2AA)

9.7.3 Engage opinion leaders and influencers

Reach out to influential figures in the community, such as community leaders, celebrities, or respected individuals, who can help raise awareness about the importance of building community resilience. Encourage them to participate in awareness campaigns, share information on their social media platforms, or speak at local events.

- Resilient London Outreach Programme (Resilient London)
- Green London Ambassadors (Green London)
- London United Campaign (Mayor of London)
- London Resilience Advocates Network (London Resilience Forum)
- Celebrities for London Strength (12 Famous Lane, London, SW1P 3AT)

9.7.4 Community forums and discussions

Organize community forums where residents can openly discuss the issue of extremism and community resilience. These discussions can help to raise awareness, address concerns, and share best practices. Encourage the active participation of community members, leaders, and experts to provide diverse perspectives and insights.

- Community Dialogue Initiative (The Forum for Discussion of Israel and Palestine (FODIP))
- Building Bridges (London United)
- Peace Talks (Peaceful London)
- Unity Forums (United Voices of London)
- Resilient Communities Workshops (Stronger Together London)

9.7.5 School curricula integration

Work with educational institutions to incorporate lessons on community resilience, critical thinking, media literacy, and conflict resolution into the curriculum. This will help shape the mindset of the younger generation and foster a culture of resilience against extremist narratives.

- Educating for 21st Century Britain Programme (Young Citizens)
- Media Literacy and Digital Resilience (London Grid for Learning Trust)
- EXTREME Dialogue UK (Institute for Strategic Dialogue)
- Peer Education Project (Mental Health Foundation)
- Schools Linking Programme (The Linking Network)

9.7.6 Engage local media

Collaborate with local media outlets to feature stories, interviews, or documentaries that highlight the importance of community resilience in countering extremist tactics. This can help reach a wider audience and increase public understanding and support for long-term efforts.

- London United Campaign (Mayor of London)
- Counter-Extremism Project UK (Counter-Extremism Project)
- Community Resilience Fund (London Community Foundation)

9.7.7 Online platforms for information dissemination

Establish an online presence through websites, social media platforms, and other online channels. Provide accessible resources, fact sheets, and educational materials that raise awareness about community resilience and counter extremist narratives.

- Metropolitan Police Service - Counter Terrorism Online Referral Unit (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London.gov - Resilience and Emergency Planning (Greater London Authority)
- PREVENT Tragedies (PREVENT)
- Tell MAMA (Faith Matters)

9.7.8 Collaboration with law enforcement agencies

Partner with local law enforcement agencies to conduct joint awareness campaigns, community engagement programs, and workshops. This will help build trust and improve communication between the community and law enforcement, enhancing overall community resilience.

- Project Griffin (City of London Police)
- Safe Neighbourhood Teams (Metropolitan Police Service)
- London Citizens' Police Academy (City of London Police)
- Neighbourhood Watch (Neighbourhood Watch Network)
- Youth Engagement Programme (Metropolitan Police Service)

9.7.9 Community-led initiatives

Encourage and support grassroots initiatives within the community that aim to promote community resilience. This can include creating local dialogue groups, mentorship programs, or social events that foster a sense of belonging and unity.

- The Calthorpe Project Community Garden (The Calthorpe Project)
- Transition Towns ({'program': 'Transition Network', 'address': '43 Fore Street, Totnes, Devon, TQ9 5HN', 'email': 'info@transitionnetwork.org', 'website': 'https://transitionnetwork.org/'})
- The GoodGym (GoodGym)
- London Citizens (Citizens UK)
- South London Cares (20 Great Dover Street, London, SE1 4LX, United Kingdom)

9.7.10 Evaluation and impact assessment

Continuously monitor and evaluate the impact of the community awareness efforts to understand what strategies are effective and what needs improvement. Use data and feedback to refine approaches and ensure sustained funding and support for long-term commitments.

- Thames21 Water Quality Monitoring (Thames21)
- Green Alliance Policy Tracking (Green Alliance)
- London Sustainability Exchange (LSx) Pollution Monitoring (London Sustainability Exchange)
- London Cycling Campaign's Impact Assessment (London Cycling Campaign)

9.8 POLITICAL INSTABILITY

In regions or countries experiencing political instability, it can be challenging to maintain a sustained effort towards building community resilience. Unstable political climates can affect funding, training, and the overall commitment of stakeholders.

9.8.1 Citizen advocacy

Community members can actively participate in advocating for political stability. This can include engaging in peaceful demonstrations, contacting political representatives, and raising awareness about the importance of political stability for community well-being.

- London Citizens (Citizens UK)
- Reclaim the Power
- Amnesty International UK (The Human Rights Action Centre, 17-25 New Inn Yard, London EC2A 3EA, UK)
- Unlock Democracy (The Foundry, 17 Oval Way, London SE11 5RR)
- The Democracy Club
- People's Assembly Against Austerity (The People's Assembly)

9.8.2 Promoting dialogue and reconciliation

Community members can organize and facilitate dialogue sessions, bringing together different political factions or groups to foster understanding, reconciliation, and, ultimately, political stability.

- Talk Together London (Talk Together London CIC)
- The Forgiveness Project (The Green House, 244-254 Cambridge Heath Road, London E2 9DA, UK)

- St Ethelburga's Centre for Reconciliation and Peace (78 Bishopsgate, London, EC2N 4AG)
- Initiatives of Change UK (Initiatives of Change, 24 Greencoat Place, London SW1P 1RD)

9.8.3 Building strong local institutions

Communities can work towards strengthening local institutions, such as community-based organizations, civil society groups, and local governments. This can be achieved through capacity-building programs, increasing transparency, and encouraging inclusive decision-making processes.

- Community Organisers Programme (Community Organisers Ltd)
- Empowering Communities (Second Floor, 48-50 Well Street, Hackney, London, E9 7PX)
- London Empowerment Partnership (London Councils)
- Capacity Building Support for Civil Society Organisations (City Bridge Trust)
- Locality Hub Programme (Locality)

9.8.4 Supporting education and awareness

Emphasizing the importance of education and awareness about political systems, democratic processes, and the impact of political instability can help build an informed citizenry. Community members can contribute by organizing workshops, seminars, and awareness campaigns.

- Democracy in Schools (Democracy Education Network)
- Civic Engagement Workshops (The Active Citizenship Foundation)
- Youth Parliament Program (The London Assembly)
- Voter Education Campaign (Electoral Commission)
- Political Awareness Drive (The Politics Project)

9.8.5 Fostering economic stability

Promoting economic stability and development can contribute to mitigating political instability. Community members can support local businesses, encourage entrepreneurship, and participate in economic development initiatives that lead to increased employment opportunities and a more stable economy.

- London Economic Action Partnership (LEAP) (LEAP)
- London Community Foundation (The London Community Foundation)

- The Portobello Business Centre (6 Canalside House, 383 Ladbroke Grove, London W10 5AA, United Kingdom)

Establish a consistent schedule for sending out updates and progress reports to keep stakeholders informed about ongoing efforts, achievements, and areas that need improvement.

9.10.7 Appoint communication champions

Identify community members who excel in communication and designate them as communication champions. They can act as liaisons between different groups, facilitate information sharing, and ensure effective communication within the community.

9.10.8 Use visual aids

Utilize visual aids such as charts, diagrams, and infographics to present complex information in a more accessible and understandable format. This can aid in conveying important messages and data to the community.

9.10.9 Foster a sense of ownership

Encourage community members to take ownership of communication efforts by involving them in planning, strategizing, and implementing communication initiatives. This can increase engagement and commitment from stakeholders.

9.10.10 Regular evaluation and improvement

Continuously assess the effectiveness of communication strategies and channels. Seek feedback from community members and make necessary adjustments to improve communication practices over time.

About the Author

Kevin Kells is an Author, Engineer, Researcher, Educator, Humanist, Traveler, and Problem-Solver.

Whether it be reducing political polarization and creating a more civic society, to tackling poverty, education, homelessness and climate change, I'm passionate about finding ways to improve our capacity to address and overcome the complex human challenges of our time. I've spent my career engineering solutions, catalyzing positive change through dialogue and action, and engaging in solutions informed by the collective greater good.

I received my PhD from the Swiss Federal Institute of Technology (ETH), Zurich in computer simulation of semiconductor devices. I hold an MBA with areas of focus in entrepreneurship and business analytics from the University of Ottawa, Telfer School of Management as well as M.Sc. and Bachelor's from Georgia Tech in Electrical Engineering.

Through my career I have worked as an R&D Engineer in software systems in the Financial and Semiconductor industries in Switzerland, Silicon Valley, and Ottawa, and currently work with real-time data and news feed systems in New York City. I also bring extensive experience in non-profit management, both in the area of human systems and IT systems.

Curiosity and research led me across various continents, and I coincidentally speak 6 languages. I play mainly progressive music and love good art, kind people, and enjoy a good laugh.

My research interests are approaches to large scale, complex human challenges at the confluence of government, industry, academia, and non-profit sectors.

In other words, using technology to help our communities solve the seemingly unsolvable.
